“L'étude de la bibliographie, si aride en apparence pour qui ne la considère que superficiellement, est loin, pour qui l'examine de plus près, d'être dépourvue d'un certain charme; elle offre à l'esprit observateur bien des faits curieux, bien des anecdotes piquantes, bien des rapprochements singuliers. Voilà pourquoi sans doute plusieurs hommes de lettres distingués, des poètes même, se sont livrés à cette étude avec autant d'ardeur que de succès.”—BRUNET.

Daborn was indebted for his plot of "A Christian turned Turk" to Andrew Barker's prose narrative of the adventures of the two pirates, Ward and Danseker, printed three years before (1609, 4to). Barker's book is much rarer than the drama founded on it.

Brunet remarks that this work, written in verse, is not, as might be supposed from the title, a treatise of demonology, but a work of moral theology, in verse, written in the form of a dialogue between Satan and Lucifer. It is the only work by which the author is known.

DANCE OF DEATH. The Daunce and Song of Death. [No place, printer's name, or date.] [London, about 1560.]

A large woodcut with five verses printed in compartments. The woodcut represents a child and five men of different ages and conditions of life dancing round Death's Minstrel, Sicknesse, who is seated in the centre, on a stool formed of bones, which rests on a shovel and pickaxe placed crosswise over an open grave, while he plays a tune on a tabor and pipe. At each of the four corners is a compartment wherein Death is represented as summoning, respectively, the rich man, the prisoner, the judge, and two lovers. One verse of six lines applies to the dancers, and the other verses of four lines each are applicable to the scenes in the corners. Both the design and execution are extremely good. The right-hand upper corner is slightly mutilated. The verses in this unique broadside are 1c-printed in "Ancient Ballads," &c., 1867, with facsimiles of parts of the engraving. It is probably the earliest separate publication in the English language on this curious subject.

DANCING. The Dancing-Master: or, Directions for Dancing Country Dances, with the Tunes to each Dance for the Treble-Violin. The Ninth Edition Corrected; with the Addition of several new Dances and Tunes never before Printed. Printed by E. Jones, for H. Playford at his Shop near the Temple Church . . . 1695. Oblong 8vo.

Title and preliminaries, 4 leaves. B—S 2 in eights. On the title is a copper-plate engraving of a company of ladies and gallants learning to dance, inscribed at the foot "The Dancing Schoole." A note on the fly-leaf states that a copy of the first edition, dated 1652, is in Wood's library in the Ashmolean Museum at Oxford.

— The Compleat Country Dancing-Master: Containing Great Variety of Dances, both Old and New; Particularly those perform'd at the several Masquerades: Together with all the Choicest and most Noted Country-Dances, perform'd at Court, the Theatres, and Publick-Balls; With their Proper Tunes and Figures (or Directions) to each Dance: The Tunes fitted to the Violin or Haut-Boy, and most of 'em within the Compass of the Flute. Note, There is contain'd in this volume all the Dances generally us'd, and more correct than the former Editions; printed in the London Capital Character, far exceeding any other of the Common Press. London, Printed by H. Meere for J. Walsh 1718. The Second Book of the Compleat Country Dancing-Master: Containing Great Variety of Dances . . . London 1719. Oblong 8vo.

— The Compleat Country Dancing-Master . . . Most of them within the Compass of the German Flute & Common Flute. Engraven in a fair Character, and Carefully Corrected . . . London Printed for and Sold by John Walsh 1731. Oblong 8vo.

Engraved title and Explanation of Characters, 2 leaves; table, 4 leaves; the work, 148 numbered leaves.

This is called "the First volume" at the end. But no more is known to have appeared. It is an entirely distinct work from that described above, dated 1718-19. As on the title the book is said to be "carefully corrected," it is possible that there was an earlier issue.

DANIEL, GEORGE. An Elizabethan Garland ; Being a Descriptive Catalogue of Seventy Black-Letter Ballads printed between the years 1559 and 1597. London, 1856. 4to. G. M.

Privately printed. This description originally appeared in the "Illustrated London News." Twenty-five copies were struck off separately. This one belonged to Mr. George Daniel, who has illustrated it with views, portraits, and other engravings. The ballads here described will be found under their respective headings in this catalogue. A list of them is given in the index.

DANIEL, SAMUEL. The Works of Samuel Daniel. Newly augmented. London Printed for Simon Waterson. 1601. Folio.

A, 2 leaves; B—O in sixes; P—T in fours, T 4 blank; "Musophilus," with a fresh half-title, A—N in sixes (other pieces following with separate half-titles but continuous signatures); "Delia" (a headline only), A—B in sixes, and C, 4 leaves.

This is the same book as commonly occurs with the date 1602, the year only having been altered. It comprises the "Civil Wars," books i.-vi., "Musophilus," "Octavia," "Cleopatra," "Rosamond," and "Delia."

Copies have sometimes been described as on large paper, but a comparison of several shows that there is no material difference in the size of the paper unless a copy has been much cut.

DANIEL, SAMUEL. The Whole Workes of Samvel Daniel Esquire in Poetrie. London, Printed by Nicholas Okes, for Simon Waterson, and are to be sold at his shoppe in Pauls Church-yard, at the Signe of the Crowne. 1623. 4to. R.

Title and dedication, 2 leaves; B—C, 4 leaves each; D—R 4 in eights; "A Letter from Octavia," &c., with a new title, A—N 4 in eights, N 4 blank; "Philotas," &c., with a new title, Aa—Tt 6 in eights.

Dedicated to Prince Charles by the author's brother, John Daniel.

It is stated in Corser's "Collectanea Anglo-Poetica," part v., p. 64, that the poem of the "Civil Wars," as it appears here, consists merely of the unsold stock of the quarto edition of 1609, which was introduced, after fourteen years, to make up the collected book, and such is, in fact, the case—a singular piece of evidence to the length of time required to exhaust the impression. The original dedication of the "Civil Wars" to Lady Bedford was replaced by that to Prince Charles.

The collation of this copy, and of another described by Hazlitt ("Collections and Notes," 1876, p. 116), does not quite agree with Mr. Corser's account, as sig. A has in neither of them more than two leaves belonging to it.

— The Poeticall Essayes of Sam. Danyel. Newly corrected and augmented. At London Printed by P. Short for Simon Waterson. 1599. 4to. G. M.

General title, 1 leaf; dedication to Sir Charles Blunt, Lord Mountjoy, 1 leaf; title to the "Civil Wars" (books i.-v.), 1 leaf; B—Ee in fours; separate title and first leaf of "Musophilus," 2 leaves; then B—F 3 in fours; "Letter from Octavia," separate title and dedication to Lady Cumberland, 2 leaves; B—D 2 in fours; "Tragedy of Cleopatra," with separate title, A—K in fours; "Rosamond," Bb—G[g] 2 in fours. In the present copy the fifth book is the genuine text reprinted from that which sometimes accompanies the four books printed in 1595; but the variations are not material. The separate title to the "Civil Wars" bears date 1599, as it should do, and the poem does not consist here, as in some copies, of the unsold sheets of the work, as issued in 1595. The dedication of "Musophilus" to Fulke Greville was afterwards cancelled, and replaced by another; but in the posthumous edition of the author's "Whole Workes," 4to, 1623, it reappeared, and the substituted lines, which are far more lengthy, were rejected.

— Certaine Small Poems lately Printed: with the Tragedie of Philotas. Written by Samvel Daniel. Carmen amat, quisquis carmine digna gerit. At London Printed by G. Eld for Simon Waterson. 1605. Sm. 8vo. O. M.

A—H in eights, the last leaf blank; A—F in eights, first two and last two leaves blank. With a separate title to "Philotas."

From the Earl of Harborough's library. It is bound up with the "Panegyrike," &c., 1603.

This volume includes reprints of the "Letter from Octavia," "Cleopatra," "Rosamond," besides an "Ode," a "Pastorall," and "Ulysses and the Syrens," the three last small pieces here printed for the first time.

In Mr. Corser's copy of this book the original dedication of "The Letter from Octavia" to Margaret Countess of Cumberland stood in place of that to Lady Bedford. See "Collectanea," part v., p. 43.

The tragedy of "Philotas," here printed for the first time, met with a good deal of censure and hostile criticism in high quarters, in consequence of a surmise, that under Philotas the poet intended to shadow the Earl of Essex, Elizabeth's favourite. Daniel, in the reprint of the work with his other miscellaneous pieces in 1607, angrily and distinctly repudiated any political design, and set forth the circumstances under which the undertaking was commenced.

DANIEL, SAMUEL. Certaine Small Workes heretofore divulged by Samuel Daniel one of the Groomes of the Queenes Maiesties priuie Chamber, & now againe by him corrected and augmented. At London Printed by I. W. for Simon Waterson. 1607. Sm. 8vo. BL. M.

When all but the preliminary leaves of this volume had been worked off, it seems to have been discovered that the dedications to the "Cleopatra" and "Musophilus" were omitted, or, at any rate, the insertion of such was an afterthought; for in the present copy (from Mr. Corser's collection) cancels are given for the separate titles to those two poems, with dedications annexed, the "Cleopatra" to Lady Pembroke, and "Musophilus" to Sir Fulke Greville and the Lady Ann Clifford (separately). These are preserved in the edition of the "Small Works," 8vo, 1611; but in the 4to of 1623 the shorter inscription to Greville found in the "Musophilus" of 1599 is restored, and the verses to Lady Anne Clifford omitted. That to the Countess of Pembroke before "Cleopatra" is retained, but printed from the text of 1599, and at the same time corrupted by new errors of the press.

This, the rare original impression of the "Small Works," was not known in a perfect state to our earlier bibliographers. It contains: "Cleopatra, newly alt'ed," "Philotas," "Queen's Arcadia," "Octavia," "Musophilus," and the Funeral Poem on the Earl of Devonshire. All these had originally appeared between 1599 and 1606.

In Corser's "Collectanea," pt. v., p. 51, the present copy is described as probably unique; but such is not the case, at least one other being known.

In the privately printed volume of "Prefaces," 8vo, 1874, pp. 208-14, will be found reproduced the metrical dedications to Lady Pembroke and Lady Cumberland, in the former of which Daniel speaks of her ladyship's pious fame surviving

"When Wilton may lie leuell with the ground."

— Certaine Small Workes heretofore divulged by Samuel Daniell one of the Groomes of the Queenes Maiesties most Honourable priuie Chamber, and now againe by him corrected and augmented. At London Printed by I. L. for Simon Waterson. 1611. Sm. 8vo. BR. M.

A—Q 3 in twelves, the last leaf having the errata. Mr. George Smith's copy.

DANIEL, SAMUEL. Delia. Containing certaine Sonnets: with the complaynt of Rosamond. Ætas prima canat veneres postrema tumultus. 1592. At London, Printed by J. C. for S. Watersonne. 4to.

A, 2 leaves; B—M in fours; 11 is repeated, with the two first leaves blank. The title within a woodcut border.

Dedicated to Mary, Countess of Pembroke. This is the second of the three editions of the work printed in 1592. From the collection of Mr. Corser, who has described it at full length in his "Collectanea," part v., pp. 10-22, and has given illustrations of the manner in which the author altered his work in successive impressions. See also Collier's "Bibliographical Catalogue" for a notice of the differences in the three editions of 1592. The only known perfect copy of the first edition is that in the Duke of Devonshire's library, and the only one known of the third edition is that in Malone's collection in the Bodleian.

— Delia. Reprinted from the earliest known edition of 1592. Edited by John Payne Collier. 4to.

Presentation copy from the editor.

— Delia and Rosamond augmented. Cleopatra. By Samuel Daniel. Ætas prima, &c. 1594. Printed at London for Simon Waterson, and are to be sold in Pauls Church-yard at the signe of the Crowne. [Colophon.] At London, Printed by Iames Roberts, and Edward Allde, for Simon Waterson. 1594. Sm. 8vo.

A, 2 leaves; B—N in eights.

On A 2 occurs the dedication of the entire volume to the Countess of Pembroke. There are separate titles to "Rosamond" and "Cleopatra," and a special dedication of the latter to Lady Pembroke.

The present copy, in the original calf binding, has the initials "M. P." on each side of the cover, and is, in all probability, the one presented by the author to his patroness.

"Delia" and "Rosamond" were here published for the fourth time, if, indeed, the latter had not seen even more than four impressions; it was the first appearance of "Cleopatra." The volume passed through the press, it is said, twice in the same year.

— The First Fowre Bookes of the ciuile wars between the two houses of Lancaster and Yorke. By Samvel Daniel. Ætas prima At London, Printed by P. Short for Simon Waterson. 1595. 4to. R.

B—Z in fours, and the title-page.

There is no preliminary matter. This is the first of the two issues of 1595, and does not include Book V., which was added to some copies without a regular title. The present copy, from the library of Mr. Corser, is believed to be on large paper. It has the autograph of Lucy, Lady Lyttelton.

— The Civile Wares (sic) betweene the Howses of Lancaster and Yorke corrected and continued by Samuel Daniel one of the Groomes of hir Maiesties most honorable Priuie Chamber. Ætas prima Printed at London, by Simon Watersonne. 1609. 4to.

A—C in fours; D—Q in eights; R, 4 leaves. With an engraved title by Cockson in the centre of which is a portrait of the author.

In the privately-printed volume of "Prefaces," &c., 8vo, 1874, pp. 214-8, the dedication here found to the Countess of Pembroke is reprinted entire.

The features which appear to be new in this impression of the entire poem are enumerated at some length by Mr. Corser, "Collectanea," pt. v., pp. 55-6. But he does not seem to have been aware that pp. 39-40 were cancelled after a certain number of copies had been put in circulation, and an important change introduced to supply the place of a suppressed political allusion. The book occurs as often with the original leaf as with the cancel.

DANIEL, SAMUEL. A Panegyrike congratulatory Deliuered to the Kings most excellent maiesty at Burleigh Harrington in Rutland-shire. By Samvel Daniel. Also certaine Epistles. With a Defence of Ryme, heeretofore written, and now published by the Author. Carmen amat . . . At London, Printed by V. S. for Edward Blount. [1603.] Folio. BL. M.

Title to "Panegyrike," &c., 1 leaf; "Panegyrike," A—B 4 in sixes; title to "Epistles," dated 1603, 1 leaf; "Epistles," C—D 2 in fours and E—F 2 in sixes, besides a leaf between F and F 2 containing an address to the Earl of Hertford respecting Daniel's poem called "The Passion of a Distressed Man;" G—H in sixes and a leaf of I.

From Mr. Corser's collection. It is described in the sale catalogue of his library, part iv., as large paper; but all the copies known are of the same size.

Daniel's "Defence of Ryme" was written against Campion's "Observations, 1602, an exceedingly rare volume which will be found reprinted in "Ancient Critical Essays," 1811-15. See Collier's "Bibl. Cat.," i., pp. 175-7, where the variations between the folio and the octavo are referred to. Mr. Collier also remarks that "Only two or three complete copies of this edition of Daniel's 'Panegyric Congratulatory' and 'Epistles' are yet known, and it was most likely printed for presents."

— A Panegyrike Congratulatorie delivered to the Kings most Excellent Maiestie Also certaine Epistles Carmen amat, &c. At London Imprinted for Edward Blount. 1603. Sm. 8vo. G. M.

A—H in eights, title on A 2; B 8, C 8, D 8, and E 4, blank.

A reprint of the folio edition.

Daniel thought fit not to repeat here what is found on the title of the first impression of the "Epistles," that they were "after the manner of Horace."

— The Queenes Arcadia. A Pastorall Trage-comedie presented to her Maiestie and her Ladies, by the vniuersitie of Oxford in Christs Church, In August last. 1605. At London Printed by G. Eld, for Simon Waterson. 1606. 4to.

A, 2 leaves; B—K in fours, and a leaf of L. Original edition. From the libraries of Sir Francis Freeling and the Rev. Burleigh James.

— The Collection of the History of England. By Samuel Daniel. Revised, and by his last corrected Coppy Printed. London, Printed by Tho. Cotes, for Simon Waterson dwelling at the Signe of the Crowne in Pauls Church-yard. 1634. Folio.

A, 4 leaves; B—Z in sixes, Z 6 being occupied by the author's summary of his labours. The narrative is only carried down to the reign of Edward III., and this is the last of the editions printed without Trussel's "Continuation," which appeared in 1641.

M. Brunet has inserted in the fifth edition of the "Manuel du Libraire" an edition which appears to answer to this in all respects, except that it is dated the 10th instead of the 15th of April. As his description is only taken from a London sale catalogue that may well account for slight literal differences in the wording of the colophon. The text, in Latin and French, is printed in double columns. There are woodcuts on every page except the two last, which have no woodcuts, and the text here is printed in long lines.

Purchased with the "Danse Macabre des Hommes" of 1491, at the sale of the Savile library in 1861. No other copy of this edition appears to be known. Another edition, dated June 26th of the same year, but in 4to, and printed by "Gillet Coustiau et Jehan Menart," is described in M. Didot's catalogue of his books illustrated with wood engravings. This edition of "Guyot Marchant" appears to be entirely unknown to bibliographers.

DANSE MACABRE.

This is the copy which has successively passed through the sales of Gaignat,

MacCarthy, Debure, and Yemeniz, and no other appears to have occurred for sale or to be described in the catalogue of any library. The first leaf bears the title as given above, with a large pictorial letter L. At the back is a large woodcut of the Holy Trinity. It is in a binding of the seventeenth century.

The woodcuts in the first part of this edition, "Danse Macabre des hommes," are from the same blocks as in the edition of Paris, 1491, described above. In the later part of the book, "Danse Macabre des femmes," some are from the same blocks as were used in the edition of Paris, 1492, described above, but others are quite different. Brunet mentions an edition by the same printers without date, and also an edition of 1528 in 4to; but as he does not appear to have seen it, it is by no means improbable that he was mistaken as to the size.

First edition. Brunet does not remark upon the fact that copies of this edition vary in the text, but in the preface to "Le prime quattro edizioni della Divina Commedia," published at the expense of Lord Vernon, Mr. Panizzi has given facsimiles of the first pages of the two copies in the British Museum—the one in the King's library and the other in the Grenville collection—which show that the types must certainly have been reset; but he does not offer an opinion as to which of the two may lay claim to priority of impression. The copy here described reads with the copy in the King's library.

— [La Divina Commedia.] [Folio 1 begins] Capitulo di columbino Veronese al Nobile e prestatissimo huomo philippo Nuuoloni. [Colophon.] MCCCCLxxII. Magister georgius & magister paulus teutonicus hoc opus mantua impresserunt adiunante Columbino ueronensi. Folio.

One preliminary leaf. "Inferno, Purgatorio, & Paradiso," 30 leaves each.

Speaking of this edition, Mr. Panizzi says, "Contemporanea alle due precedenti (e forse forse primogenita) è l'edizione che ora sto per descrivere." The copy now described is mentioned by him as being at the time he wrote in the library of the Royal Society of London, having been left to that body by Henry Howard, Duke of Norfolk, in 1666. The Duke's grandfather, Thomas, Earl of Arundel, when ambassador at the Imperial Court had purchased it with the rest of the library of Bilibald Pirckheimer, the friend and executor of Albert Dürer. After describing also the copy in the Grenville library, Mr. Panizzi ends his notice by saying, "Ho pur avuto fra le mani l'esemplare della Spenseriana. Questi soli ho veduti; ma alcuni pochi altri se ne conoscono."

Mr. Panizzi mentions that the copy has been sadly ill-treated by the binder, and says also that it wants the first leaf. If such was the case when he saw it, the defect must have been since supplied from another copy.

This copy has brilliant impressions of Baccio Baldini's engravings to the two first cantos, and the copy being unusually large, the first one is not cut into as is usually the case. M. Brunet has given a most elaborate and accurate collation of this edition, which contains only a trifling misprint. He remarks that the signature ll ii. is not marked, whereas it is sig. ll iii. which is omitted.

DANTE, ALIGHIERI. [La Divina Commedia coi commenti di Cristoforo Landino.] [Colophon.] *Fine del Comento di Christophoro Landino Fiorentino sopra la Comedia di Danthe Poeta excellentissimo. From Sir Charles Price's collection. Brunet gives the number of leaves of this edition correctly, but he omits to state that the 310th or last leaf is blank. His statement, also, that the first leaf bears only a woodcut is liable to mislead. That which he calls the first is, in fact, the ninth leaf. The first leaf bears the register, and the seven following it contain the preliminary matter.

DARCIE, ABRAHAM. Annales, The True and Royall History of the famous Empresse Elizabeth Queene of England, France and Ireland &c. True faith's defendresse of Diuine renowne and happy Memory. Wherein all such memorable things as happened during hir blessed raigne, with such acts and Treaties as past betwixt hir Ma^{tie} and Scotland, France . . . are exactly described. Faithfully translated out of the French by Ab. Darcie, and published by the Kings Ma^{ties} most gracious authority. London, Printed for Benjamin Fisher. [1625.] 4to. BR. M.

Engraved title by Vaughan and portrait of Queen Elizabeth, with verses on the back, 2 leaves; a—b in fours; dedication to Prince Charles, &c., 2 leaves; 'The Author to the Reader,' 2 leaves; ¶, 4 leaves; €, 4 leaves; (), 4 leaves; A, 4 leaves; (a)—(d 2) in fours; (), 4 leaves; B—Kkk in fours; [B]—[Gg] in fours; Aaaa—Ffff 2 in fours. With verses to the reader, by Darcie, on the last leaf.

This is one of the copies without any date on the title-page, and with the portrait of Darcie, by Delaram, on the concluding page, but with the verses on the back of the portrait of Queen Elizabeth and the inscription to Prince Charles both plain. The original sides are let into the modern morocco binding, and contain in the centre of each a beautiful medallion portrait of Queen Elizabeth impressed in gold.

In one copy of this volume there is a printed title-page, dated 1625, otherwise unknown. From an inscription at the top of Delaram's print, it appears that Abraham Darcie was a native of Geneva, and the son of Peter Darcie, a lawyer. This portrait is rarely found in the book, which is of little value without it.

— Annales. The True and Royall History of the famous Empresse Elizabeth London printed for Benjamin Fisher, and are to be sould at the Talbot in Pater Noster Rowe. 1625. 4to. R. M.

A different issue from the preceding. It varies in having on the back of the portrait of Queen Elizabeth only the two last lines of the verses found in the other, in omitting the mention on the title of the work being a translation from the French, and in not having the portrait of Darcie worked on the last page, which here is blank.

— A Monumentall Pyramide to all Posterities: Erected to the euer-liuing memory, and perpetuall Honour of the All-vertuous and Euer-glorious Prince Lodowick, late Duke of Richmond and Lenox: Earle of Newcastle Who departed this transitory life at his Chamber in White-Hall on Monday, being the sixteenth day of February, 1624. betwixt sixe and seauen of the clocke in the morning, to the great grief of many thousand people of sundry Nations. At London Printed by Edw. All-de for Nathaniel Butter. 1624. 4to. BL. M.

A—B in fours, besides the title and a leaf following it, which is printed in mourning. In verse.

Mr. Corser's copy. See "Bibl. Anglo-Poetica," No. 465.

Brunet describes this as containing only fifty-seven leaves besides the preliminaries, but it has in fact sixty, several of the leaves being wrongly numbered.

The Roxburghe copy, from Mr. George Daniel's collection. It is said that only five copies exist. The present is in very fine condition, with some rough leaves.

— La vita di tutti e pontefici [Senz' alcuna data.] 4to. BR. M.

Six leaves.

Though this work is not enumerated among the poetical pieces of Dati by Brunet, it is evidently from the same press as the "Tractato di Santo Joanni laterano." It has the same woodcut border in the title, and, like it, is in verse. The author is chiefly celebrated as the versifier of Columbus's letter announcing his discovery of the New World.

DAUNCE, EDWARD. A Briefe Discoverse of the Spanish State, with a Dialogue annexed intituled Philobasilis. At London, Imprinted by Richard Field dwelling in the Blacke-Friers neere Ludgate. 1590. 4to.

A—C in fours.

Davenant states in a short preface, that this masque laboured under the disadvantage of having been hastily prepared for presentation to the Prince Elector. The leaf facing the title contains a jocular imprimatur, signed by the officer of the Prince of Love.

— Britannia Trivmphans: A Masque, Presented at White Hall, by the Kings Majestie and his Lords on the Sunday after Twelfth-night, 1637. A—D in fours, D 4 blank.

Mr. George Smith's copy. The following note by Mr. Halliwell is on the fly-leaf: "This masque gave great offence at the time, and was rigidly suppressed, and is not reprinted in the folio edition. The author of the 'Stage Condemned' devotes nineteen pages to describing it, and says 'that it was then (1698) very rare and scarcely to be had.'

At the end occurs this Note: "The Invention, Ornament, Sceans, and Apparitions, with their Descriptions, were made by Inigo Jones, Surveyor Generall of his Majesties Workes. What was spoken or sung, by William Davenant, her Majesties Servant. The Subject was set downe by them both. The Musicke was composed by Lewis Richard, Master of her Majesties Musicke." A—E in eights, title on A 2; F, 12 leaves, the last blank.

This is one of the rarest of Davenant's pieces. It was one of the performances which took place in private houses, under the patronage and protection of the nobility, after the parliamentary prohibition of theatrical entertainments.

— The Mans The Master: A Comedy. Written by Sir William D'Avenant, Knight. In the Savoy, Printed for Henry Herringman . . . 1669. 4to.

In a notice to the Reader, which follows the title, it is stated that this was a posthumous work, and that it had been often acted.

— King Iohn and Matilda, A Tragedy. As it was Acted with great Applause by her Majesties Servants at the Cock-pit in Drury-lane. Written by Robert Davenport Gent. London, Printed for Andrew Pennycuicke, in the year 1655. 4to.

A—H in fours. This drama is reprinted in the last edition of Dodsley's Collection, vol. xiii.

All the dramatic productions of Davenport were composed at a period long anterior to the respective dates of publication. The author, as we may presume from some collateral evidence, was living in 1630; but how long he survived that time, is uncertain.

DAVID, JOANNES. Icones ad Veridicum Christianum. Antverpiæ apud Philippum Gallæum. Anno 1601. 4to. G. M.

This is evidently an earlier edition than that quoted by Brunet, "Ex offic. Plantiniana." It consists of engraved title and 100 plates (the impressions of which are most brilliant) without letterpress descriptions. At the end are four leaves of music, entitled "Concentus musicus versibus Veridici Christiani coaptatus."

DAVIDSON, THOMAS. Cantus, Songs and Fancies, to severall Musickall Parts. Both apt for voices and Viols. With a brief Introduction to Musick, as is taught into the Musick-School of Aberdeen. Mr. Corser, "Collectanea," v., p. 73, states that there was a second edition of this work in 1611, but no such edition appears to be known to any other bibliographer.

A—C in fours. In 8-line stanzas.

Dedicated by Davies, in verse, to Philip, Earl of Montgomery. Mr. Corser's copy.

"This is one of the rarest of the productions from the pen of John Davies, and is found in few collections of our early Poetry. It is not in the 'Bibl. Ang. Poet.,' nor, with the single exception of a short article upon it by Mr. Collier in his 'P. P. Catal. of the Bridgewater Library,' p. 87, do we find it noticed by any of our poetical bibliographers. Lowndes also seems to have been unable to refer to the sale of a single copy."—Corser's "Collectanea," pt. v., 65.

DAVIES, JOHN, of Hereford. *Wittes Pilgrimage, (by Poeticall Essaies) Through a World of amorous Sonnets, Soule-passions, and other Passages, Diuine, Philosophicall, Morall, Poeticall, and Politicall. A—X in fours. Dedicated to Philip, Earl of Montgomery.

From Mr. Corser's collection. It is the fine copy described in the "Collectanea," part v., No. 88. It seems to be difficult to determine whether the portrait of Davies should accompany this volume or the "Holy Rood." It would match either, and was perhaps issued separately, and added or not, at the option of the purchaser, at the time of publication.

Licensed to John Browne, 27th of September, 1605. See Arber's "Transcript," iii., 129.

The second edition. The Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica copy, and subsequently in the libraries of Sir M. M. Sykes and Mr. Corser.

See the Grenville Catalogue, i., 182. The paging of this edition is incorrect, skipping from p. 45 to p. 146.

— The Scourge of Folly. Consisting of satyricall Epigramms, and others in honor of many noble and worthy Persons of our Land. Together with a pleasant (though discordant) Descant vpon most English Prouerbes: and others. At London printed by E. A. for

Sm. 8vo. R. M.

A—S 4 in eights, the first leaf blank.

The title-page is engraved, and bears on it a curious engraving of Wit scourging Folly on the back of Time, who has laid down his scythe and hour-glass to perform the duty imposed upon him by Wit, from whose mouth there is a label, with "Nay vp with him if he were my brother."

Many of the epigrams of a more interesting character in this volume have been reprinted in Brydges's "Restituta" and elsewhere. They are addressed not only to the nobility, but to the author's personal friends or acquaintances, Jonson, Shakespeare, Donne, Harington, Sir Thomas Lucy, Samuel Daniel, Sir John Davies, John Owen, John Speed, Sir W. Alexander of Menstrie, John Fletcher, Bishop Hall, Robert Armin the actor, &c. Shakespeare is spoken of as "our English Terence." The poem called "Paper's Complaint," in which some of the well-known books and writers of the day are mentioned, was reprinted in 1624, with a similar tract by Abraham Holland, with whose family Davies was intimate.

The book was licensed to Richard Redmer on the 8th of October, 1610. See Arber's "Transcript," iii., 201 b.

A—D 2 in fours, and A in fours. In verse.

On the title-page is the same copper-plate engraving as on the title of the author's "Scourge of Folly," where this invective was originally printed.

A 2 is occupied by a duplicate title, dated 1624, nearly identical with the first, but without the engraving. From the libraries of Mr. Jolley and Mr. Corser.

It is singular that Mr. Corser should have been unaware ("Collectanea," pt. v., p. 102) that the writer of a portion of this book was Abraham Holland, not, as Wood supposed, Abraham Hartwell.

DAVIES, SIR JOHN. Nosce teipsum. This Oracle expounded in two Elegies.

1. Of Humane Knowledge.

2. Of the Soule of Man, and the immortalitie thereof.

London, Printed by Richard Field, for Iohn Standish. 1599. 4to. BL. M.

First edition. Title, 1 leaf; "To our most Gracious dread Soueraigne," 1 leaf; the work, B—M 1 in fours.

There is a curious item in the registration of this book at Stationers' Hall (Arber, iii., 49 b), under date of April 14, 1599, namely, "This is authorised vnder the hand of the L. Bysshop of London/ Provyded that yt must not be printed without his L. hand to yt agayne."

— Nosce teipsum Written by Sir Iohn Davis, his Maiesties Attorney generall in Ireland. London, Printed by Henry Ballard for Iohn Standish. 1608. 4to. O. M.

A, 2 leaves; B—M 1 in fours.

The third edition; it retains the dedication to Queen Elizabeth. A copious review of this poem will be found in Mr. Corser's "Collectanea," pt. v., pp. 104-110.

— Nosce Teipsum Hymnes of Astræa in Acrosticke Verse. Orchestra, Or, A Poeme of Dauncing. In a Dialogue betweene Penelope, and one of her Wooers. Not finished. London, Printed by Augustine Mathewes for Richard Hawkins, and are to be sold at his Shop in Chancery Lane, nere Sericants Inne. 1622. Sm. 8vo. BL. M.

A—L 3 in eights.

The "Nosce Teipsum" and "Astræa" were published together in 1599, and "Orchestra" in 1596; the latter, however, had been licensed in 1593. This, the first collected edition, appears to have been produced without any reference to the author. It is only the old texts reprinted with their original dedications; and as Davies was living in 1622 (he died in 1626), it is singular that he allowed his "Orchestra" to remain unfinished. On sig. L 2, after stanza 126 of that poem, occurs: "Here are wanting some Stanzaes describing Queene Elizabeth," and the work ends imperfectly at stanza 131.

DAVIES, SIR J. A Discoverie of the True Causes why Ireland was neuer entirely Subdued, nor brought vnder Obedience of the Crowne of England, vntill the Beginning of his Maiesties happie Raigne. Printed for Iohn Iaggard, dwelling within Temple Bar, at the Signe of the Hand and Star. 1612. 4to.

A—Oo 2 in fours, A blank. First edition. Dedicated to the King. A Bodleian duplicate.

DAVIES, WILLIAM. A True Relation of the Travailes and most miserable Captiuitie of William Dauies, Barber-Surgeon of London, vnder the Duke of Florence. Discovering many mayne Landes, Ilandes, Riuers, Cities, and townes, of the Christians and Infidels, the condition of the people . . . London: Printed for Nicholas Bourne . . . 1614. 4to. Black letter.

A—E in fours.

The author was a native of Hereford. From Mr. Corser's library.

DAVILA, G. G. Teatro de las grandezas de la villa de Madrid. Madrid. 1623. Folio.

Engraved title and 3 preliminary leaves ; pp. 1-522 ; index, 4 leaves.

DAVILA Y HEREDIA, DON ANDRES. Advana de impositores de la medicina, y registro de libros, y papeles de contravando. [S. l. n. a.] 4to.

Pp. 1-59.

DAVIS, WILLIAM. Two Journies round the Library of a Bibliomaniac. London. 1821-5. Sm. 8vo. Two parts.

This appears to be a compilation from various sources, and not really an account of any particular collection.

DAVISON, FRANCIS. A Poetical Rapsodie, Containing Diuerse Sonnets, Odes, Elegies, Madrigals, Epigrams, Pastorals, Eglogues, with other poems, both in Rime and measured verse. For varietie and pleasure the like neuer yet published.

The third edition of this miscellany. See a review of it in Collier's "Bibliogr. Catalogue," i., 187-90.

From the collections of Mr. Heber and Mr. Corser. In the finest condition, and in the original vellum binding. It contains some memoranda by Mr. Heber which point out the differences between this edition and that of 1621.

DAVISON, FRANCIS. Davisons Poems, Or, A Poeticall Rapsodie. Deuided into sixe Bookes.

The second, Sonets and Canzonets.

The third, Pastoralls and Elegies.

The fift, Epigrams and Epitaphs.

. . . . The fourth Impression, Newly corrected and augmented, and put into a forme more pleasing to the Reader. London, Printed by B. A. for Roger Jackson, 1621. Sm. 8vo. O. M.

A—S in eights, the first leaf blank.

A reprint of the edition of 1611, with the contents arranged in a different and preferable manner. The edition of 1826 was taken from that of 1611. Dr. Farmer's copy, afterwards in Skegg's collection.

DAY, ANGEL. The English Secretorie, Or Methode of writing of Epistles and Letters: with a declaration of such Tropes, Figures and Schemes, as either vsually or for ornament sake are therein required. Also the parts and office of a Secretorie. Deuided into two bookes. Now newly reuised and in many partes corrected and amended. By Angel Day. London Printed by T. D. for Cuthbert Burby. 1607. 4to. Black letter.

A, 4 leaves; B—T in eights.

This book was originally published in 1586, and was then dedicated to the Earl of Oxford, to whom also the author dedicates this edition, with a new Epistle before it, in the course of which he remarks: "Hercules past many yeres ere he grew famed by his labors, and onely vse and practise enableth vnto the greatest perfection."

DAY, JAMES. A New Spring of Divine Poetrie. I. Day philomusus composuit. —Inest sua gratia parvis. Printed at London by T. C. for Humphry Blunden, at his shop neere the Castle Taverne, in Corne-hill. 1637. 4to.

Title-page, 1 leaf; dedication to Mistris Bridget Rudge in an acrostic, and "Votum Auctoris," 1 leaf; commendatory verses, 2 leaves; A 3—F in fours; (F), 4 leaves; G, 2 leaves, the last blank.

Nothing seems to be known of the author of this piece.

DAY, JOHN. Law-Trickes or, who would have Thought it. As it hath been diuers times Acted by the Children of the Reuels. Written by Iohn Day. London Printed for Richard More, and are to be solde at his Shop in S. Dunstanes Church-yard in Fleete-streete. 1608. 4to. O. M.

A—I in fours.

DAY, JOHN. The Parliament of Bees, With their proper Characters. Or, A Bee-hive furnisht with twelve Hony-combes, as Pleasant as Profitable. Being an Allegoricall description of the actions of good and bad men in these our daies. By Iohn Daye, Sometimes Student of Caius Colledge in Cambridge. [Quot. from Ovid.] London: Printed for William Lee, and are to be sold at his shop in Pauls Church-yard neere Pauls Chaine. 1641. 4to.

A, 2 leaves; B—H 2 in fours. With a frontispiece.

Dedicated to Mr. George Butler, whom the writer designates "professor of the Arts Liberall, and true Patron to neglected Poesie."

— The Blind-Beggar of Bednal-Green, with the merry humor of Tom Strowd the Norfolk Yeoman, as it was divers times publicly acted by the Princes Servants. Written by John Day. London, Printed for R. Pollard and Tho. Dring, and are to be sold at the Ben Johnsons Head, behind the Exchange, and the George in Fleetstreet, near Saint Dunstons Church. 1659. 4to. R. M.

B—K 2 in fours, besides the title-page.

This is the only edition; but the drama was written and acted long before it was printed.

DEACON, JOHN. Tobacco Tortured, Or, The Filthie Fvme of Tobacco Refined: Shewing all sorts of Subiects, that the inward taking of Tobacco fumes is very pernicious vnto their bodies; too too profluvius for many of their purses, and most pestiferous to the publike State. Exemplified apparently by most fearefull effects: More especially, from their treacherous proiects about the Gun-powder Treason; From their rebellious attempts of late, about their preposterous disparking of certaine Inclosures, as also from sundry other their prodigious practises. [Quot. from Prov. xxvii. 9.] London, Printed by Richard Field dwelling in Great Woodstrcte. 1616. 4to. Black letter.

*, 6 leaves; , 4 leaves; A—Cc in fours, the last leaf blank.

Dedicated to James I. At the end of this curious book are some verses by the author on Tobacco; one, which he terms "A Sonnet," and entitles "Tobacco Tortured," consists of twelve stanzas of four lines each. Of the publications upon tobacco which appeared about this time, this is one of the rarest.

DÉBAT. Le Debat du corps et de lame. [Sans lieu ni date.] 4to. Black letter.

This piece agrees exactly with the collation given by Brunet of the edition described by him under "Débat," having sigs. A, B in sixes, and C, 4 leaves, the last blank. He adds to his title, however, "et la Vision de Lermite," which does not appear either on the title or in the body of the book. At the end of the text we find, "Cy finist le debat du corps Et de lame."

From the Yemeniz collection. In the sale catalogue, strangely enough, the title is given as in Brunet. It was probably printed at Lyons, about 1500.

DE BRY. The Collection of Voyages, edited, translated, reprinted and illustrated by Theodore De Bry, his widow and two sons John Theodore and John Israel, and his two sons-in-law Matthew Merian and William Fitzer. The series described here as AMERICA and INDIA comprise

2. The Voyages to America, in German, in fourteen parts.

It will be seen that the set comprises all the first and most of the later editions, as well as some duplicate copies with variations.

4. The text, printed in italic letters, pp. 7-34. The first line of p. 34 ends with the word "pluribus." The last line of the page has only "1588." The catchword is "Vivae."
5. Title, "Vivae Imagines et ritus incolarum eius provinciae in America," &c., with a diamond-shaped typographical ornament in the centre.
6. "Index omnium capitum in hac parte Virginiae historiae," &c., 1 leaf.

Each of the pages is also numbered in type II.-XXIII. above the engraving, and has a descriptive letterpress in italic type printed below it, except XIII. and XVIII., which have the letterpress on the left margin, and XVII. XIX. XX. and XXII., on a leaf opposite the plate. Twelve out of the 23 plates are found with a reprinted text, and these are frequently mixed with those of the first issue. They may be distinguished by the endings of the first lines as shown in the following table. Those to which an is is affixed were not reprinted.

11. Ten leaves, the first headed "Pictorum, Britanniae icones," which consist of five plates representing full-length figures of the ancient Picts of Britain, with letterpress on separate leaves opposite.

12. A leaf headed "Interpres lectori," with a triangular type ornament at the end of the letterpress.

13. Two leaves. The first headed "Index præcipvarum," &c. At the end is repeated the same triangular type ornament mentioned above.

14. A leaf bearing the colophon, "Impressum Francofurti ad Manum apud Joannem Wechelium, impensis Theodori de Bry. Anno MDXC."

N.B. Inserted in this copy is a most brilliant earlier impression of the engraved title, without the words "Cum gratia et privilegio Cæs. Ma^{te} Spec^{ie} ad Quadriennivm."

ADMIRANDA NARRATIO fida tamen. Francofurti Part I.
ad Moenium typis Joannis Wecheli, scmtibus vero Theodor de Bry Anno 1st edition, CICIDXC. Vcnales reperiontur in officina Sigismundi Feirabendi. 2nd issue.

The title to this issue differs only from the first in having the address in the lower compartment of the engraved title printed from a small separate copper-plate, and in having "Theodor" for "Theodori," and "Feirabendi" for "Feirabendii," in this address.

The preliminary leaves numbered 4 and 5 are exactly the same as in the first issue.

The first leaf of text has the No. of the page "7" in the middle of the page instead of in the right-hand corner. The ornamental border at the top has a grotesque head in the centre instead of a winged figure holding two wreaths, as seen in the first issue. The initial letter H is larger. This leaf and pp. 29-30 have been reset throughout. Otherwise the text is exactly the same as in the first issue.

VOYAGES TO

This variation does not occur in all copies.

The leaves numbered in the collation of the first issue "5," "6," "7" are precisely the same.

The differences in the plates are fully noted above.

Part I.
2nd edition.

ADMIRANDA NARRATIO fida tamen . . . Francforti ad Moenum typis Joannis Wecheli, sumptibus vero Theodori de Bry Anno MDLXX. Venales reperientur in officina Sigismundi Feirabendii.

1. This title is in every respect the same as in the first edition except that the impression of the copperplate is not so bright. The real date of the edition is about 1608.

2. The plate of arms at the head of the dedication to the Archduke Maximilian has cross hatching introduced behind the shield. The initial "I" is smaller. The first line ends "vestræ Ma."

3. The heading "Benevolis," &c. is in three lines, instead of four.

4. The first leaf of text has the same ornament as the second issue of the first edition, but the number "7" is at the right side of the page. The headline of the pages, "Brevis & fida Narratio De commodis incol. Virginiae," is in smaller type than in the first edition. The last line of page 34 is "anni 1588."

5. The title to the plates varies slightly from the previous issues, having "Vivæ" for "Vivæ," "authoritate" for "auctoritate," &c. The ornament in the centre contains a grotesque mask.

6. The plate of Adam and Eve has transverse lines in the arms of the trees, on the serpent's tail, &c., and "Jo." is added to the engraver's name.

7. The initial letter "T" to the leaf headed "Beneuolo Lectori S." is entirely cut in wood.

8. Map of Virginia, much worn.

11. The woodcut at the end of the leaf "Interpres lectori" has a grotesque figure in the centre.

12. "Index præcipvarum," 2 leaves. The woodcut at the top has a grotesque head and two satyrs. At the end of the index is a woodcut ornament with a grotesque mask in the centre. There is no colophon leaf.

11. "Mendæ quædam," 1 leaf.

12. "Parergon continens quædam . . ." 4 leaves. On the verso of the 4th leaf is the colophon, as given above.

Part II.
2nd edition.

BREVIS NARRATIO eorum quæ in Florida Americæ Provincia Gallis acciderunt. Francoforti ad Mocnum. Anno MDXCI. [1609].

1. The title is in every respect the same as in the first edition.

2. The dedication leaf has only six lines of inscription above the coat of arms, and only five lines of letterpress beneath it.

3. In the leaf headed "Benevolo lectori," the first line ends "quam ante aliquot".

4. Imperial privilege. The first line reads "Exemplar Cæ."

5. Map of Florida.

6. Four leaves, headed "Historia Lvctvosæ Expeditionis . . .", which are not found in the first edition.

7. Text, headed "Gallorvm in Floridam Americæ . . ." The first page has 26 lines of text. The last line of p. 30 reads "sempiternum. Amen." while the first edition has "ria in sempiternum. Amen."

8. "Index capitvm." This leaf is almost word for word as in the first edition, but at the end of line 41 it has "observatæ" instead of "observatæ," and No. 18 occupies only one line instead of two.

9. A letterpress title, "Indorvm Floridam Provinciam Inhabitantium eicones. Anno Christi M.D.CIX." VOYAGES TO AMERICA IN LATIN.

10. Plates I.-XLII. differing from those of the first edition in the letterpress, according to the table given above.

11. "Libellvs sive Epistola . . ." 3 leaves. The ornamental cut at the top has a cherub's head in the centre, supported by two cherubs blowing trumpets.

12. "De Qvarta Gallorvm . . ." 5 leaves, including the index. The ornamental cut at the beginning is the same as described above (No. 11). The catchword of the fifth leaf is "Parer," instead of "Menda."

13. "Parergon. . . ." 4 leaves. The verso of the fourth leaf is blank.

1. Engraved title as above within an architectural border.

2. Dedication, "Serenissimo Principi. . . . Gvillermo, Comiti Palatino ad Rhenvm, . . ." 1 leaf.

3. Two leaves. The first bears on the recto seven coats of arms engraved on copper. On the verso "Theodorvs de Bry Lectori."

4. Dedication, "Illustissimo. . . Philippo, Landgravio Hassiæ, Signed "Joannes Stadius . . ."

5. Preface, addressed "Generoso Domino, Domino Philippo, Comiti Nassaviæ S. F. D. Ioannes Dryander," 3 leaves.

6. A large map, "Americae pars magis cognita."

7. Text of the Voyage of J. Stadius. Pp. 1-134. With engravings on the letterpress.

10. Pp. 145-296. With engravings on the letterpress.

11. Index, 7 leaves, followed by a blank leaf.

AMERICA
IN LATIN.

Title as in the first edition, with the exception that the name of Theodore de Bry is substituted for that of Feirabend.

The only other difference between this edition and the first is, that the plate containing seven coats of arms has the background filled in with scrolls and six female figures, representing "Pax," "Veritas," &c.

The plates are of course not so brilliant in impression. In the letterpress there is no difference whatever.

Part III.
2nd edition.

AMERICAÆ TERTIA PARS. [Colophon.] Impressum Francofurti ad Moenum, apud Matthiam Beckerum, impensis Theodori de Bry. MDCV.

1. Title, the same in every respect as in the second edition, except that the plate is much worn.

2. Dedicatory leaf. The coat of arms has been much worked on and darkened. Beneath the plate are six lines of letterpress, instead of five.

3. The recto of the third leaf, which in the previous editions has the seven coats of arms, is here blank. The recto of the fourth leaf has fifteen lines instead of fourteen.

4. The title which follows p. 134 is here in letterpress.

5. The page 137 has the Greek verses in very small characters. P. 141 has thirty-two lines of text instead of twenty-six, and p. 143 has seventeen lines instead of twenty-seven. P. 144 is blank.

The impressions of the engravings are so inferior that any leaves inserted from this edition to make up copies of the first or second must at once be detected by that alone.

Part IV.

AMERICAÆ PARS QVARTA. Sive Insignis & Admiranda Historia de reperta primum Occidentali India à Christophoro Columbo Anno M.CCCCXCII. Scripta ab Hieronymo Bezono Mediolanense, qui istic annis XIII. versatus, diligenter omnia observavit. Addita ad singula ferè capita, non contemnenda scholia, in quibus agitur de earum etiam gentium idololatria. Accessit præterea illarum Regionum Tabula chorographica. [Colophon.] Impressum Francofurti ad Moenum, typis Joannis Feyrabend, Impensis Theodori de Bry. Anno. M.D.LXXXVIII.

1. Title as above, within an engraved border.

In this copy is inserted a second title, which has the words "Ad Invistis. Rudolphus II. Rom. Imperator" added after the date, and the word "prevelegio" altered to "privilegio."

2. A leaf with the seven coats of arms and the six virtues, as in Part 3; on the verso "Exemplar Cæsarei Privilegii."

3. A leaf, "Ad Lectorem," "Theodorus de Bry Benevolo Lectori." With a plate of Benzon in his ship.

4. A leaf, "Americae relectio." The catchword is "Artes."

5. Five other prefatory leaves, pp. 1-10. At the head of p. 1 is a woodcut ornament with two cherubs blowing trumpets. On the tenth page the last word of the 12th line of text reads "crederent".

6. Map, "Occidentalis Americae partis."

7. Text. Pp. 11-145. The sidenotes are printed in Roman type.

8. Title repeated exactly as given above.

9. Plates I-XXIII., without any numbers engraved on the plates themselves.

Brunet was altogether unacquainted with the title in its first state as given above, and knew it only, it seems, from the Santander catalogue in its second state with the words "Ad Invistis Rudolphus," which he quotes incorrectly as "Invictis," but even in the third issue the error "Invistis" remains uncorrected.

AMERICA PARSE QVARTA Francofurtensi Anno cIdlxxciiii. Ad Invistis Rudolph. II Rom. Imperator Cum privilegio S. C. Maiestat. [Colophon.] Impressum Francofurti ad Moenum Anno M.D.LXXVIII.

1st edition,
2nd issue.

1. The title as above. It will be seen that the error in the ending of the word Rudolphus noted in the duplicate title in the first edition is here corrected by defacing imperfectly the two last letters, "us."

2. The preliminary leaves and text are precisely the same as in the first edition; but the difference in the plates certainly marks this as a distinct edition, though it is not so counted by Brunet.

The impressions both of engraved title and plates are very inferior, and the following differences in the plates distinguish this as a re-issue:—

On plate 5 the number is rudely indicated in the left corner.

Plate 6 is marked on the gun carriage.

Plate 7 is marked in the left corner.

Plate 9 is very indistinctly marked in the right corner.

Plate 12 is marked in the right corner.

Plate 18, to the right of the centre.

The other plates are only to be distinguished as belonging to the first edition by the brilliancy of the impressions.

AMERICA PARSE QVARTA [Sine anno.]

2nd edition.

1. The title is precisely the same as in the second edition except that at the bottom of the title, on the right, are inserted some marks which appear like the letter A and a Z reversed.

2. On the reverse of the plate of shields the last word of line 23 reads "dictum" instead of "dictū".

3. "Ad Lectorem," the last word of the first line reads "In-" instead of "Indiæ."

4. "Americae rectio," there is no catchword.

5. The ornamental woodcut on p. 1 is different to that described above. On p. 10 the last word of line 13 is "in-" instead of "quum."

6. The text is at first sight the same as in the first and second, and by Brunet, who calls it the second edition, it is said to be "une répétition de la première," but the marginal notes are here nearly all in italic letter.

7. The plates are clearly marked on the copper 1-24, which effectually distinguishes them from the preceding editions, without any need of the peculiar distinctions which are given by Brunet. The plates have been retouched throughout, and the letterpress re-composed, but the differences from the earlier editions are generally very slight.

4. On p. 3 the heading "Tertii libri summa," &c., is in two lines.
5. Text. Pp. 5-108. As the text does not read with that of the second edition, it is needless to give any particulars by which it may be distinguished from it. The No. of p. 5 is at the right-hand corner.
6. The title repeated as above. Over the centre is pasted a separate slip as a special title to the engravings, "Sequuntur icones artificiosæ ordine Historiam præcedentem illustrantes, additis ad singulas suis explicationibus."
7. Plates 1-28. These plates may be distinguished from those belonging to the second edition by the letterpress to Nos. 7, 10-19, 21, 22, 27, and 28 being in Roman type, and by the number of lines of letterpress to those that are printed in italics. AMERICÆ PARS VIII. Continens primo, descriptionem trivm Itinervm Anno M.D.XCIX.

This issue was unknown to Brunet except through "un catalogue de livres curieux imprimé à New York en 1854" [by Mr. James Lenox], and he expresses an opinion that "ce doit être une édition faite pour Merian après l'année 1625," which is unquestionably a mistake.

It is in fact a reissue of the first edition with only this difference, that the first title and the text to the end of p. 6 have been reprinted. The text begins on the back of the title, the preface being suppressed, and by using a smaller type the text of the four pages is got into three. Pp. 5-6 are consequently omitted.

1. Letterpress title within an engraved border.
2. "Lectori beneuolo S," 1 leaf.
3. Text. Pp. 1-149. This should be 159 but for an error in the pagination. There are 80 leaves.
4. Besides the numerous plates printed in the text, there are the following plates and maps separate, and not numbered :—

AMERICA
IN LATIN.

- A. "America nouiter delineata." A folding map.
- B. "Fretum Magellanicum." The same plate as described in Part ix.
- C. "Descripción de las Indias." From Herrera. The same as in Part xii.
- D. At p. 12, Map of Virginia. In the left corner a representation of Powhatan's Court.
- E. At p. 36, Map, "Das Norder theil des Lands Brasilien."
- F. At p. 44, Map, "Die Landschafft Gvaina."
- G. At p. 62 (wrongly marked 25), S. Salvador.
- H. At p. 146 (wrongly marked 136), "Das Eylandt Cuba."
- I. At p. 154 (wrongly marked 144), "Olinda."

* * It is remarked in the Grenville Catalogue that "these two last Parts (xii. and xiii.) are excessively rare, and generally found in very bad condition, and without the maps."

The copies here described are, however, in very fine state, measuring 14 $\frac{1}{4}$ inches in height, being rather larger than the early parts, and having all the maps quite complete.

Elenchus.

HISTORIA AMERICÆ sive Novi Orbis, Compræhendens in XIII. Sectionibus exactissimam descriptionem vastissimarum et multis abhinc seculis incognitarum Terrarum, quæ nunc passim Indiæ Occidentalis nomine vulgò vsurpantur. Cum elegantissimis tabulis et figuris æri incisis, nec non elencho Sectionum, & Indice Capitum ac rerum præcipuarum. Francofurti, Sumptibus Matth. Meriani. 1634.

1. Title as above, in letterpress, within an engraved border, 1 leaf.
2. Title entirely letterpress, and "Præfatio", together, 5 leaves.
3. "Elenchus singularium sectionum," 4 leaves.

This piece was published in 1634 by Merian as a collective title and table of contents of the AMERICA, and is generally found attached to the second edition of Hariot's "Virginia," or Part I. of the Latin America. But as it contains a general preface and a table to the whole work, it is usual to place it with the first edition as title and introduction to the whole work. It is of the greatest rarity. Reprints by De Bure or by Edwards without the engraved title are frequently found substituted for the original edition.

1. Letterpress title, within the same engraved border as Part II. of the Latin edition. The centre is blank and the letterpress pasted on. The imprint is given by Brunet in German, and no doubt there should be a slip with the German imprint pasted over the Latin, as given above, but it is not in this copy.
2. Dedication to the Duke of Saxony, dated at the end, "Anno M.D.LXX.VXI."
3. "An den günstigen Leser," with sig. "a iii."

5. Map, "Floridæ Americae Provinciae".

1. Letterpress title, printed within the same engraved border as the first edition.
2. Dedication, date at the end, "Anno 1603."

5. Map, "Floridæ Americæ Provinciae".
6. Text. Pp. 1-42.
7. Letterpress title, "Warhafftige Abconterfaytung . . ." without border, dated "Anno M.DCIII."

9. Plates i.-xlii. The numbers in the centre of the page.
10. "Vnterthânige Supplication . . ." 13 leaves. At the top of the first a woodcut of ornamental design.

* * Brunet says, "Cette édition de 1603 est augmentée de la traduction des morceaux ajoutés à la seconde édition du texte Latin," meaning no doubt the "Historiæ luctuosæ," which precedes the text in the second edition of the Latin. But he is quite mistaken in saying that a translation is given of it. As will be seen by the preceding collation, the text is precisely the same in both editions. The only difference is that Feyrabendt's imprint at the end of the register is omitted in the second edition.

2. Dedication to Frederick, Pfaltzgrave of the Rhine. Coat of arms with nine lines beneath. Catchword "miltig-" This, with "Dieterich von Bry an den Günstiger Leser," occupies 3 leaves. On the verso of the third is the plate of the seven coats of arms and the six virtues.

5. Map, as in the first edition.

6. Four plates of ships, each with a large ship in the foreground, except the fourth, which is a single ship. These plates are not mentioned by Brunet, or in the Grenville Catalogue. They have no numbers or inscription of any sort, and are probably an insertion, not belonging to the book.

Bound up with this volume is a set of the plates in the third state which is regularly numbered. The text is precisely the same in the three states, but on the engravings the numbers are plainly marked throughout in Arabic numerals.

* * This is described in the Grenville Catalogue as the first edition, notwithstanding the words "zum dritten mal auffgelegt" on the title-page. It is there also stated that the plate at p. 1 is not the same as in the Latin, which mistake (as remarked above) is copied by Brunet.

* * This copy also contains the plates mentioned by Brunet as in the Weigel copy. a. "Descripcion de las Indias orientales." b. "Fretvm Magellanicvm." c. "Virginia." d. "America noviter delineata."

It is very doubtful if either of these plates really belongs to Part xiv. any more than "Das Norder Theil des Lands Brasilien," which was also in this part, but has been transferred to Part xiii. p. 59, where it clearly belongs. Mr. Lenox describes a large folding view, "Abbildung welcher Gestalt de Spanischer Silberflotta", at p. 59, but it is not in this copy.

Part V.

QVINTA pars Indiæ Orientalis [Imprint as above].

The collation of this second edition or re-issue is the same as the first, except that the impressions of the plates are not so good, and that plate xiii. is printed on the back of plate xii. and xiv.-xv. are on the front and back of the same leaf. The letterpress to plates xiii.-xv. has also been reset, but to all the other plates it is precisely as in the first issue. The paper throughout the volume is poorer than that of the first issue. Brunet doubts the existence of a second edition of any except Parts I.-III of the Latin India.

Part 10 of the America. But, in fact, two ships only are represented. Within an oval on the right is a male figure, and on the left a female, each standing in a niche. The plate on the title of Part 10 of the America is quite different, at least in the copy here described.

12. Text. Pp. 33-88.

* * Brunet places the five plates after p. 88, but as they have reference exclusively to the matter of pp. 1-33, they are more properly placed to follow those pages.

Of the first series, plates III., IV., VI., VII., X., and XII. were re-engraved, the copies being reversed, except of III. and XII.

Plates III., VII., X., and XII. are in this copy in both states.

Of the second series, all the five plates were re-engraved and reversed, and they are here in both states.

The coppers appear to have been lost after a certain number of the edition had been printed, as the letterpress beneath the copies and the originals is precisely the same. For the distinguishing points of the originals and copies, see the collation of the German edition of Part ix.

1. Letterpress title, within the same architectural border as the Latin edition. In this impression, the word "Architectura" does not appear in the upper compartment. This is not an evidence of an early state of the plate, as it can be seen that a slip of paper had been placed there to prevent the impression of the word.

2. "An den günstigen Leser", 1 leaf.

3. Text, pp. 1-55. At p. 8 is the view of St. Helena, as in part 3; and at p. 16 the view of Mozambique, as in part 2; but it is probable that neither of them belong here.

4. Letterpress title, "Folgen hernacher Etlich eygentliche Fürbildungen" Without imprint.

5. "An den gutwilligen Leser." 1 page, reverse blank.

8. Text, pp. 3-35.

9. Letterpress title, "Folgen etliche Schöne Figuren Gedruckt zu Franckfurt M.DC.XIII."

10. Plates I.-V.

There is another copy of this part in the library, which, so far as the text is concerned, is precisely the same; but the titles and plates show the following differences:—

1. The letterpress of the title is printed in the centre of an engraved architectural design, which is not to be found in any other of the parts. On each side is a female figure; beneath that on the right, but in a separate compartment, is inscribed, "Praemium virtutis honos;" beneath that on the left, "Fama virtutis stimvlvs."

2. A second title is inserted, the engraved border of which is precisely the same as that described in the first edition, except that it has the word "Architectura" in the upper compartment.

3. The letterpress beneath the plates is letter for letter the same, but the plates themselves present the following differences:—

a. Plate III. is a copy not reversed. There are six trees in the right upper corner. In the original there are only four.

b. Plate IV. is a reversed copy. The ships are on the left.

c. „ VI. is a reversed copy. The town is on the left.

d. „ VII. is a reversed copy. The land is on the left.

e. „ X. is a reversed copy. The sea is on the left.

f. Plate XII. is a copy not reversed, without the words "Festung Nassau" over the fort.

The second set of five plates are all reversed copies, and may thus be distinguished from the originals :—

- Plate i. has the sea on the left.

2. Dedication to "Johann Ludwigen von Hagen . . .", 1 page, on the reverse is the register of this 13th part.
3. Text, pp. 1-184, with plates in the text. At p. 54 is a view of Macao, a copy of that which serves as plate i. in the Appendix to Part viii.; and at p. 106 is a folding map, "Descriptio Chorographica Indiae Orientalis."

DE BRY. Alphabeta et characteres, iam inde a creato mundo ad nostra usq. tempora; apud omnes omnino nationes usurpati, ex variis autoribus accurate depromptj. Artificiose et eleganter in ære efficti, et recens foras dati. Francofordii. 1596. Oblong 4to.

Brunet describes this volume as consisting of fifty-seven plates, but does not give the exact collation, which is somewhat peculiar: Engraved title, 1 leaf; other preliminary matter, 5 leaves. After this comes the engraved portion of the work, which begins with A ii, the first leaf being blank, and goes on regularly in fours, as far as H, each signature being numbered to iiiii. I is numbered only to iii. Then follows a very beautiful alphabet A—Z, on twelve leaves, but without any signatures. After this a single leaf marked M iiiii., concluding with sig. N, 4 leaves.

From Sir Charles Price's collection.

Engraved title and letterpress A—E in fours.

There are in this copy ninety-one plates, including a series of four lettered A—D and a series of twenty-one numbered 1-21, as described in the letterpress, but these are interspersed among sixty-six other plates without numbers, some of which are heraldic designs, others emblems. Brunet describes the volume as containing only eighty-five plates.

Mr. Corser's copy. This is probably the piece licensed to Aspley in 1599. It appears from Henslowe's Diary, edit. Collier, p. 64, that a second part was written; but it is not known.

Dedicated "To His Wel-Respected Good friend, Mr. Cutbert Thuresby, Water-Bayliffe of London." The preface is full of curious allusions.

The following extract from Mr. Corser's "Collectanea," pt. v., pp. 129-30, seems to set at rest the question as to Decker's authorship of this piece: "Although his name nowhere appears in the volume, he acknowledges it to be his in the introduction to his 'Seven Deadly Sins of London,' 4to, 1606, in which, speaking of what happened 'in that "Wonderfull yeere," when these miserable calamities entred in at thy gates, slaying 30,000 and more,' he adds in a side note, 'A Booke so-called, written by the Author, describing the horror of the Plague in 1603.'"

A—I in fours, title on A 2.

Mr. George Smith's copy. The Townley copy being deficient of the title, and the headline on sig. A 3 being "A Device, proiected downe," &c., the volume was catalogued as "Dekker his Device," whence it found its way into Lowndes as a separate work.

Three editions were printed in London, and one in Edinburgh, in the same year.

Sir W. Tite's copy. This is a curious piece, and is often cited for its incidental illustrations of old manners. It has been reprinted from this edition for the Percy Society. It originally appeared in 1606, under the title of "News from Hell."

DECKER, THOMAS. *The Belman of London: Bringing to Light the most Notoriovs Villanies that are now Practised in the Kingdome. Of this popular tract as many as three editions were printed in 1608. See Collier, "Bibl. Cat.," i., 205, as to Decker's plagiarisms from Harman.

A very remarkable series of the editions of this work, including the three which appeared in 1608, and of the sequel to it, will be found described in Mr. Corser's "Collectanea," v., pp. 151-61. Such a set was probably never before brought together.

This book was registered at Stationers' Hall in 1608, as "a thing called the Bellman."

In the address to the reader Decker gives some good advice to authors, which was quite contrary to his own practice: "We should come to the Presse as we come to the Field (seldome)." "This Tree of Guls," he adds, "was planted long since, but not taking roote, could neuer beare till now. It hath a relish of Grobianisme, and tastes very strongly of it in the beginning. The reason thereof is, that hauing translated many Bookes of that into English verse, and not greatly liking the Subiect, I altred the Shape, and of a Dutchman, fashioned a meere Englishman."

From Lord Charlemont's sale in 1865. It is believed that not more than five or six copies are known, though Dr. Nott, in his reprint, 1812, hazarded a conjecture that twenty copies might exist.

— The Gull's Hornbook: . . . [Edited by Dr. Nott.] With Notes. Bristol. 1812. 4to.

Mr. Corser's copy. The preface to this work is given in the privately-printed volume of "Prefaces," &c., 1874.

In the British Museum is another issue of the same year in which "Ravenens" is printed for "Ravens," and there are other literal differences in the title sufficient to show that it was a distinct impression.

— Troia-Noua Triumphans. Four leaves.

Mr. Maskell's copy. A MS. note on the fly-leaf says: "About the year 1582 several conspiracies of the Papists were discovered, and among others Francis Throgmorton was seized, and twice set upon the rack; a book also was written, in which the ladies about the Queen were incited to treat her as Judith did Holofernes. The author of this, although suspected, was not discovered. The Queen, however, directed Lord Burleigh to put forth this 'Declaration,' and ordered the judges to forbear racking and other punishment; and not long after about seventy priests, some of whom were condemned, and all of them under prosecution, were set at liberty, and commanded to leave the kingdom." The tract was, no doubt, printed at London. The anonymous writer, in his address to the reader, after stating that the Queen's Government was too strong to care for such attacks, goes on to say, "Yet for thy better satisfaction I haue conferred with a very honest Gentleman, whom I knew to haue good and sufficient meanes to deliuer the trueth . . ."

Apparently unknown to Herbert, but a copy is in the Grenville collection.

A—E in eights, last leaf blank.

The address to the indifferent reader is directed from Cologne, the 26th of March, 1592, and it is followed by three short copies of verses headed, "Of the fained happinesse of England." At p. 12 there is this curious passage, relating to the translation of Jewel's "Apology," which appeared in 1562: "The apologie of this Church was written in Latin, & translated into English by A[nne] B[acon] with the comendation of M[ildred] C[ecil], which twaine were sisters, & wiues vnto Cecill and Bacon, and gaue their assistance and helping hands in the plot and fortification of this newe erected synagog."

20, 4 leaves, the first leaf blank; a, 4 leaves; A—S in fours.

This is a translation into English verse of the preceding work. For a notice of it, see Collier's "Bibl. Catalogue," ii., 324-6, and "Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica," No. 664. The full name of "R. F. Gent. and no more," as he subscribes himself at the end of the preface, does not appear to be known. Mr. Collier remarks: "Dr. Nott does not seem to have been aware, when he wrote the note on a passage in his reprint of Dekker's 'Gull's Hornbook,' 1609, p. 4, that an English version of 'Grobianus et Grobiana' had appeared in print only four years earlier: Dekker's obligation to it is pointed out in vol. i., p. 206, of the 'Bibliogr. Catal.'"

Mr. Collier also remarks that when Swift wrote his "Directions to Servants," he evidently had the original of this book in his mind, though it is not at all likely that he had ever met with this translation.

It has already been noticed that Decker, in his preface to "The Guls Horne-booke," acknowledges his obligation to Grobianus.

DEE, JOHN. General and Rare Memorials pertayning to the Perfect Arte of Navigation: Annexed to the Paradoxal Cumpas in Playne: now first published: 24. yeres after the first Inuention thereof. A—C in fours, including a shield of arms.

Unmentioned by Herbert, and the title given by Lowndes is not, according to this copy, quite correct. The leaf which should be C 2 or 3 is misplaced, being inserted after the title. From Mr. Corser's library. "The Letter of Squires conspiracie is well written, but the other of Dr. Dee is a ridiculous bable of an old imposturing jugler."—Letter of John Chamberlain to Dudley Carleton, March 1, 1599-1600.

DEE, JOHN. A True & Faithful Relation of what passed for many Yeers Between Dr. John Dee (a Mathematician of Great Fame in Q. This is the edition described by Hain, 6084. It consists of thirty leaves, including the blank leaf at the beginning. The last leaf bears only on the recto a woodcut of the Virgin standing on a crescent, the verso being blank.

[DEFENSORIUM inuolutæ perpetuæque virginittatis Mariæ.] [Sine ullâ notâ.] 4to. Woodcuts. G. M.

Hain, 6085. This edition, which is printed with the same types as the edition described above, consists also of thirty leaves. The first is blank, and the book begins on the recto of the second leaf, with the same words as the other edition. It also ends on the verso of the twenty-ninth leaf; but in this edition the last line reads, "nia ⁊ q̄ hostes ⁊ jurgia." The thirtieth leaf bears the same woodcut of the Virgin as in the other edition. The woodcuts in both editions are from the same blocks, and from the similarity of the types to those used by Reyser, of Eichstadt, it is probable that both editions are from his press.

DEFENSORIŪ inuolute perpetuq; virginittatis . castissime dei genitricis Marię. In quo adducuntur xlvj. naturalia et mirabilia ex-

Hain, 6086. This edition has also thirty leaves, including the title. Sigs. A—C, 8 leaves each; D, 6 leaves. The woodcuts are copied from those in the preceding editions, and the book is evidently of a rather later date.

DEFOE, DANIEL. Dictionarium Sacrum seu Religiosum. A Dictionary of all Religions, Ancient and Modern. Whether Jewish, Pagan, Christian or Mahometan London. 1704. 8vo.

Published anonymously, but usually attributed to Defoe.

— The Life and Strange Surprising Adventures of Robinson Crusoe, of York, Mariner: Who lived Eight and Twenty Years, all alone in an un-inhabited Island on the Coast of America, near the mouth of the Great River of Oroonoque; having been cast on Shore by Shipwreck, wherein all the men perished but himself. With An Account how he was at last as strangely deliver'd by Pyrates. Written by Himself. London: 1719. Frontispiece. The Farther Adventures of Robinson Crusoe; Being the Second and Last Part of his Life, And of the Strange Surprising Accounts of his Travels Round three Parts of the Globe. Serious Reflections during the Life And Surprising Adventures of Robinson Crusoe: with his Vision of the Angelick World. Written by Himself. London. 1720. Together, 3 vols. 8vo.

First edition. There is in the Library another copy of the book, which has the first volume of the second edition and the other two volumes of the first edition.

Lowndes is mistaken in stating that the map appeared only in the second edition of "The Farther Adventures." The titles of both are precisely alike, excepting the addition of the words, "The second edition."

— The Life and Strange Surprising Adventures of Robinson Crusoe, The Third Edition . . London. 1719. Frontispiece. The Farther Adventures of Robinson Crusoe The Third Edition, adorned with Cuts. London: 1722. Map. Serious Reflections of Robinson Crusoe. London: 1720. Folding frontispiece. 3 vols. 8vo.

The first part here is in fact the second edition with a new title. Of the "Serious Reflections" there does not seem to have been more than one edition. "The Farther Adventures" is a distinct new impression.

— The Life and Strange Surprising Adventures of Robinson Crusoe. London. 1790. 2 vols. 8vo. Large paper. Plates after Stothard. R. M.

DE FRANCHIS, JOHANNES MARIA. Of the most Auspicious Marriage: betwixt the High and Mightie Prince Frederick, Covnt Palatine of Rheine, chiefe Sewer to the sacred Roman Empire . . . The last leaf is occupied by a short poem to the Princess by Hutton.

DE GHEYN, JACOB. Maniement d'Armes d'Arquebuses, Mousquets & Picques, selon l'ordre de Monseig. le Prince Maurice, Pr. d'Orange, Comte de Nassau, &c Gouvern. & Capitain General des Provinces Unies. Representé par figures de Jaques de Geyn. [Then follows the same title in Dutch, and then in English.] The Exercise of Armes for Calivres, Muskettes, and Pikes. After the ordre of his Excellence Maurits Prince of Orange, Counte of Nassau &c. Gouvernour and Capitaine Generall over the Vnited Provinces. Sett forth in figures by Jacob de Geyn. [Then follows the same title in German.] [Colophon.] A Zutphen chez André Jansson d'Aclst. [1619.] 4to.

Title (engraved on copper) and preliminaries, 4 leaves; A—L in fours, the last leaf blank. Then the same signatures repeated exactly for the "Maniement du Mousquet," and A—H in fours, and one leaf of I for the "maniement du pique." There are forty-two full-length woodcut figures to the first part, forty-three to the second, and thirty-two to the third.

This edition in quarto is a much rarer book than the large folio published at the Hague in 1608, with copper-plate engravings. The reason is, no doubt, that this was intended for the use of the common soldiers, as appears by the following extract from the address following the title: "A tous gens de guerre, et amateurs d'Armes." "Or pour instruire les Soldats novices ou inexpérimentez, Jaques de Ghein (il à passé quelques ans) a mis en lumière un livre avec des figures. Mais d'autant que cest un grand livre & couste beaucoup, si estce que plusieurs Soldats (qui en ont affaire) ne le peuvent achepter tant cher, estant aussi trop grand pour l'emporter par tout: Pourtant j'ay trouvé bon de le reduire en ceste petite forme, toutefois rien n'omettant de ce qu'il y à au grand livre."

A—Z in eights, including the frontispiece and a blank leaf at the end.

Dedicated separately to the two princesses. This book is not mentioned by Lowndes. Of the former edition no copy has come under notice. The burlesque versions of Æsop, made for an English princess when a child, are very curious, and not less odd are some of the models of letters. A good deal of the work is in dialogue.

The Bibl. Ang. Poet. copy. From Mr. Corser's collection. On the title are the initials of Thomas Park; and the following note in his handwriting is on the fly-leaf: "Of this sensible author I have not yet obtained any biographical information; but it is probable that he may have been a Hibernian, as a copy of verses signed H. Delaune, forsan Delauney, was prefixed to Billing's [Beling's] sixth book to the 'Arcadia,' printed at Dublin in 1624," &c.

The work is a metrical paraphrase of King James's "Basilikon Doron."

A—B 4 in eights, or 12 leaves.

The only copy known. Mr. D. Laing once had in his possession an impression dated 1692. The piece was reprinted in 1705 and 1708, and the latter text is included in "Early Metrical Tales," 1826.

This and seven other tracts formed Lot 1412 in the sale catalogue of Mr. George Daniel's library. The other pieces are dispersed through this catalogue under their respective headings.

DELI, ANDRES. Tesoro de la passion sacratissima de nuestro redēptor. [Colophon.] Fue impressa la presente obra en . . . Sevilla por Jacobo cromberger. 1517. Folio. Black letter. Woodcuts. BR. M.

Title, 1 leaf; folios ii.-lxxxii.; table, 3 leaves not numbered.

Antonio gives the title of this book, but says nothing of the place of printing or date. Panzer, vol. iv., p. 268, gives the title of the first edition, "(Andreae Deli Caesar-augustani) Tesoro de la passion de Christo, enderezado a los Señores Reyes Catholicos escrita en Romance a instantia de Pablo Hurus Aleman de Constantia emprentador famosissimo en la ciudad de Zaragoza: impresso por el mismo en la referida ciudad de Zaragoza, &c. 1494," which he appears to have taken from Caballero, "De prima typographiæ hispanicæ ætate specimen," and Hain has again copied the title from Panzer. Brunet makes an extraordinary confusion between this book and the "Coplas de Vita Christi," printed at Zaragossa in 1495, which he says Hain has attributed to Deli, though he certainly has not done so. This edition of Seville, 1517, appears to be altogether unknown and undescribed by any bibliographer. The author's name is not given on the title, but is appended to the prologue at the back of the title, addressed to Ferdinand and Isabella.

From Mr. Corser's library. First collected edition of Denham. The "Sophy" originally appeared in 1642, folio; "Cooper's Hill," in 1643, 4to.

The text of "Cooper's Hill" here printed differs much from that of the editions printed in 1643 and 1650. In 1655 an edition appeared, purporting to be derived from a more correct text. The poem must have been popular, for the 4to of 1655 is described as the sixth edition.

A, 7 leaves; B—Y 1 in eights, besides a frontispiece and three engravings by Barlow.

A curious medley of prose and verse. All the copies of this volume which have been examined contain three plates, including the frontispiece; the present has four, but that prefixed to the second and third books is identical. A long account of the work and its author is given in Mr. Corser's "Collectanea," part v., pp. 188-94. The quotation on the title is erroneously attributed to Seneca. It is, of course, from Catullus.

First edition. Dedicated by the publisher "To the worthy, and my much respected Friend, Mr. Iohn Harborne, of Tackley, in the Countie of Oxford, Esquire." It is there stated that the publication was posthumous, having been sent to Jackson to be printed after the death of the author. Prefixed is a short poem by Sir John Davies, "In the praise of this Praiseworthy Skill and Worke."

This work is sometimes attributed to J. Davers, but Sir Harris Nicolas, in his edition of Walton's "Angler," vol. ii., p. 408, gives good reasons for believing it to be the work of John Dennys. His opinion is confirmed by the fact that the book is entered at Stationers' Hall, under date of 23rd March, 1612-13, as follows: "Master Roger Jackson. Entred for his Copie vnder th' hands of Master Mason and Master Warden Hooper A booke called The secretes of Angling teaching . . . by John Dennys Esquier." See Arber's "Transcript," iii., 236 b.

This book was known only to Dr. Campbell by his having found it mentioned in different catalogues. Not having seen it, he has naturally described the two works printed in the volume as though they were separate publications. "Annales," Nos. 571 and 1475.

From the libraries of Sir F. Freeling and Mr. Corser. The volume is of extraordinary rarity in a complete state. It was probably printed at Paris. In the catalogue of the British Museum the year 1520 is assigned to it as an approximate date, but it appears to be somewhat later than that.

Ten leaves.

This piece appears to be undescribed by bibliographers, but in the index of Lives of Saints, in the fourth volume of Antonio, "Biblioth. Hispana," it is just mentioned, and attributed to Alphonsus Didacus, who is doubtless the same writer as Alphonsus Díaz de Osma. The only work assigned to him, however, is "La vida y algunos milagros de Santa Casilda," which, on the authority of a MS. history of Toledo, Antonio says was licensed in 1553. As Alphonsus Didacus de Osma was a Canon of Burgos at the time the tract was printed, there is the more likelihood that he was the author.

DICK, SIR WILLIAM. The lamentable Estate and distressed Case of the deceased S^r. William Dick in Scotland and his Numerous Family and Creditors for the Commonwealth. [No place, printer's name, or date. About 1650.] Folio. BL. M.

Seven leaves of letterpress and three plates. The engravings are by R. and W. Vaughan and each one has verses beneath by William Devaux. The piece itself is an exposition of the losses incurred by Sir W. Dick through the advances he had made to King Charles I. and the Scottish Convention of Estates. By this means, and by the fines levied on him by the Parliament, he became utterly ruined, and died in prison in London, Dec. 19, 1655. At one time he was esteemed the wealthiest man in Scotland, his property being estimated by himself at £50,000, now equal to £200,000 sterling.

From the library of Mr. Maidment, who notes on the fly-leaf: "Tho' called Dick, the author was David Dickson, well known as a Presbyterian clergyman of great reputation. He died in 1662. He wrote various works, and the Poem 'True Christian Love' was unquestionably printed in his lifetime . . ." In the British Museum is a copy of the original edition, printed at Edinburgh in 1655, 8vo, formerly Mr. Corser's. Neither of that nor of this edition of 1701 is any other known at present.

This is the original and authentic edition, which is reprinted in Walch's edition of Luther's "Gesammelte Schriften," vol. xv. It is of the greatest rarity, and is not noticed even by German bibliographers. The Latin text which appears in Wolfii "Lectiones," Brown's "Fasciculus Rerum," &c., seems not to have been taken from a printed copy, at least no reference is found to any such.

"With regard to the opposition to the temporal interference of Rome, the States [of the Empire] were essentially of the same opinion with Luther. As the Emperor was bound even by his Capitulation to restore and maintain the Concordat and the ecclesiastical liberties of the nation, which had been continually violated to an insufferable extent, the lesser committee was now employed in drawing up a complete statement of the grievances of the nation against the See of Rome. Their manner of proceeding was this : each prince delivered in a list of the grievances of which he had more particularly to complain, and every charge alleged by more than one was received and recorded. Already it was feared that the spiritual princes would draw back ; but the councillors of the temporal were determined in that case to carry the matter on to the end alone. A Statement of Grievances was produced which reminds us of the writings of Hutten and the 'Book to the German Nobles ;' so strong was the censure of the Papal See generally, and, above all, of Leo X. It is filled with the cunning and malignant devices, the roguery and cheating, which prevailed at the Court of Rome. The Curia was also directly accused, in practice, of simony. If Luther had done nothing more than attack the abuses of the Curia, he could never have been deserted by the States ; the opinion he had expressed on this subject was the general one, and was indeed their own."—Ranke's "History of the Reformation," by Mrs. Austin.

DIEZ DE LA CALLE, JUAN. Memorial informatorio al Rey nuestro Señor en su Real y Supremo Consejo de las Indias, Camara, y Junta de Guerra. En manos del Señor Iuan Baptista Saenz Nauarrete, Contiene lo que su Magestad provee en su Cõsejo, y Junta, y por las dos Secretarias de la Nueva España, y Pirú, Ecclesiastico, Secular, Salarios, Estipendios, y Presidios, su gente, y costa, y de que Cajas, y Hazienda Real se paga : valor de las Encomiendas de Indios, y otras cosas curiosas, y necessarias. Año de 1645. 4to. BL. M.

Title and preliminaries, 12 leaves ; second title, 1 leaf ; folios 2-32.

Though the "Memorial, y Noticias sacras" of 1646 is quoted by Antonio, Brunet, and Graesse, neither of these bibliographers seems to have known of the existence of this "Memorial informatorio."

— Memorial, y Noticias sacras, y reales del Imperio de las Indias occidentales al Rey D. Felipe IV. Comprehende lo Ecclesiastico, Secular, Politico, y Militar, que por su Secretaria de la Nueva España se prouee : Presidios, gente, y costas, valor de las Encomiendas de Indios, y otras curiosas, necessarias, y dignas de saberse. [Madrid. 1646.] 4to.

Half-title, title, and preliminaries, 14 leaves ; folios 1-183 ; errata, 1 leaf.

On the reverse of folio 180 (not 108, as quoted by Brunet) the author informs us that a small number of copies only of this book were printed : "Esta impression se ha hecho de pocos cuerpos, hasta acabar la obra, porque por aora solo se haze para su Magestad, su Consejo, y Ministros."

There is in the library a second copy of this book, which is exactly the same as that described above ; but it has two additional pieces at the end. The first, which consists of eight pages, is headed (without title-page), "Memorial breve de las provincias de las siete Ordenes de Religion que ay en los Distritos de las cinco Audiencias, cuyo despacho toca a la Secretaria de la Nueva-España. De la Orden de Santo Domingo, que entró en ella en el año de 1526." The second, which is also without title, consists of nine pages, and is headed, "Noticias importantes de la edad, y grados que han de tener los que fueren presentados por su Magestad a las Dignidades, y Prebendas de las Iglesias de las Indias Occidentales."

These two pieces are not recorded as occurring in any other copy, but were evidently printed at the same period and at the same press as the book with which they are bound up.

MS. of the fifteenth century, on paper. Of Italian execution. The first leaf is on vellum, and has a richly illuminated ornamental border, with heads of five philosophers very skilfully painted. At the foot is emblazoned a bishop's coat of arms, probably that of the prelate for whom the book was written.

DIRE Christianorum Illustrium in Lutherum Heresiarcham. Ex translatione Hymni, Qui Te Deum inscribitur. [Sine loco aut anno.] Sm. 8vo. A woodcut on the title and at the end. BR. M.

This piece consists of only two leaves. It is an adaptation of the Te Deum to the cursing of Luther. Thirty of the most celebrated Catholic controversialists of the time have a stanza assigned to each of them. The King of England leads off with "Te Lutherum damnamus: te hereticum confitemur." It was therefore probably printed before 1547.

Twelve leaves.

This account of the Rebellion of the Northern Lords does not appear to be mentioned by Lowndes or Brunet. At C ii is, "Copie d'une declaration faicte par le Comte de Nortumberland & autres Seigneurs d'Angleterre," and on C iii, "Les noms des principaux Seigneurs Chrestiens, & Gentilshommes Anglais, qui de present se tiennent en armes pour le faict que dessus."

The "epistle liminary" to this curious book, so often quoted in Brand's "Popular Antiquities," is subscribed "Christianus Presbyteromastix." The writer gives an interesting account of the manner in which the volume was prepared, of the extent to which Sir Thomas Urquhart, of Cromarty, was personally concerned in it, and of the difficulties which attended its passage through the press.

Herbert merely gives the title of this book on the authority of Ames, but had not seen it. In Lowndes it appears under "Councils," but apparently copied from Herbert or Ames, without collation or any such particulars as would indicate that it had been seen or examined. The contents of the volume are given on the back of the title, the whole page being occupied with them.

[DIXON, ROBERT.] Canidia, Or The Witches. A Rhapsody. In five Parts. By R. D. London, Printed by S. Roycroft for Robert Clavell at the Peacock in St. Pauls Church-yard, 1683. 4to.

Leaf with quotation from Ambrose, title-page, to the reader, and prologue, altogether 4 leaves; A 2—R 2 in fours; S—Gggg in fours, last leaf blank. In verse.

Each part has a separate title, except that the general title given above serves also for part I. From the Heber and Mitford collections.

As regards the writer, Mr. Corser ("Collectanea," part v., p. 209) remarks: "Although we have followed the usual current of opinion in assigning the authorship of this singular volume to Robert Dixon, D.D., Dean of Rochester, we confess that, judging from the general style, subject and language of its contents, we are not without considerable doubt of his being the author, because it is so utterly at variance with his acknowledged writings. Wood, in his 'Athen. Oxon.,' mentions several serious writings of his, but does not assign 'Canidia' to him. Nor is there any more on the title-page or other portions of the book to identify him than the simple initials R. D. Mr. Hunter, in his 'Chorus Vatum Anglicanorum,' says: 'It would seem as if R. D. was first interpreted to mean Robert Dixon in Hutton's Catalogue, No. 1553, which I do not know, and by a fly-leaf note of Farmer's in "Notes and Queries," vol. i., p. 164.' Hutton's books were sold in 1764.

DOBSON, GEORGE. Dobsons Drie Bobbes: Sonne and Heire to Skoggin. Full of mirth and delightful recreation. London Printed by Valentine Simmes 1607. 4to. Black letter. O. M.

A—O 3 in fours, title on A 2.

From the collections of Sir Charles Talbot and Mr. George Daniel. The only other copy known is among Capell's books at Cambridge. This is a narrative by some anonymous writer of the real or pretended adventures and pranks of George Dobson. It is written much in the style of Scoggin's and Peele's Jests, and is similarly divided into chapters, each of which is devoted to a separate anecdote. In the author's address to the reader, he says that his hero is "George Dobson, whose pleasant merriments are worthy to be registred among the famous Recordes of the feasting Worthies: yea, hee hath proceeded farther in degree than Garagantua, Howleglasse, Tiell, Skoggin, olde Hobson, or Code." The writer has made a curious mistake in speaking of Howleglasse and Tiell as different names.

Title and dedication, 2 leaves; B—H ii in fours. Five maps, four of them with English letterpress pasted on at the foot.

Of this book there were three editions in the same year. For the sake of distinction, we may call these editions Nos. 1, 2, and 3.

No. 1 is that described above, and appears to be the prior of the two editions printed by R. Field. It has a line of errata on the last page.

No. 2 is identical with No. 1, except that the words, "With Geographical Mappes," &c., are omitted from the title and there is no line of errata on the last leaf, the errata being corrected in the text.

No. 3, of which there is a copy in the King's library in the British Museum, is an entirely different edition. It has the same wording in the title as No. 1, but with the addition, after the words "winning of them," "diligently made by Baptista Boazio," and the imprint is "Printed at London by Roger Ward dwelling vpon Lambard Hill, neere olde Fish-streete." It is in a smaller type than Field's editions, and consequently occupies only thirty-seven pages instead of fifty-two, but the text is precisely the same, even to the line of errata on the last leaf; but there are only three words of errata instead of the four which appear in Field's first edition, the first word being printed correctly in the text. In both of Field's editions the following notice is printed at the back of the title: "The Reader must vnderstand, that this Discourse was dedicated, and intended to have bene imprinted somewhat before the comming of the Spanish Fleete vpon our coast of England: but by casualtie the same was forgotten and slacked for a time of some better leasure."

But in Ward's edition this notice is on the recto of the leaf following the title, and below it is given: "The Order and maner for the true placing of the Mappes in this Booke.

Place the Mappe of	{	S ^t Jago in fol. 10.
		S ^t Domingo in fol. 19.
		Cartagena in fol. 23.
		S ^t Augustine in fol. 31."

It is curious that all mention of the fifth and most important map is omitted, though that is the only one bearing the engraver's name, "Baptista B.," which is given in full on the title to this edition.

Mr. Grenville's copies are neither of them quite satisfactory. Having a very short and poor copy of No. 2, he took the title and following leaf from that to perfect his tall and clean copy of No. 1. So that though this contains the plates, no mention of them is found on the title. From the catalogue of the Grenville library it would appear that the copy there described contained only four out of the five maps, but it has the fifth, which bears the following inscription: "The Famous West Indian voyadge made by the English fleete of 23 shippes and Barkes, wherein were gotten the Townes of S^t Jago: S^t Domingo: Cartagena and S^t Augustines, the same being begon from Plimmouth in the moneth of September 1585, and ended at Portesmouth in Julie 1586, the whole course of the saide Viodge being plainlie described by the pricked line. Newlie come forth by Baptista B." The other four maps are printed from the same plates as those in the Latin edition of the book printed at Leyden, 1588, but this fifth map appears to have been engraved for the English edition only.

DRAKE, SIR F. A Trve Coppie of a Discourse written by a Gentleman, employed in the late Voyage of Spaine and Portingale: Set to his particular friend, and by him published for the better satisfaction of all such, as having been seduced by particular report, haue entred into conceipts tending to the discredit of the enterprise, and Actors of the same. At London Printed by Thomas Woodcock dwelling in Paules Churchyard, at the signe of the blacke Beare. 1589. 4to. Black letter.

This tract has been reprinted entire by Mr. Collier, and it will be found reviewed in his "Bibl. Cat.," i., 257-9.

Whether this or the English version was the earlier printed it is difficult to determine. Probably both appeared at the same time.

A—N in fours, the last leaf occupied only by the errata.

First edition. In the title is a small portrait of Drake, with his arms, apparently after Vaughan's three-quarter print, which is inserted in this copy. Prefixed are dedications to Charles I. and Queen Elizabeth, the latter headed: "The Dedicatory Epistle, intended to Q. Elizabeth. Written by S^r Francis Drake, deceased." In the Grenville Catalogue, i., 208, the impression of 1628 is said to be the earliest, and Lowndes, although he describes at full this edition of 1626, quotes the note from the Grenville Catalogue, which speaks of that of 1628 as the first.

Drant confesses that this is a paraphrase rather than a translation, and says that he began it more than two years before, completing it by piecemeal, or rather "inch meal." Among the epigrams occurs a copy of verses presented by Drant to Queen Elizabeth, when she was at Cambridge, in August, 1564.

The present is the only edition of the version of Jeremiah and of the Epigrams; but in 1567 Drant produced a complete version of the "Art of Poetry," the "Epistles," and the "Satires," of Horace, which he dedicated to the Earl of Ormond.

It is probable that G. Harvey's phrase, "Dranting of verses" ("Pierce's Supererogation," 1593, repr. Collier, p. 77), was intended as a contemptuous reference to Drant's muse.

DRAYTON, MICHAEL. The Tragickall Legend of Robert, Duke of Normandy, surnamed Short-thigh, eldest sonne to William Conqueror. With the Legend of Matilda the chast, daughter to the Lord Robert Fitzwater, poysoned by King Iohn. And the Legend of Piers Gaueston, the great Earle of Cornwall, and mighty fauorite of King Edward the second. By Michaell Drayton. The latter two by him newly corrected and augmented. At London, Printed by Ia. Roberts for N. L. and are to be solde at his shop at the West doore of Paules. 1596. Sm. 8vo. G. M.

A, 4 leaves; B—P 4 in eights.

Dedicated to Lucy, Countess of Bedford, in prose, and to the Lady Anne Harington, wife to Sir John Harington, in verse. From the address by the author to the reader we learn, that since the publication of "Matilda" and "Piers Gaveston" separately in quarto, a spurious and faulty impression had appeared of "Piers Gaveston," and that Drayton was induced to go to press with this edition of the two poems, annexing a third legend, to prevent his rights being again invaded, which he had heard was in contemplation.

The only other copies known are those in the British Museum (formerly Bright's) and at Britwell (formerly Heber's). See "Bibl. Heber.," part iv., No. 626.

DRAYTON, MICHAEL. Poemes Lyrick and pastorall. Odes, Eclogs, The man in the Moone. By Michaell Drayton Esquier. At London. Printed by R.B. for N.L. and I. Flasket. [1606?] Sm. 8vo. R.M.

"To the deservuig memory of my most esteemed Patron and friend, Sir Walter Aston, Knight of the honourable order of the Bath: As before other of my labours, so likewise I consecrate these my latest few Poemes. Michaell Drayton."—Dedication.

This is, in fact, an enlarged and altered edition of the volume issued in 1593 under the title of "Idæa, the Shepheard's Garland." The arrangement is changed, and the number of eclogues is ten, instead of nine. The twelve odes and the "Man in the Moone" are here printed for the first time. See Corser's "Collectanea," part vi., p. 273. At p. 276 et seqq. Mr. Corser furnishes at large some curious examples of the differences between the two impressions. In the "Man in the Moone" Drayton reproduced all that he seems to have thought worthy of preservation in his poem entitled "Endimion and Phœbe."

This is a reprint, not of the very complete and valuable edition of 1619, in folio, but of the octavo of 1630, in a more convenient size. It is the last of the old impressions.

The Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica copy, and afterwards in the collections of Heber, Utterson, and Mr. J. Dunn Gardner. There is no preliminary matter.

This collection, which has nothing to connect it specially with Windsor, seems to be a miscellany formed out of other books of the kind; but a portion of the contents is much earlier than the date of publication, as pieces by Decker, Jonson, and Shirley are included. No earlier edition is known.

A—I in fours, title on A 2.

From the Wolfreton collection. As the authorship of this drama has been sometimes questioned, it may be as well to point out, that in the Stationers' Registers, under date of November 13, 1629, it is entered expressly as the work of Thomas Drue. See Arber, iv., 188.

— Poems: By William Drvmmond, of Hawthorne-denne. The second Impression. Edinburgh, Printed by Andro Hart. 1616. 4to.

A—Q in fours, Q 4 blank.

The title is within a compartment, and is followed by a leaf containing verses "To the Author," subscribed "Parthenius" [Sir W. Alexander]. The present is a reissue with a new title of the volume described in "Bibl. Heber.," part viii., No. 737.

See Mr. Heber's note, in which he says, speaking of his copy dated 1616, but without the words "The second impression" on the title, "On a minute and careful comparison, it appears to me certain that the present ed. of Drummond's Poems (which is probably the first in a collected state) is typographically the very same with that of the same year 1616 which bears on the title-page 'The second impression.' Why this change in the title-page was made does not appear. Perhaps it took place when the Flowres of Sion and Cypress Grove were added in 1623, as all the copies known bearing on the title 'The second impression' contain I believe this addition."

DRUMMOND, WILLIAM. Forth Feasting. A Panegyricke to the Kings Most Excellent Majestie. Flumina senscrunt ipsa. Eden-boergh, Printed by Andro Hart, 1617. 4to.

A—B in fours. In verse.

"The Cypressse Grove" is in prose, and is followed by a few short poems, viz.: "On the Report of the Death of the Author," by Sir William Alexander; "To S. W. A." [in reply], by Drummond; "To the Memorie of the most excellent Ladie, Iane Countesse of Perth;" "To the obsequies of the blessed Prince, Iames, King of Great Britaine," both by Drummond.

There are two issues dated 1630, of which this was probably the first.

It contains mention of, and curious allusions to, Scoggin, Tarlton, Peele, Nash, Greene, Marlow, Elderton, Churchyard, &c., and it was obviously written by a person well acquainted with the literature of the reigns of Elizabeth and James I."—*Bibl. Gent. London, Printed for W. Hawes . . . and W. Davis. [About 1690.] Sm. 8vo.

A, 4 leaves; B—M in eights.

In the preface the editor observes: "If some Terms and Phrases of better Quality and Fashion, keep so ill Company, as Tag-Rag and Long-Tail, you are to remember, that it is no less then customary for Great Persons abroad to hide themselves often in disguises among the Gypsies; and even the late L. of Rochester among us, when time was, among other Frolicks, was not ashamed to keep the Gypsies Company."

This purports to be an attack on Robert Blake for his publication called "An Embassy from the Kings of the East to his Highness the Lord Protector," which is here said to have been penned "by one Blake a Draper."

EARLE, JOHN. Micro-cosmographie. Or, A Peece of the World Discovered; In Essayes and Characters. Newly Composed for the Northerne parts of this Kingdome. At London. Printed by W. S. for Ed: Blount. 1628. Sm. 8vo.

A, 6 leaves; B—I in twelves; K, 5 leaves.

First edition. The only other copies at present known are those in the British Museum (formerly Bliss's) and the Bodleian library. Prefixed is an address "To the Reader Gentile or Gentle," by Edward Blount. The last character is numbered 53. Two other impressions were made the same year.

There has hitherto been a doubt whether this book was really written by Earle, but the following entry in the Stationers' Registers (Arber, iv., 165) sets the question at rest: "Master Blounte, Entred for his Copie vnder the handes of Master Doctor Worall and both the wardens A booke Called Earles Characters;" and on the 13th September, 1628, Blount assigned the property to Robert Allot. (Ibid. iv., 168.)

A, 6 leaves ; B—N in twelves.

In the original vellum cover. "The Character of a Pot Companion Poet," 4to, 1642, is usually assigned to Earle, but perhaps on no better ground than that the first portion is a reprint of one of the characters in his book.

Only three editions of this popular ballad appear to have survived in the form of a book ; each of these again, is, so far as we know, represented by a single copy. The present is believed to be that which is described in the Heber catalogue, and is in very fine state. The two other known impressions, 1596 and 1613, are at Oxford in public libraries, the former being imperfect.

"The King and the Tanner of Tamworth" is a version of an earlier piece, entitled "The King and the Barker," which is inserted in the first volume of Hazlitt's "Popular Poetry."

EFFIGIES Regum Anglorum à Wilhelmo Conquestore. Are to be sould by Robt. Peake att his shopp neere Holborne Conduitt. [About 1620.] Oblong 8vo. R. M.

Thirteen leaves, containing on each page two engravings, usually attributed to Faithorne.

Printed on one side of the paper only. The first leaf contains on the left-hand side the title, as given above, and on the right hand the portrait of William the Conqueror. The series ends with James I. and Anne of Denmark. It is evidently the first edition, the impressions of the plates being very fine. Many of the plates were subsequently used in Lambert Wood's "Florus Anglicus," but of some copies were substituted. The portraits of Charles I. and Henrietta Maria were afterwards added to the series, but the engraving of them is very inferior. Though usually attributed to Faithorne, it is impossible they can be his work. This first edition was clearly published before the accession of Charles I., and Faithorne is said, by Nagler, to have been born only in 1620, and was an apprentice to Peake when the Civil War broke out in 1642. Peake was already a publisher in 1611, when his name appears to Serlio's "Booke of Architecture."

EGAN, ANTHONY. The Franciscan Convert : Or a Recantation-Sermon of Anthony Egan, (late Confessor General of the Kingdom of Ireland, and Guardian of the Friory of Monasteriosis, in the Province of Lemster ; [Leinster ?] Now a Minister of the Gospel according to the Ordination of the Church of England.) Preached in London on April 6, 1673. To which is annexed, A Narrative of the strange Behaviour and Speeches of the Papists in Ireland since His Majesties Declaration of Indulgence. And the Commendatory Letter in Latine, given to the Author by his Superiour before his Conversion. London, Printed for Robert Clavel in Little Britain, 1673. 4to.

A Broadside. Black letter.

These verses occur beneath a large and beautifully engraved woodcut portrait of Queen Elizabeth, wearing her crown and holding the Globe and Sceptre. This Broadside, which is one of the series of seventy formerly in the collection of Mr. George Daniel, is believed to be unique. It has no indication of the artist, engraver, or printer. It probably appeared soon after the Queen's accession. A reduced copy of the woodcut is given in the Philobiblon edition of "Ancient Ballads," &c., 1867.

From some MS. memoranda in this book and in the copy of the "Regimen Sanitatis Salerni," translated by T. Paynel, 1541, which seems formerly to have been bound up with it, it is probable that they once belonged to the Eliot family, if not to Sir Thomas Eliot himself.

This little treatise the author says he has gathered out of Holy Scripture. It is dedicated to Sir Edward North. At the back of the title is a coat of arms, which is repeated on the reverse of the colophon leaf. E iv bears on the recto Berthelet's large mark representing the death of Lucretia, the verso being blank. The book was unknown to Herbert and Dibdin, but copies are in the British Museum and at Lambeth (Maitland's catalogue, p. 212).

EMANUEL, KING OF PORTUGAL. Obedientia Potentissimi Emanuelis Lusitaniæ Regis &c. per clarissimum Iuris. V. consultum Dieghum Pacettū Oratorem ad Iuliū. II. Pont. Max. Anno Dñi. M. D. V. Pridie No. Junii. [S. l. et a.] 4to.

Four leaves.

In this piece Diegho Pacecchi announces to the Pope, on behalf of the King of Portugal, the success of the Portuguese arms in Africa, and the discoveries made in that country and in India. It was known to Brunet only through the Grenville catalogue. From the similarity of title it might easily be mistaken for the following article, from which, however, it is entirely distinct. It is printed in Roman letter, and has neither title-page, pagination, catchwords, or signature. It is believed to have been printed at Rome by Eucharius Silber, about 1505.

— Emanuelis Lusitan: Algarbior: Africae Aethiopiae Arabiae Persiae Indiae Reg. Invictiss: Obedientia. [S. l. et a.] 4to.

Eight leaves.

In this piece the King of Portugal renews to the Pope, in the person of Leo X., his submission and offer of subjection of the recent discoveries of the Portuguese in Africa and India.

The title, as given above, is printed entirely in capitals, and occupies five lines, the last containing only the word "Obedientia." Beneath is a cut of the arms of Portugal. The whole enclosed in an ornamental woodcut border, white on a black ground. The back of the title is blank. At the top of the page a ii: "Dieghi Pacecchi Jur. Consult. In præstanda Obedientia pro Emanuele Lusitanor: Rege Inuictiss: Leoni. X. Pont. Opt. Max. dicta Oratio." The oration ends on B ii, and then follow two leaves of Latin verses.

It is not in the Grenville collection, nor is it mentioned by Brunet. It was probably printed about 1514, the year in which the King of Portugal sent a present of eastern animals to Leo X.

EMANUEL, KING OF PORTUGAL. Epistola potentissimi ac inuictissimi Emanuelis regis Portugalie et Algarbiorū. &c. de victoriis habitis in India & Malacha. ad S. in christo patrē dñm nostrū dñm Leonē decimū. pont. maximū M. D. XIII. [Sine loco et anno.] 4to.

Four leaves.

It is evident from the manner in which this edition is misdescribed by Brunet (even to giving "Epitome" for "Epistola") that he had never seen it.

The title occupies ten lines in large Gothic characters, beneath which are the arms of Portugal. The reverse of the title is blank. The text begins on the recto of the second leaf, and ends on the recto of the fourth with "Dat in urbe nostra Olisipone. VIII. idus Junias. Anno dñi M. D. XIII." A full page contains thirty-two lines. There can be no doubt from the type that it was printed at Rome.

Four leaves.

This appears to be certainly the first edition of this letter. It is not in the Grenville catalogue, but an edition in 12mo is described ("Biblioth. Grenv.," iii., p. 180), which Mr. Grenville believed to be the first.

The present edition has the title in black letter, except the word "Epistola," which is in Roman capitals. Beneath this title is a woodcut of the arms of Portugal. The reverse of the title is blank. The text is in Roman type, and ends on the recto of the fourth leaf with the subscription, "Dat in Vrbe nostra Vlyxboñ. Pridie Kalēñ. Octobris. Anno domini. M. D. XIII."

EMBLEMS. A folio volume containing 25 Emblematical Drawings in colours heightened with gold and silver, on vellum.

At the top of each page is a drawing, beneath which are Latin verses in honour of Cardinal Caietan. At the foot of the page is the name either of the painter of the emblem or the composer of the verses, most probably the latter, as, with the exception of two, the paintings are too much alike in style and execution to have been the work of different persons. The names at the foot are Rodolphus d'Auteuil, Parisiensis; Carolus Menart, Andegavensis; Ludovicus Gleyse, Arelatensis; Philippus le Lievre, Parisiensis; Petrus D'Aubray, Parisiensis; Gulielmus Parcensis, Normanus; Renatus de la Roche, Poza y Picto; Gulielmus de la Nove Picto; Franciscus Varaderius Arelatensis; Joannes Olivarius Burdigalensis; Gulielmus le Gras Parisiensis; Albertus de Voyo Augustodunensis; Franciscus Leodegarius: Parisiensis. Jacobus Avrillot Parisiensis; Claudius le Rouge Armoricus; Josephus Vaccon Massiliensis; Joannes Dalben Pictaviensis; Rodolphus Foi Bellovacensis; Alexander la March Parisiensis; Renatus de la Trimolliere Nannetensis [this name is beneath two drawings which are totally different in style from all the others]; Claudius Bourdereul Parisinus; Ludovicus Sanson Parisinus; Franciscus Belot Burgundus; Franciscus Bertenois Dolanus.

The volume is in the original gilt vellum binding, with the initials of Cardinal Caietan (H. C.) interlaced on the sides, and the same initials stamped alternately down the back.

Cardinal Caietan was sent to Paris by Sixtus V. in 1589, after the assassination of Henry III., that he might assist in the election of a Catholic king. This volume must, therefore, have been executed about that time.

Mr. Caldecott refers, for an explanation of the term "make their beards," to Horman's "Vulgaria," 4to, 1530.

The woodcuts to the calendar have the mark of Geoffroy Tory, a double cross. This is probably the copy mentioned by Lowndes as sold at Sotheby's in 1848. It would appear from his list as though there were two editions printed in the same year, one by Kerver himself and another by his widow; but this is clearly a mistake, as Kerver died November 24th, 1522. The volume measures only 4 $\frac{1}{8}$ by 2 $\frac{3}{8}$.

This volume has a special interest as the earliest book on America printed in the Spanish language. On the reverse of h iiii we find the following story, which is sufficiently curious to be worth extracting:—

"Yo requeri de parte del rey de castilla a dos Caciques destos del Cenu que fuesen del rey de castilla & q̄ les hazia saber como auia vn solo dios q̄ era trino ⁊ vno ⁊ gouernaua al cielo ⁊ ala tierra ⁊ q̄ este auia venido al mūdo ⁊ auia dexado en su lugar a sant pedro: ⁊ q̄ sant Pedro auia dexado por su suscessor en la tierra al sancto padre q̄ era señor de todo el mūdo vniuerso en lugar de Dios: ⁊ q̄ este sancto padre como señor del vniuerso auia fecho merced de toda aq̄lla tierra de las indias ⁊ del Cenu al Rey de castilla ⁊ q̄ por virtud de aq̄lla merced q̄ el papa le auia fecho al rey les requeria q̄ ellos le dexassen aq̄lla tierra pues le pertenescia ⁊ que si quisiessen biuir enella como se estauā que le diessen la obediēcia como a su señor ⁊ le diessen en señal de obediēcia alguna cosa cada vn año ⁊ que esto fuesse lo q̄ ellos quisiessen señalar ⁊ q̄ si esto haziā que el rey les haria mercedes ⁊ les daria ayuda contra sus enemigos ⁊ que pornia entre ellos frayles o clerigos q̄ les dixessen las cosas dela fe de xp̄o. ⁊ q̄ si algunos se quisiessen ser xp̄ianos q̄ les haria mercedes ⁊ q̄ los q̄ no quisiessen ser xp̄ianos q̄ no les apremiariā a q̄ lo fues-

The Roxburghe and Daniel copy. Only two others are known : Corser's, now in the British Museum, and that which belonged to Heber.

See Collier's "Bibl. Cat.," i., 71-3 ; and Corser's "Collectanea," part ii., 304-10. This edition contains many additional poems, but omits all the introductory matter found in that of 1600, and substitutes a table and a new poetical dedication (by the publisher) to Lady Elizabeth Carie, authoress of "Marian." This edition is reprinted in the "British Bibliographer."

ENGLISH, ESTHER. Le Livre de l'Ecclesiaste [et le Cantique du Roy Salomon], de la main d'Esther Anglois Française. A Lislebourg en Ecosse, ce xxi d'Avril 1601. 4to. In the original red morocco binding, richly tooled on the sides.

This is probably the most beautiful and valuable specimen in existence of the work of this learned and accomplished lady. It is specially mentioned in the "Biographie Universelle" in the following terms : "M. Walckenaer possède l'ouvrage de cette célèbre calligraphe, le plus curieux, soit pour la beauté et la variété des écritures, soit pour le portrait de l'auteur, dessiné à la plume par elle-même. Ce précieux manuscrit contient, 1°. le Livre de l'Ecclesiaste, de la main d'Esther Anglois, française, à Lislebourg en Ecosse, ce xxi avril 1601. 2°. le Cantique des Cantiques, traduit également en français, le tout accompagné de plusieurs pièces de vers, françaises et latines, d'André Melvinus et autres versificateurs du temps, 'in Esteram Anglam rarissimam foeminam.' On y trouve aussi la devise favorite de l'auteur, en ces termes :

De l'Eternel
Le bien,
De moy le mal
Ou rien.

Pour la délicatesse de l'écriture, ce petit chef-d'œuvre peut soutenir la comparaison avec les ouvrages de Jarry et des autres calligraphes du siècle de Louis XIV."

The volume appears to have been executed for the Princess de Rohan, and a long dedicatory epistle addressed to her is prefixed. This by a singular error is dated "De Lislebourg en Ecosse ce xxiii d'avril, 1501," instead of 1601.

ENGLISH, PETER. The Survey of Policy : or, A Free Vindication of the Commonwealth of England, against Salmasius, and other Royallists . . . By Peter English, a friend to Freedom. Leith, Printed in the year, 1653. 4to.

A, 4 leaves ; a, 4 leaves ; B—B b in fours. The last four leaves are an appendix, following the errata. Dedicated to Cromwell and (in a second inscription) to Major-General Lambert and Colonel R. Lilburne.

Dr. Cotton says : "Printing appears to have been carried on at Leith, by Evan Tyler, a printer of Edinburgh, in the year 1652 ; a pamphlet by him of that date being in the Bodleian Library. It is also said that another, named Christopher Higgins, was conveyed hither by Oliver Cromwell in the same year." From the subject of the above volume it appears most probable that it is a specimen of the press of Higgins, though his name does not appear. The book is mentioned by Watt, but appears to be undescribed by other bibliographers.

This is usually described as the second edition of the first part of these famous letters, that in Gothic letter being supposed to have preceded it. Both have the same colophon, which is evidently fictitious.

EPISTOLAS y Euangelios que por todo el año se leyen en la Yglesia catholica, dela correçion de F. Ambrosio Montesino, con sus historias y retratos muy artificiosamente dibuxados. En Enberes por Iuan Esteelsio. 1544. Sm. 8vo. Woodcuts.

This book was first printed at Toledo in 1508, but there is no indication in any bibliographical work as to where a copy of it is to be found. The editor was Ambrosio Montesino, who published also a Cancionero at Toledo in 1508, in which the subjects of the verses are entirely drawn from the Sacred Scriptures.

Title and "Tabula," 4 leaves. Folios 5-88.

On the reverse of the fourth preliminary leaf is a full-page woodcut, with the monogram of Marc Antonio Raimondi. It is the only known specimen of engraving on wood by this master, and is undescribed by Bartsch, Nagler, or other authorities. This woodcut represents the unbelief of St. Thomas. The right hand of the Saviour is raised to display the wound of the nail, while with the left he guides the hand of St. Thomas to the spear-wound in his side. In the background is represented a castle similar to those so often seen in Dürer's engravings, with mountains in the distance.

Twenty leaves.

This piece is the work of a French Protestant, and undoubtedly of very great rarity. It is undescribed by Brunet.

EPITOME Chronicorum ac magis insignium Historiarum Mundi velut Index: ab Orbe condito ad hæc usque tempora. Ex probatissimis quibusque auctoribus. Frankfurti. Christianus Aegenolphus Hadamarius excudebat. Mense Augusto [1533]. Sm. 8vo. Woodcuts.

Folios 1-70, including title.

Under the year 1492 we find "Insulæ quædam in Oceano antehac ignotæ, hoc tempore inuentæ." Among the medallion portraits are those of Franz von Sickingen, Erasmus, and Luther.

EPITOMES des Roys de France en Latin et en François avec leur vrayes Figures. Lugduni. Bathasar Arnoullet. 1546. 4to. O. M.

This is, according to Brunet, the earliest book printed in France with engravings on copper. These comprise an engraved title and fifty-eight portraits of the kings of France. The book is usually found with a printed Latin title, "Epitome gestorum LVIII Regum Franciæ," and copies with the engraved title seem to be the exception rather than the rule.

This copy is from the famous Grolier collection, and is an extremely fine specimen of that celebrated library. It is bound in dark olive morocco, the sides tooled to a most tastefully designed pattern, in the outer compartments of which is impressed the Grolier motto, "Por . . tio mea . . Domine . . sit . . in . . terra . . viventi . . vm." In the centre of the obverse, "Epit. Regum . . Franciæ," and in the centre of the reverse, "Io. Grolierii et Amicorum."

On A iv is the autograph signature "Io. Grolierii."

Title and "To the Reader," 4 leaves; A (repeated)—T in fours, the last leaf occupied by the colophon.

From the libraries of Mr. Heber and Mr. Corser. There is an obvious discrepancy between the date on the title-page and that at the end, which seems to be common to all known copies. It is no doubt an accidental transposition of the letters XL in the colophon.

— Moriæ Encomium: Or, A Panegyrick upon Folly. Written in Latin by Desiderius Erasmvs. Done into English, and Illustrated with above Fifty Curious Cuts, Design'd and Drawn by Hans Holbeine. Sixteen leaves, the last bearing the printer's device.

A lytell booke of good maners for chyl dren, now lately compyled and put forth by Erasmus Roterodam in latyne tonge, with interpretacion of the same in to the vulgare englysshe tonge, by Robert Whytyngton laureate poete. [Colophon.] *Thus endeth this lytell booke of good maners: Imprinted at London in the Flete strete, at the sygne of the Sonne, by wynkyn de worde. A, 7 leaves; B, C, 8 leaves each; D, 4 leaves, the last being blank on the recto and bearing the printer's mark on the verso.

An extremely curious little volume, as the following extracts will show:—

"Some make curtesye with bothe knees bowed (as yrissshmen) and on contrary some do it with upright body, some with body stoupyng. Some there be that iudge that the curtesye of women. Some likewyse with upright body make curtesy, first bowe the right kne, after the lyft, whiche amonge englyssmen is laudable in youth. The frenchmen do bowe the ryght kne with a lytel plesant return of the body."

"To begyn your repaste with drinke is the property of blowbowles that drinke not for thyrste, but of use. . . . To loke a syde whan thou drinkest is a rude maner & lyke as storkes, to wrie his neck backward. To drinke al that nothinge remayne in the cup is the propertie of a chorle."

To Herbert it was known only by a mention of it in Knight's "Life of Dean Colet," but Lowndes quotes the sale of a copy in Bright's sale, though he had evidently not seen it himself, as he merely gives the title in an abridged form. He also mentions an edition ten years earlier, but this is probably an error, as no such edition appears to be recorded. From Mr. Inglis's library.

— A playne and godly expositiō or declaratiō of the cōmune Crede (which in the Latin tonge is called Symbolum Aposto-

Black letter. R. M.*

A—K in eights. This edition seems to be undescribed. On the back of the title occurs the "prolounge of the author," that is, Taverner, in which he describes his project and motive for undertaking the work in very quaint terms.

ERASTUS. The History of Prince Erastus Son to the Emperour Dioclesian And those famous Philosophers called the Seven Wise Masters of Rome. [Colophon.] Getruckt zu straszburg.

Anno dñi ̄c. M.cccc.lxxvii. 4to. R. M.

Forty leaves. Thirty-two lines to a full page.

This 4to edition without woodcuts appears to be entirely undescribed by bibliographers. Whether it preceded the edition in folio also printed at Strasburg in the same year it is difficult to say. According to Graesse, the folio edition consists of twenty-five leaves, and has eight woodcuts. The same authority also mentions that another poem on the same subject was printed in 1477, but that consists of ten leaves only.

Table, 4 leaves, the recto of the first leaf quite blank; a—t in eights; v, 6 leaves.

This volume appears to have been quite unknown to Panzer. Hain just gives the title (No. 6667), and Dr. Graesse gives the title so incorrectly (see "Trésor de Livres rares et précieux," vol. i., p. 235) that he had evidently taken it from some carelessly-printed catalogue, without having the opportunity of comparing it with the original. The woodcuts, which are twelve in number, the full size of the page, display much more artistic skill than is usually found in books of this early date.

Twenty leaves.

This piece is described by Panzer in the "Zusätze" to the "Annalen der ältern deutschen Litteratur," p. 92. This appears to be the same copy from which Panzer took his description, as it bears on the fly-leaf, "Ex bibl. Panzeriana." There is no copy in the British Museum, and it appears to be a piece of extreme rarity. The printer, Panzer says, was Hans Spörer.

A contemporary account of the sack of Rome under Charles V. It is evidently written by one of the Reformation party.

Dedicated, in French, to Lady Elizabeth Berkeley, daughter of Lord Hunsdon and wife of Sir Thomas Berkeley, Knight of the Bath, son of Lord Berkeley. This inscription, which is in prose, is followed by "L'auteur A Ladicté Dame," in verse, and by complimentary verses in French by M. de Mont Chrestien, and in English by S[amuel D]aniel, William Harbert, and Nicholas Breton.

ERRORES atrocissimorum Ruthenorum [Sine ullâ notâ]. 4to.

Hain, 6677. This piece consists of four leaves. The above title is over a large woodcut. The first error enumerated is "Negant Rutheni Sanctum Petrum verum papam et verum Romane Sedis antistitem." At the back of the title we read "[E]x tractatu dñi Joannis Sacrami sacre Theologie Magistri: et Cracouiẽ ecclesie quondam Canonici: quẽ intitulauit Elucidarium erroꝝ ritus Ruthenici &c." It does not appear, however, that this book was ever printed.

ESCHENBACH, WOLFRAM VON. [Partzifal.] [On folio 1] [I]st zweiffel hertzen nachgebur Das muss der selen werden fur. [On folio 259] M.CCCC.LXXVII. Folio.

These two books are printed with the same types, but the "Partzifal" is of much rarer occurrence than the "Tyturell." According to Hain (Nos. 6683 and 6684) they were printed at Augsburg, by Gunther Zainer, but Brunet says that they are printed "avec les mêmes caractères que le 'Speculum historiale,' de Vincent de Beauvais sorti des presses de Mentelin, à Strasbourg, en 1473."

Both poems belong to the series of "Romances of the Round Table." They were written at the end of the twelfth or the beginning of the thirteenth century.

M.

Vol. 1, title and preliminaries, 34 leaves; folios 1-298. Vol. 2, title and folios, 299-665.

Brunet had never seen more than the first volume of this rare edition. He had probably been misled into supposing that the first volume contained both parts by the inscription at the end of vol. i.: "Fin de la segunda parte." In the second volume the folios are continued from 299 to 665.

It might be thought that the copy mentioned by Brunet as sold in the Heber sale comprised the two volumes, but such is not the case, as that copy is now in the British Museum, and, like the copy described by Brunet, ends on folio 298.

Brunet also says, "imprimé vers 1560," but a contemporary inscription on the fly-leaves of both volumes of this copy enables us to fix the date at least ten years earlier. The inscription runs thus: "Johannes Baro a Creig possessor huius libelli emptus Barsalone Anno 1551. 20 die Septembris."

The two volumes contain the same matter as the folio editions of the first part—that is, the 400 preguntas and 500 proverbios.

Señor Salvá, who possessed only the first volume of this edition, places it between the editions of 1545 and 1550. He says: "He colocado aquí esta edición porque, segun se ve por el fróntis, no contiene las Cient glosas añadidas despues á la de 1550, lo cual prueba haberse hecho ántes de su publicacion. El tomito que yo tengo, aunque bastante abultado, solo comprende doscientas diez y ocho preguntas; me inclino, pues, á creer debe existir otro comprensivo del resto hasta las cuatrocientas. No encuentro, sin embargo, mencion de él en ninguna parte, pues Brunet solo habla de este, y segun parece el de Heber era igual aunque dividido en dos volúmenes: ignoro si el descrito en el Catálogo de la venta de Conde, núm. 235, anunciado en dos tomos, tendria efectivamente el segundo y estaria completa la Primera parte de la obra de Escobar."

A—F iii in fours.

This treatise was addressed "To Master Anthony Bacon," and was published by Francis Bacon. In the library, in a volume of tracts, is an early MS. copy of it, and several others are in different collections; a circumstance not very surprising, when it is recollected that five years elapsed between the composition and publication of the "Apology," the writer having in the meantime perished on the scaffold. At the conclusion is this paragraph: "Remember, how Bernardine Mendoza spent his time, while he was in England."

ESSEX, ROBERT DEVEREUX, SECOND EARL OF. At the back of the title in this copy is a large woodcut, which, according to Brunet, is not always found. One of the woodcuts represents William Tell shooting the apple from his son's head.

Panzer says of the book, "Bey allen den unnützen, falschen und abgeschmackten Erzählungen, welche diese Chronik enthält, und von denen Blaufus in den vermischten Beyträgen B. I. With dedication to the Marchionesses of Worcester and Dorset, which is succeeded by a second, "To the most accomplished in Vertue and Beauty, Martha and Mary Bennet."

John Heydon, the astrologer, published some books under the pseudonym of Eugenius Theodidactus, but as the author of this work refers to Thomas Peck's "unfair treatment of my friend John Heydon," it can hardly have been written by him. In the copy in the British Museum, however, "Jo: Heydon" is inserted in a contemporary hand as the author.

EULENSPIEGEL. Von Vlenspiegel eins bauren sun des lands Braunschweick, wie er sein leben volbracht hat, gar mit seltzamen sachen. [Colophon.] Gedruckt zu Erffurdt durch Melcher Sachssen ynn der Archen Noe. 1532. 4to. Woodcuts. R.

A—X in fours, last leaf blank.

On the title-page is a large woodcut representing Eulenspiegel on horseback, with a mirror in one hand and an owl perched on the other. On the recto of X 3 is his epitaph:—

"Diesen stein sol niemans erhaben.
Vlenspiegel lehent hie begraben."

Below this is a woodcut of a mirror surmounted by an owl.

Of the first edition, printed at Strasburg, 1519, Dr. Graesse says that one copy only is known, and of the second, believed to have been printed at Basle, between 1520 and 1530, only two copies are known. It is believed that the third edition, described above, is equally rare. Of a fourth edition, printed about 1533, one copy only is known, and that is imperfect. The second edition, according to Dr. Graesse, contained only 78 stories; in the third there are 102.

The first piece in the volume contains title and preliminaries, 12 leaves, and pp. 1-66. The second, title, &c., 4 leaves; pp. 1-45 and pp. 1-38, preceded by a separate title to "Gallus Castratus." The third, title, &c., 4 leaves, the first blank; pp. 1-100. The fourth, pp. 1-21, preceded by a title.

The first two pieces are attributed to John Evelyn, and though written by way of a satire, are most curious as a picture of manners in the seventeenth century. The character of Scotland is attributed to James Howell. It is a most violent abuse of the people and country: "As for Fruit, for their Grandsire Adams sake, they never planted any; and for other trees, had Christ been betrayed in this countrey (as doubtlesse he should, had he come as a stranger) Judas had sooner found the Grace of Repentance, then a tree to hang himselfe on."

Title and preliminaries, 8 leaves; B—E i in fours. Original edition, with the autograph of Philip Thicknesse, 1760.

Evelyn speaks in the strongest terms of the pernicious effects of coal-smoke upon the vegetation in the spring-time, and on the clothes drying on the hedges, and the whole tract is extremely curious as compared with the present state of things in the metropolis.

EVELYN, JOHN. Publick Employment and an Active life with all its Appanages, such as Fame, Command, Riches, Conversation, &c. prefer'd to Solitude. By J. E. Esq. London, Printed by J. M. for H. Herringman . . . 1667. Sm. 8vo.

A—I 4 in eights, including a leaf of imprimatur.

The above collation does not include a duplicate title (varying from that given) which is in this copy, with the words "such as fame" down to "&c." scored through with a pen, apparently by the author himself, who has also, in the fifth line of sig. A 4 recto, altered "discharged" into "acquitted yourself in."

The title, which Evelyn seems to have desired to substitute for the original one in the event of a re-impression, runs: "Publick Employment and an active Life prefer'd to Solitude and all its Appanages. In Reply to a late ingenious Essay of a Contrary Title." The essay here referred to was Sir George Mackenzie's, printed in 1665.

By J. Evelyn Esq; S.R.S. . . . London, Printed by T. R. for Benj. Tooke, . . . 1674. Sm. 8vo.

Title and dedication to the King, 3 leaves; B—K 4 in eights, K 4 with advertisements only.

The following extract is from Evelyn's "Diary":—"19th August [1674]. His Majesty told me how exceedingly the Dutch were displeased at my treatise of the 'History of Commerce;' that the Holland Ambassador had complained to him of what I had touched of the Flags and Fishery, &c. and desired the book might be called in; whilst, on the other side, he assured me he was exceedingly pleased with what I had done, and gave me many thanks. However, it being just upon conclusion of the Treaty of Breda (indeed it was designed to have been published some months before, and when we were at defiance), his Majesty told me he must recall it formally; but gave order that what copies should be publicly seized to pacify the Ambassador, should immediately be restored to the printer, and that neither he nor the vendor should be molested. The truth is, that which touched the Hollander was much less than what the King himself furnished me with, and obliged me to publish, having caused it to be read to him before it went to the press; but the error was it should have been published before the peace was proclaimed. The noise of this book's suppression made it presently be bought up, and turned much to the stationer's advantage. It was no other than the Preface prepared to be prefixed to my History of the whole War; which I now pursued no further."

Although we see that the suppression of the book was a mere form, it is seldom to be found. Mr. Singer's copy had belonged to Evelyn.

On the verso of the same leaf is the printer's large device. This work is bound up with the "Expositio Hymnorum."

Lowndes mentions that a copy of this edition, with the "Expositio Hymnorum," was sold at the sale of Wilks's library about 1845, but gives no description of it. Herbert just mentions the "Expositio sequentiarum," but had evidently not seen it. He adds, "No doubt he printed the 'Expositio hymnorum' also."

236 leaves, the last blank, without signatures, catchwords, or folios.

This edition appears to be undescribed by bibliographers. It is possibly the edition indicated by Panzer, v. ii., p. 239, n. 373. The first leaf is blank on the recto, and on the verso are eight lines of Latin verse, beginning—

"Si te materne remoratur inertia lingue.

Quo minus ad ppl'm fundere verba queas."

The vocabulary begins on the next page, but it is preceded by a short preface at the top of the page, speaking of the necessity which had existed for such a work. It goes on to say, "Demum auctoritas inducat clarissimi doctissimiq; sacraꝝ literaꝝ pffessoris : magistri Jodoci eychman de calwe : a quo dum p plurimos iam annos heydelberge predicando quoslibet accuratissime docuit : huius noui plenam sumpsit originē series opusculi." This first edition is one of the earliest printed books on the practice of the Inquisition, but the author lived in the fourteenth century, having been born at Gerona in 1320. "Ce livre est partagé en trois parties; la première et la deuxième sont consacrées à établir les pouvoirs des inquisiteurs contre les hérétiques et les fauteurs d'hérésie, et la dernière explique la manière de procéder contre eux. Le Directoire soumet les rois eux-mêmes à son terrible tribunal. On voit, par les maximes extraordinaires répandues dans cet ouvrage, dans quel esprit l'auteur l'a composé, et l'on s'étonne qu'un homme doué d'un véritable talent peu commun alors, ait pu se laisser entraîner par un zèle mal entendu. Ce fut le trop fameux Torquemada qui, le premier, mit en pratique les horribles principes d'Eymeric, lors de l'établissement de l'inquisition en Espagne en 1480."—Biographie Universelle.

Printed in a large Gothic type, without pagination or catchwords. At the back of the title is a large woodcut of the Saviour, with the legend "Saluator mundi saluamus," and at the four corners of the woodcut are the emblems of the Evangelists. The colophon is at the end of the text, which concludes on the last sheet but one. The last sheet contains the index. Brunet does not quote the sale of any copy, even on paper, and on vellum it appears to be hitherto quite undescribed.

The first edition of this book appears from Herbert's "Ames," p. 891, to have been printed in 1579 by John Alde, father to the printer of the edition of 1585. No copy of the 1579 edition is now known to exist. Douce's copy is catalogued with that date; but as the title-page is deficient there is no certainty about it. An exhaustive description of the book is given by Mr. Collier in his "Bibliogr. Cat.," vol. ii., p. 25. He conjectures that Francis Thynne was the author; but he adduces no evidence in support of the conjecture. On the last leaf is "The Apologie and Conclusion of the Author," in verse. In it he says that he is a native of Kent.

A very clean copy in the original binding. Though stated in the first title to have been printed in April, 1559, the narrative is carried down to the 8th May in that year. See "Bibliotheca Grenvilliana," i., 239-40, for an account of the differences between the two issues of 1559. Herbert omits to mention them. On the back of the title to the first volume is an address from the printer to the reader, setting forth that, whereas the edition of 1542 had been altered, he had caused the text for the present reprint to be collated with that of 1516.

— The New Chronicles of England and France, in two parts; by Robert Fabyan. Named by himself the Concordance of Histories. Reprinted from Pynson's edition of 1516. On the woodcut which forms the title is the monogram I. M. on a tablet ; this Count Cicognara thinks, may be the mark of Giovanni Bonconsigli, who bore also the name of Marescalco, but he admits that there is nothing to support this conjecture which is not adopted by Nagler, who only says that the initials are those of an unknown Venetian artist.

From Mr. Inglis's collection. The work, as the title indicates, was suggested by King James's "Basilikon Doron;" but of the author we have no knowledge, nor of any other copy of the tract. In the British Museum is the sixth edition, 1630, the title of which runs "The Fathers Blessing : or counsell To his Sonne," the word "second" being omitted. There is an entry in the Stationers' Register of "a booke called, The counsell of a father to his Sonne, in Tenne seuerall preceptes, left as a Legacy att his deathe." From the collections of Mr. Heber and Mr. Corser. The only other known, besides that described by Mr. Collier, "Bibl. Cat.," i., 271-5, and believed to be now in the British Museum, is that in the Bodleian. Mr. Heber notes: "I never saw another copy. Herbert's 'Ames,' iii., 1361. But it is plain Herbert had not seen it, as he gives the title incorrectly, and cites no authorities."

This impression differs from that described by Herbert, p. 1663, though the collations agree. It was no doubt also printed by R. Schilders of Middleburgh.

— The Song of Songs, that is the most excellent Song which was Solomon's, translated out of the Hebrue into Englishe meeter,

A—F 2 in eights.

This copy is remarkable as being printed on thick yellow paper. The volume is dedicated to "the right Worshipfull companie of the Marchant aduenturers." We learn from Fenner's preface that he wrote the whole of the Commentary, but only the concluding portion of the metrical paraphrase of Solomon's Song. In the book entitled "A Parte of a Register" the same writer has a defence of the godly ministers against Dr. Bridges, with an account of their maltreatment by the Bishops. See Herbert's "Ames," p. 1679.

FENNOR, WILLIAM. It appears from the notice to the reader that Fennor details his personal experiences, and this epistle is dated from Wood Street Compter, October 23, 1616.

He draws a curious picture of it, and describes the City Serjeants and Jailors, the disorderly custom of extorting Garnish and other Fees in a Prison. A—D in fours, or 16 leaves. In the octave stanza.

The printer, in his address to the reader, says that he does not know who the writer was, but that he was vexed at the discovery that his work was in type, it having been intended only for the satisfaction of friends. On the title is a large and curious cut.

Mr. Collier, "Bibl. Cat.," ii., pp. 128-32, remarks: "It is not merely singular, but astonishing, that this very well-written, pointed, and humorous poem, should never have received any notice." At the end of his account he says: "Nobody has hinted at the existence of this first edition." The title of this copy (formerly Mr. Corser's) varies in the imprint from that noticed by Mr. Collier.

In the Stationers' Registers, under date of 6th April, 1619, this piece was licensed to Thomas Snodham as a "A booke called Pasquilles Palynodie, or his pinte of Poetry writ by William F[ennor?]." See Arber, iii., p. 299.

See Herbert's "Ames," p. 969, where this book is cited with Herbert's initials, but with the † to show that his copy was imperfect, which is doubtless the reason why the title given there is neither accurate nor complete. The book is a translation (from the French), as Fenton avows in the dedication to Lord Lumley, which contains also a curious passage illustrative of the popular reading of the day: "We see in daily experience, with how great earnestnesse and delight the vlearned sorte runne ouer the fruitlesse Historie of king Arthur and his round table Knights, and what pleasure they take in the trifeling tales of Gawin and Gargantua: the which bisides that they passe all likelihode of truth, are vtterly without either graue precept or good example."

The present copy belonged to Francis Thynne, author of "Emblems and Epigrams," and has on the title his autograph: "Francis Thynne. 1568, 9 februar. pret. ij*."

"In point of selection and size, perhaps the most capital miscellany of this kind is Fenton's book of tragical novels. This edition [of 1567] never was seen by Ames, nor was the book known to Tanner . . . Most of the stories are on Italian subjects, and many from Bandello."—Warton's English Poetry.

Fernando Duque de Capua, hijo de dicho Duq. de Calabria y nieto de dicho Rey de Napoles. MS. on vellum. Dated 1476. 4to. BR. M.

This remarkable and important document is fully described by Dr. Pettigrew in the "Archæologia," vol. xxxvii. :—

"The MS. is beautifully written, and forms seventeen pages folio. At the end it has the autograph signatures of Ferdinand and Isabella, the parents of the Princess Isabella, and also the attestation of various distinguished functionaries, and of Gaspar Daringo, a public notary, by the command of the King and Queen of Castille, Leon, &c. No mention whatever is made of this important historical document by Don Diego Clemencin, the perpetual secretary of the Royal Academy of Madrid, the learned compiler of the elaborate history of the reign of Ferdinand and Isabella, which occupies the whole of the 6th vol. of the 'Memorias of the Academy;' nor by Mr. Prescott in his able 'History of Ferdinand and Isabella.'"—Extract from Dr. Pettigrew's notice.

FERNE, JOHN. The Blazon of Gentrie: Deuided into two parts. The first named The Glorie of Generositie. The second, Lacyes Nobilitie. Comprehending discourses of Armes and of Gentry. Wherein is treated of the beginning, parts, and degrees of Gentlenesse, with her lawes: Of the Bearing, and Blazon of Cote-armors: Of the Lawes of Armes, and of Combats. Compiled by Iohn Ferne Gentleman, for the instruction of all Gentlemen bearers of Armes, whome and none other this worke concerneth. At London, Printed by John Windet, for Andrew Maunsell. 1586. 4to. Woodcuts.

A, 8 leaves; a, 2 leaves; B—li 4 in eights, then Kk 1 leaf, besides an extra folded leaf in Cc; but sig. Z in the first alphabet has only 4 leaves; Z 4 blank. "Lacyes Nobilitie" commences on Z 5.

Dedicated by the author to Edmund, Lord Sheffield, from the Inner Temple, 13th September, 1586. The verses by J. Rosse, of the Inner Temple, described by Ritson, in his "Bibliographia Poetica," as occurring before the second part of the work, are, in fact, found with the other verses before the first part.

The following extract from the first dedication elucidates the meaning of "Lacyes Nobilitie": "For so it is, (Right honourable) that about viij. yeeres now paste, hauing culled the chiefe matters and points of this whole treatise, from out diuerse Authors and writers of Blazon, and of the Lawes of armes, to the reading whereof, as in the place of an intermissiue delectation, I did something addicte my selfe: Sithence which time, I haue not any whit conuersed in that studie, (hauing long since made choise of a better) for I neuer ment to make profession of that science, . . . I did pervulgate the same treatise vnto some of my familiers and acquaintance, by whose importune sollicitacions, as inforced, I haue published the same: And the rather, I was thereunto led, in that I might notifie to the worlde, my integritye and directe behaiour vniustlye sclaudered, in the deduction of some broken, and vncertaine lynes or genealogies of Lacies, sometimes Earles of Lyncolne, drawne by me, at the request of an honorable personage: and to that intent, haue I added them also, vnto this present treatise."

FERRARA. La Guerra de Ferrara. [Senz' alcuna data.] 4to. R. M.

This piece appears to be undescribed by Brunet. It is written in ottava rima, and consists of four leaves. A large woodcut, with the above title over it, on the recto of the first leaf.

FERRERIUS, VINCENTIUS. Vincentius de fine mūdi. [Colophon.] Explicit sermo Sancti Vincencii Ord. Pred. de fine mundi. [Sine ullā notā.] 4to.

This edition of eighteen leaves, with thirty-three lines to the page, is undescribed by Panzer or Hain.

FERRERIUS, ZACHARIA. Zachariae Ferrerii Vicent. Pont. Gard. Hymni novi ecclesiastici iuxta veram metri et latinitatis normam a Beatiss. Patre Claemente VII. Pont. [Colophon.] Impressum hoc diuinum Opus Rome in œdibus Ludouici Vincentini et Lautitii Perusini, non sine Priuilegio. Kal. Feb. M.D.XXV. 4to.

Besides the 115 leaves mentioned by Brunet, this volume has twelve preliminary leaves, including title. The book itself is extremely curious, as an attempt, under papal authority, to supersede the ancient hymns of the Church by these written in classical Latin. On the title-page the author promises a Breviary reformed in the same manner: "Breviarium ecclesiasticum ab eodem Zach. Pont. longe brevis et facilius redditum, et ab omni errore purgatum propediem exibet." The publication of this was, however, reserved for Cardinal Quignon, ten years later. A full account of this work will be found in Zaccaria's "Bibliotheca Ritualis."

Title and preliminaries, 8 leaves, including a full page woodcut with the reverse blank; pp. 1-302. Pages 265 to 278 are folding woodcuts of music, but they only count as single leaves.

In the dedication the author speaks of "esta Ciudad de Malaga," and on this ground the book has been thought to have been printed at that place. Señor Salvá says (No. 2513): "El Sr. Barbieri me dice tiene una edicion de Napoles, 1745, y otra falta de la portada, que sospecha sea de Malaga, 1745; aunque todas le parecen una sola impresion hecha en Italia con distintas portadas."

FESTIVAL. The festyuall. [Colophon.] Here endeth the festiuall Enprynted at London in Fletestrete at the sygne of the Sonne by Wynkyn de wordc. In y^e yere of our lordc. M. CCCCC. viii. And ended the .xi. daye of Maye. 4to. Black letter. Woodcuts. BR. M.

A—Kk in eights and fours alternately, Ll, 4 leaves. There is a woodcut on the title, which is repeated on the back.

Of this work not less than fifteen editions were printed between 1486 and 1532. Herbert gives the title as "The festival or sermons on Sondays and holidais taken out of the golden legend;" but the words "The Festyuall" are all that really occur on the title-page. Herbert remarks: "The stories in this book are so extravagant, that one would imagine they were invented to try how far human credulity could be extended." The piece entitled "Quatuor sermones" is at the end.

FEYNES, SIEUR DE. Voyage fait par terre depuis Paris Iusques à la Chine. . . . Auec son retour par mer. A Paris. Chez Pierre Rocolet en la gallerie des prisonniers aux armes de la Ville. 1630. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

Engraved title and preliminaries, 9 leaves; pp. 1-212.

FIALETTI, ODOARDO. De gli Habiti delle Religioni con le Armi, e breue Descrittion loro, Libro Primo, (Secondo e Terzo) opera di Odoardo Fialetti, diuisa in piu volumi. Venetia, 1626. 4to. BR. M.

The book is entirely engraved, and divided as follows: Libro primo—title and address to the reader, 2 leaves; plates numbered 2-26, containing each a monastic figure in costume, with engraved text opposite, except plate 2, which shows a headless female figure. Libro secondo—title, 1 leaf; plates 27-51. Libro terzo—title, 1 leaf; plates 52-74.

Odoardo Fialetti (born in 1573, died in 1638) was a pupil of Tintoretto, and equally distinguished as a painter and an etcher. Bartsch praises the spirit and vigour of his designs, and remarks that only a few copies were struck off of the first edition of the "Habiti," in 1626. There are French reimpressions in 1658 and 1680.

FIAN, DOCTOR. Newes from Scotland. Declaring the damnable life of Doctor Fian a notable Sorcerer, who was burned at Edenbrough in Ianuarie last. 1591. A—C in fours, or 12 leaves. With two woodcuts on B 4 verso and C 2 verso.

From the collections of Mr. Brand, Sir F. Freeling, and Mr. Corser. Inserted are tracings of the cuts of a different edition which is among Douce's books at Oxford, and Freeling notes on a fly-leaf: "Mr. Douce's copy is by the same printer, and is also without date. The only variation of consequence between the two is that in the title to Mr. Douce's the words 'and death' are inserted after 'life'; with the exception of the orthography, the text is precisely the same. The cut on B 4 verso, besides being inserted in its proper place, faces the title, and forms A i. It has also two additional cuts, which Mr. Douce has kindly allowed me to trace, and which are inserted in their respective places. Neither of them appears to have belonged originally to the work. Upon the whole I incline to think that is the earlier edition."

Sir F. Freeling was not aware that at Lambeth Palace there is a third impression of this tract, with a different publisher's name, but also undated. Of the original edition, printed in Scotland, no copy is known.

In a MS. note on the back of the title occurs: "John Brand, Somerset place, Jany 8th, 1802. See Steevens's catalogue, No. 1791. This copy of this most rare book was bought by Clark, probably for Mr. Beckford, for six guineas. Another copy was sold at the sale of the late Mr. Tyssen's books, Dec. 17th, 1801 (with other Tracts on the same subject . . .)."

FICHETUS, GUIL. [On folio 1a.] Guillermi Ficheti Aluetani, artium & theologiæ parisiensis doctoris, rhetoricorum libroꝝ præfatio. [At the end] In Parisioꝝ Sorbona conditæ Fichetæ rhetoricæ finis. [Sine ullâ notâ.] 4to. BR. M.

One of the earliest books printed at Paris by the three Germans who introduced the art of typography into that city in 1471. The date is fixed by the letters which the author addressed to different eminent men to accompany his book. That to the Archbishop of Lyons is subscribed: "Scriptum impressumq; anno uno & septuagesimo q̄dringentesimo supra millesimum." The corrections of the press throughout the volume are rather numerous, and have been made by erasure with a knife, the alterations being inserted with the pen—an evidence of a very primitive condition of the art of printing. This is not peculiar to this copy, for the same method of correction has been employed in the copy printed on vellum, and presented to Pope Sixtus IV., which is now in the British Museum.

FIERABRAS. [Colophon.] Cy finist Fierabras Imprime a Lyon par maistre Guillaume le roy. Le cinqueisme Jour du moys de Juilliet [s. d.] Deo gracias. Folio. Black letter. Woodcuts. G. M.

This edition, printed with long lines and consisting of 108 leaves, was evidently described by Brunet from this copy, which he mentions as being advertised in M. Techener's "Bulletin du Bibliophile," in 1853. It was purchased by Mr. Roupell from M. Techener, and was acquired at the sale of Mr. Roupell's library. When M. Brunet published the 4th edition of his "Manuel," in 1842, he knew of the existence of this edition only by its being mentioned by the Abbé St. Leger as belonging to the Library of the Academy at Lyons. It is by no means improbable that this is the copy formerly in that institution, for it is somewhat significant that in the 5th edition of the "Manuel du Libraire," M. Brunet omits all mention of a copy being there, and a letter lately addressed to the librarian, inquiring if the book was still in the library, has remained unanswered. It would appear therefore to be the only copy known of this edition.

A—Z in eights and fours alternately, and Ɩ, 6 leaves.

A remarkably fine copy, in old English calf binding of the end of the seventeenth century, from the library of Sir John Hynde Cotton, Bart., with his bookplate. An edition of 1505, from the press of Pynson, is erroneously described by some bibliographers as being in the Hunterian Museum, Glasgow. The Hunterian copy is of the impression of 1510. The volume was printed five times—viz., W. de Worde, 1508, 1509, 1525; R. Pynson, 1510; T. Marsh, 1555.

A—E in eights, including the title. Presented by J. O. Phillipps, Esq., 7th of February, 1876.

Dedicated "To the vertuous and towardly young Gentleman, Maister Edward Harington, Sonne and Heire to the worshipfull M. James Harington of Ridlington in Rutland, Esquire." This appears to be the earliest edition known of this curious little volume, and of this edition no other copy appears to be recorded. In Mr. Hazlitt's "Handbook" is described an edition twenty years later, and he has placed it under the name of Francis Seager as the author. In default of knowing who was the author of the French original, the volume may fairly be assigned to W. Fiston.

In his preface, he says: "Now having of late happened vpon a little Booke in French, concerning Childrens manners, I hauing more leysure then I well liked, thought good to expell my languishing idlenes, by translating, and (in places needfull) correcting, this Treatise which I haue intituled an A. B. C. or, the first Schoole of good manners."

FITES, ALIAS FITZ, SIR JOHN. A Narrative of the bloody Murders committed by him, 1605, with an account of his Suicide at Twickenham. It is probable that Herbert acquired this volume after the publication of the "Typographical Antiquities," as it is not fully described in that work, nor marked as though it were in his possession.

A fine copy, with proof leaves, of a rare edition of the earliest work on the subject of Husbandry in the English language. The Rev. Joseph Hunter was the first to point out that the author of this work and the book on surveying was a different person from the eminent judge of the same name. It is evident from the preface quoted by Herbert, p. 448, that Berthelet, the printer, believed the writer on surveying and agriculture to be identical with the judge.

a—c in eights; d, 4 leaves.

This is the edition indicated by Hain, No. 13672. He had not, however, seen the book himself, but took the title from the Pinelli catalogue. The two editions mentioned by Hain, Nos. 13673 and 13674, have no existence. The copy here described was probably printed at Paris before 1496, and is consequently the first edition. To Panzer it was quite unknown, and Ware knew of no edition earlier than that of Paris, 1633. The author became Archbishop of Armagh in 1347, and died in 1360. This book, which is directed against the begging friars, involved him in much trouble, as detailed by Ware, vol. i., pp. 81-83.

Title and preface, 2 leaves; pp. 1-121.

This must be the book of which Ware remarks, "He also wrote a treatise proving that Ireland was called Scotia. But I doubt whether it was ever published." —Writers of Ireland, p. 119.

FIVE Strange Wonders in the North and West of England: as they were communicated to divers Honourable Members of Parliament from several Countrey Gentlemen and Ministers; concerning the strange and prodigious flying in the Air of a Black Coffin betwixt Leicester and Nottingham, on Sabbath day last was a fortnight, with a flaming Arrow and a Bloody Sword, casting forth streams of Fire, to the great wonder and astonishment of many Hundreds of People that beheld the sparkling and glittering Rays as far as Newark, Beaver, Loughborough, Melton, and divers other places: With a Conjecturation thereupon, what these dreadful Signs from Heaven, may denote and signifie to the People on Earth this present Summer. Likewise, the great and wonderfull Warlike Prodigies, which appeared over Marston-Moor, near the City of York, between two fiery or flaming Pillars. And the three Monstrous Creatures found in three Eggs, laid by one Hen bought in Exeter Market one Night, wherein was found a Serpent, a Cockatrice, and a Toad. This professes to be the narrative of an eye-witness, who entered it upon record "in the Original Mirrour, or London Looking Glass."

First edition. In this volume there is a poem, p. 41, entitled "The Dying Christian to his Soul," which has evidently been copied by Pope.

— Poems and Songs, by Thomas Flatman. The Fourth Edition, With many Additions and Amendments. London, Printed for Benjamin Tooke, at the Ship in St. Paul's Church-Yard. 1686. Sm. 8vo. Thick paper.

This copy is the only one known on thick paper. It belonged to Mr. W. Pickering, the eminent publisher, and has the fly leaves, &c., occupied by MS. notes in his handwriting, relative to the author. An account of Flatman, who, like his contemporary Anne Killigrew, was both poet and artist, may be found in Walpole's "Anecdotes of Painting in England."

FLECKNOE, RICHARD. Miscellania. Or, Poems of all sorts, with divers other pieces. Written by Richard Fleckno. Dedicated to the most excellent of her Sexe. London, Printed by T. R. for the author, 1653. Sm. 8vo.

A, 4 leaves; B—H 4 in eights.

This journal, which was evidently written in emulation of Brathwaite's "Barnabee Itinerarum," is dedicated "To all true lovers of Mirth and Wit." In the address to the reader, the writer observes: "Now if you ask me why I prefix not my name to this, as well as to my other works: besides, that I count it the slightest of them all, 'tis because those I printed only to communicate to my private friends, but intending to make this more publique, and hating to have my name lie glaring on Book-sellers stalls, I have purposely suppressed it here; yet so, as I care not (for satisfying thy curiosity) to take thee aside from the Title-page, & tell thee my name is Richard Fleckno."

FLECKNOE, RICHARD. Enigmaticall Characters, all Taken to the Life, from severall Persons, Humours, & Dispositions. By Rich. Fleckno. Anno Dom. 1658. Sm. 8vo. G. M.

A, 4 leaves; B—I 4 in eights, the last leaf blank.

This edition, as the title intimates, varies very considerably from the prior one of 1658. It is the larger of those printed in 1665, there having been two distinct issues of the book this year. Mr. Corser's copy.

— Heroick Portraits with other Miscellany [sic] Pieces, Made, and Dedicate to his Majesty. By Rich. Flecknoe. London, Printed by Ralph Wood, for the Author. 1660. Sm. 8vo.

A, 4 leaves; B—I 4 in eights.

Dedicated to the King. The "other miscellany pieces" partly consist of non-heroic portraits, as "The Portrait of Lysette, my Ladies half-Gentlewoman," "The Picture of a Fine, Nice Dame," &c. The Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica copy, with the autograph and MS. notes of T. Park. Subsequently in the library of Mr. Corser. Mr. Park notes on the fly-leaf: "No part of this Collection appears to be printed in the other publications of R. F. — S^r William D'avenant's Voyage to the Other World: With His Adventures in the Poets Elizium. A Poetical Fiction. London, Printed for the Author, 1668. Sm. 8vo.

Seven leaves.

The only other copy which has occurred was one formerly in the Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica and Mr. Corser's collection, and now in the British Museum. But a third copy is in the Bodleian.

A very curious volume, of which the only other copy known is at Bridgewater House. See it described by Collier ("Bibl. Cat.," i., pp. 285-6).

It is believed that no collection, public or private, possesses a complete series of Flecknoe's small books, many of which appear to have been printed for presentation to patrons, and probably in very limited numbers.

FLEETWOOD, WILLIAM. An Unhappy View of the Whole behaviour of my Lord Duke of Buckingham, at the French Island, called the Isle of Rhce. Discovered By Colonell William Fleetwood, an unfortunate Commander in that untoward Service. London, Printed for R. Smith. 1648. 4to.

It is dated from Ludgate prison, "Out of bondes and imprisonment, the 18. of Aug. 1554," the writer being confined for debt. He prays the King to compound the debt for which he and twenty-nine others are confined, saying that two thousand pounds will be taken in payment for ten thousand.

FLETCHER, GILES. Of the Rvsse Common Wealth. Or, Maner of Gouvernement by the Russe Emperour, (commonly called the Emperour of Moskouiia) with the manners, and fashions of the people of that Countrey. The Contents are noted in the Table, set downe before the beginning of the Booke. At London Printed by T. D. for Thomas Charde. 1591. Sm. 8vo. G. M.

A, 4 leaves, first blank; B—Q 4 in eights.

From the dedication to the Queen we learn that Fletcher, who had been sent as English envoy to Russia, prepared his notes during his stay in that country, and employed himself, on his return journey, in throwing them into the form in which they appeared. The book and dedication are alike severe on the Russians and their ruler, and it was accordingly suppressed. A second edition was printed in 1643, and it is also included in the Hakluyt Society's series.

FLETCHER, GILES, the younger. Christs Victorie, and Triumph in Heauen, and Earth, over, and after death. Cambridge Printed by C. Legge, 1610. 4to. BL. M.

FLETCHER, JOHN. The Woman Hater. As it hath beene lately Acted by the Children of Paules. London Printed, and are to be sold by John Hodgets in Paules Church-yard. 1607. 4to.

A—K in fours. First edition, of the greatest rarity. The present copy is uncut, but has portions of two leaves restored. No copy is in the British Museum, and that in the Dyce collection is defective. Lowndes only cites the Rhodes copy. Yet two impressions appeared in 1607, the second varying in the imprint, and presenting some corrections, as pointed out by Mr. Dyce in his edition of Beaumont and Fletcher.

— The Two Noble Kinsmen: Presented at the Blackfriars by the Kings Maiesties servants, with great applause: Written by the memorable Worthies of their time; Mr. John Fletcher, and Mr. William Shakspeare. A—N i in fours, besides the title-page.

This drama, which is founded on Chaucer's "Knight's Tale," is now generally allowed to have been partly written by Shakespeare.

In that very interesting tract, James Wright's "Historia Histrionica," 1699, it is said that this drama was acted "in the winter before the Kings Murder, 1648," and that the soldiers stopped the performances.

— Rvle a Wife And have a Wife. A Comoedy. Acted by His Majesties Servants. Written by John Fletcher Gent. Oxford, Printed by Leonard Lichfield Printer to the Vniversity. Anno 1640. 4to.

FLETCHER, JOHN. The Night-Walker, Or The Little Theife. A Comedy, As it was presented by her Majesties Servants, at the Private House in Drury Lane. Written by John Fletcher, Gent. London, Printed by Tho. Cotes, for Andrew Crooke, and William Cooke. 1640. 4to.

A, 2 leaves; B—K in fours. Dedicated by A[ndrew] C[rooke?] to William Hudson, Esq.

This drama, it appears, was left incomplete by the author at his death in 1625, and was finished or corrected by Shirley in 1633. See Dyce's "Beaumont and Fletcher," xi, 123. It is evident that additions were made, as in one place, for instance, is a reference to Prynne's "Histriomastix," which was not printed till 1633.

FLETCHER, JOSEPH. *The Historie of the Perfect—Cursed—Blessed Man: Setting-forth Mans Excellencie Miseric Felicitie by his Generation, Degeneration, Regeneration. By I. F. Title and frontispiece, 2 leaves; B—N in fours; and at the end a plate with a leaf containing verses.

Only one other copy of this date, and that not perfect, seems to be known. It occurred at Mr. Inglis's sale. Of the original edition three copies have occurred, one being inlaid.

On the back of the title is a copper-plate engraving, which displays two coats of arms, one being that of Edward Benlowes, to whom the volume is dedicated, the other is probably that of the author. Facing this is inserted a folding portrait of Benlowes taken from his "Theophila." On the back of the title to the "Piscatorie Eclogs" is pasted an emblematical plate, headed "Charissimo E. B. P. Fletcher," with Latin verses at the foot. Opposite to this is another emblematical engraving, with an anagram on "Edward Benlowes," and verses in English addressed to him. From Sir W. Tite's library.

There is in the library another copy on large paper, but that has not the emblematical plate with English verses.

This edition appears to be entirely unknown to bibliographers. The earliest known to Brunet was that printed at Seville by Cromberger in 1524. An edition of the fifteenth century, but without place or date, is cited by Señor Gayangos in his "Libros de Caballeria," p. lxxix. Señor Gallardo appears to have omitted the author entirely from his "Biblioteca Española."

First edition. Dedicated by the translator to Margaret Volschaten, of whom a woodcut portrait is on the back of the title. Following the dedication are some verses to this lady, her sister, and to André Volschaten, probably her father. From the rude style of the English version it is evident that the translator had a very limited knowledge of the language.

FLORES Musice omnis cātus Gregoriani. [Colophon.] Im̃p̃ssum Argētine ꝑ Johannem pryss. Anno Mccccxxxviii. 4to.

Ninety-seven leaves.

Hain, 7174. Brunet gives a very long account of this curious volume, but neither he nor Panzer seems to have known of a separate folding leaf, which in this copy is placed between D 2. and D 3. It begins, "Hec est dispositio monocordi." Hain notes two sorts of copies, one with and the other without a woodcut on folio 97. This copy has the woodcut.

FLORES Y BLANCAFLOR. Historia de Flores y Blancaflor. Impressa en Aleala de Henares en casa de Juan Gracian que sea en gloria año. 1604. 4to.

This is the "Argument" only, as the title states; the piece itself was in French, and was licensed by Sir Henry Herbert, 14th December, 1635. Two drawings illustrating the performance are in the British Museum, among the Lansdowne MSS. (No. 1171). The scenery and machinery were by Inigo Jones.

Herbert mentions an edition of 1509; but he had only copied the title from the Harleian Catalogue, and it appears doubtful if any such edition exists. In describing the edition of 1521, Herbert says: "The only intimation we have of the translator is enigmatically represented on the back of the last leaf by a covered waggon, having C H E R T S E Y on the tilt . . . We are more expressly assured that the translator was Andrew Chertsey by Rob. Copland's prologue to the Passion of our Lord Jesu Cryst, printed the year before" [1520].

Among the "Familiar Letters" is one to Mr. R. R., in which Ford refers to a work by the former, called "A New Forest." No such book, however, appears to be recorded.

From the library of Dr. Bliss.

FORTUNATUS. [Colophon.] Gedruckt vnd vollendt in der kayserlichen statt Augspurg. 1518. 4to. Woodcuts. G. M.

This edition appears to have been unknown, not only to Brunet, but also to Panzer, Ebert, and Graesse. It consists of eighty-six leaves without pagination. Panzer, speaking of the edition of 1509, says, "Die Geschichte ist kürzlich diese. Fortunatus, ein Edler aus Cypern, der in der Fremde in grosses Elend kam, erhält in einem Walde von Fortuna einen Seckel, dem es nie an Geld mangelte. Mit demselben reisete er in der Welt herum, und kam endlich zu dem künig soldan gen alkeyr, dem er das Wünschhütlein heimlich entführet. Whether this edition, or that dated 1561, is the earlier, appears to be uncertain. Brunet says, "C'est identiquement la même que celle de 1561; il n'y a que le bas du frontispice qui diffère."

FOUR LEAVES OF TRUELOVE. The. iiij. leues of the true-loue. [Colophon.] Emprented at London in Flete Strete at the sygne of the sonne by wynekyn de worde. 4to. Black letter. G. M.

A full and excellent account of this most rare piece is given by Mr. Collier in his "Bibliogr. Catal.," vol. i., pp. 293-4. He says, "We believe no more than a single copy is in existence." It is probable that his description was taken from this copy, which was successively in the libraries of Mr. Heber and Mr. Corser. To Ames and Herbert it was entirely unknown, and was described by Dibdin from this copy when in Mr. Heber's possession. By Dr. Dibdin the poem is styled "wretchedly dull," but Mr. Collier gives a much more favourable opinion of it.

A—Cc, 2 leaves each; "The Ægyptian Language," &c., A—C, 2 leaves each; "The Welch Battle-Door," A—B, 2 leaves each; "The Spanish," A—C, 2 leaves each; "The French," A—E, 2 leaves each; "The German," &c., 3 leaves; "The Nether Dutch," followed by other languages which have not separate titles, 7 leaves, the last four pages of which are wrongly marked; Some Remarks on School-Books, &c., pp. 1-19; Contents, Errata, &c., pp. 4, which are not numbered; Examples taken from School-Books, pp. 1-28, p. 28 ending with a catchword Some.

With regard to the occurrence of the catchword just mentioned at the bottom of p. 28, it may be pointed out that it no doubt refers to the commencing word of the Remarks above specified, which begin "Something spoken to a Book," and should properly follow these 28 pages instead of preceding them as in this copy. The volume is in the finest condition, with rough leaves throughout.

There is in the library another copy, which contains two slips, separately printed, one of which is pasted on to the page of the errata:—

"More Errors espied since; which Correct as followeth."

The other is pasted on to the last leaf of the book:—

"The Pope set up you to one in his pride, and it is the pride which cannot bear thou and thee to one but must have, and would have you from the Author their Father in their pride, which must not have the word thou, which was before their Father the Pope was, which was Gods language, and will stand when the Pope is ended.

First edition. There is no book in the English language more difficult to procure in a perfect state. Considerable alterations were made in the later editions, and some pieces of great importance omitted, but in this are preserved lists of prohibited books and other documents, which, but for being printed here, would have been lost.

With the exception of a small piece of the separate woodcut on E i having been cut off, this copy is entirely perfect. The woodcut on E i, and that between GGGg iii—iiii were wanting when the book was purchased, but the former was kindly presented by Mr. B. M. This volume consists of engraved title, a double plate of "Il gran consiglio," at the back of which is a letterpress dedication, and twenty-four other plates.

Brunet has evidently taken his account of the book at secondhand without having seen it.

FRANCO, GIACOMO. Habiti delle donne Venetiane, intagliate in rame Nuoua-mente. [Venetia, s. a.] Folio.

Though similar in title this is an entirely different book from the preceding. It consists of twenty plates.

FRANKLIN, BENJAMIN. A dissertation on Liberty and Necessity, Pleasure and Pain. [Quotation from Dryden.] London: Printed in the Year MDCCXXV. 8vo.

A—D in fours.

The original edition, of which it is believed that only 100 copies were originally printed, and which was so carefully suppressed and destroyed by the author that only one other copy is at present known. The origin of the piece is said to have been that while Franklin was working as a compositor on Wollaston's "Religion of Nature," he was struck by the weakness of some of the arguments, and wrote this work in reply to it.

FRANKLIN, JAMES. Franklins Farewell to the World, With his Christian Contrition in Prison, before his Death. [Colophon.] Printed at London for Henry Gosson. [1615.] A Broadside. Black letter.

Forty-three rhyming couplets in two columns, enclosed within a broad woodcut border.

No other copy is known. Franklin was executed for his participation in the Overbury tragedy. Reprinted in "Anc. Ballads," &c., 1867.

FRARIN, PETER. An Oration Against the Vnlawfull Insurrections of the Protestantes of our time, vnder pretence to Refourme Religion. Made and pronounced in Latin, in the Schole of Artes at Louaine, the .xiiij. of December. Anno. 1565. By Peter Frarin of Andwerp, M. of Arte, and Bacheler of both lawes. And now translated into English, with the aduise of the Author. Antwerpiæ, Ex officina Ioannis Foulcri. M.D.LXVI. Sm. 8vo. BR. M.

A—L in eights.

The translator, John Foulcr, who signs the Preface to the Reader, was no doubt identical with the publisher of the volume. The table at the end illustrates the narrative, having a series of woodcuts displaying the abominations of the Reformers, with doggrel verses beneath each. They were also published with a French and with a Flemish text.

FRASER, JOHN. An Offer made to a Gentleman of Quality by M. Iohn Fraser, to subscribe and embrace the Ministers of Scotlands religion, if they can sufficientlie proue, that they haue the true kirk and lawfull calling. Where to ar adioyned certaine reasons and considerations concerning theis two heades and foundations, without the light of which others can not be cleared, nor assured ground in religion in these dayes established. Newlie corrected and set forth, with the aduise of the author. [Quotation from St. Augustine.] Permissu Superiorum. M. DC. V. Sm. 8vo.

The first edition appeared at Paris, 1604, sm. 8vo.

FRAUNCE, ABRAHAM. The Lawiers Logike, exemplifying the præcepts of Logike by the practise of the common Lawe, by Abraham Fraunce. At London, Imprinted by William How, for Thomas Gubbin, and T. Newman. 1588. 4to. Black letter. R. M.

Title and dedication (in verse) to Henry, Earl of Pembroke, 2 leaves; ¶, 4 leaves; ¶¶, 4 leaves; B—Y in fours; Aa—Rr in fours, besides a folding table after sig. li 2. Aa 2 is a blank leaf.

Shakespeare is supposed to have studied this book.

— The Lamentations of Amintas for the death of Phillis: Paraphrastically translated out of Latine into English Hexameters, by Abraham Fraunce. Newelie Corrected. At London Printed by Iohn Charlewood, for Thomas Newman and Thomas Gubbin. Anno Dom. 1588. 4to. O. M.

Title and dedication, 2 leaves; A—D in fours, and a leaf of E.

Dedicated to the Countess of Pembroke. The only other copy known, of this edition, is in the British Museum. From the libraries of Mr. Bright and Mr. Corser.

— The Countesse of Pembrokes Yuychurch. Containing the affectionate life and vnfortunate death of Phillis and Amyntas: That in a Pastorall; This in a Funerall: both in English Hexameters. By Abraham Fraunce. London, Printed by Thomas Orwyn for William Ponsonby, dwelling in Paules Churchyard, at the signe of the Bishops head. 1591. 4to. O. M.

A—M in fours, the last leaf bearing only the errata. The titles to this and the two following articles are within the same woodcut border, which Orwyn used also for Spenser's "Complaints," &c.

Dedicated "To the right excellent, and most honorable Ladie, the Ladie Marie, Countesse of Pembroke." The writer subscribes himself "Your Honours most affectionate, Abraham Fraunce." The title of the book was borrowed from the name of a small village and chapel near Wilton. The work is divided into two parts, the Pastoral being a paraphrase of Tasso's "Aminta," the Funeral, of Watson's Latin "Amintas," the latter printed at London, in 8vo, 1585.

On sig. L 3 at the conclusion of the second part of the "Yuychurch" is added a free translation from Virgil of the Second Eclogue, of Corydon and Alexis, also in hexameters, and this is followed by a specimen of Heliodorus in the same metre; it is headed: "The beginning of Heliodorus his Æthiopian History," and occupies six pages only. The last leaf has the errata for the whole volume.

"None of our bibliographers have remarked that the second part of the 'Countesse of Pembroke's Ivy Church' is in fact a republication of the author's previous work, [the 'Lamentations of Amintas for the Death of Phillis,' printed in 1588, with this difference—that while in that edition the 'Lamentations' are only eleven, in the present volume 'The last Lamentation & the death of Amintas' has been divided, with some slight additions, into two Days, the eleventh and twelfth; and the following lines, 'Downe in a del at last,' &c., complimentary to his fair and accomplished patroness, are added at the close, which are not in the former edition."—Corser's Collectanea, part vi., pp. 371-2.

In another place Mr. Corser makes a little difficulty by reason of his not having been aware that Watson's "Amyntas" was originally published in 1585, in Latin. He says ("Collect.," part vi., p. 372): "Watson's version of 'Amyntas' was printed in 1592, and this by Fraunce bears date 1591. Whether an earlier edition of the "Amintas" had appeared before 1592, or whether the present translator was allowed to make use of Watson's MS. copy, we are unable to determine." The only known copy of the edition of Watson's Latin "Amyntas," 8vo, 1585, is in the British Museum.

In the dedication to Lady Pembroke the author observes: "If Amyntas found favour in your gracious eyes, let Phillis bee accepted for Amyntas sake. I haue somewhat altered S. Tasso's Italian, & M. Watson's Latine Amyntas, to make them both one English." The "Amyntas" here spoken of is, of course, the "Lamentations of Amyntas," which is almost to be regarded as an original work.

FRAUNCE, ABRAHAM. The Third part of the Countesse of Pembrokes Yvychurch: Entituled, Amintas Dale. Wherein are the most conceited tales of the Pagan Gods in English Hexameters: together with their auncient descriptions and Philosophicall explications. By Abraham Fraunce. At London Printed, [by Thomas Orweyn] for Thomas Woodcocke, dwelling in Paules Church-yard, at the signe of the blacke Beare. 1592. 4to.

A—Q 2 in fours.

Dedicated in Latin hexameters to Lady Pembroke. The language of the author, in explaining the plan of this further and final instalment, is amusingly grandiloquent. He says:—

"Accipe nobilium dulcissima dogmata vatum,
Delicias, Musas, mysteria; denique, quicquid
Græcia docta dedit, vel regia Roma reliquit,
Quod fructum flori, quod miscuit vtile dulci."

In the Third Part of the "Yvychurch" each of the nymphs assembled at Yvychurch is supposed to narrate a tale, at the conclusion of which, before another commences, "the sage Elpinus" furnishes a commentary of the most erudite character. In one place Pluto is called "the Duke of diu's"; and at the end is brought in a series of suggestions headed "The petition of the Gardiners;" e.g.—

"That whosoever eateth buttered Pasnips without pepper, may dye without Auricular confession.

"That none above the age of seuen yeares, if he nettle his hande, shall be ridde of his payne by rubbing the place with a Dock, and saying, In Docke, out Nettle.

"That if any married man vse any nosegay, wherein the flowers be odde in number, he may stand in daunger of Acteons penaltie.

"That whosoever drinketh Claret wine without Borage, or Sack without a sprig of Rosemary, may neuer be ridde of his Rheume by drinking Muscadell before he goe to bed."

This Part is of the greatest rarity, the only other complete copy known being that among the King's books in the British Museum. The latter was purchased at the Roxburghe sale in 1812. The present copy is bound up with the other parts and the "Emanuel."

FRAUNCE, ABRAHAM. The Countesse of Pembrokes Emanuel. Containing the Natiuity, Passion, Buriall, and Resurrection of Christ: togeather with certaine Psalmes of Dauid. All in English Hexameters. By Abraham Fraunce. Imprinted at London, for William Ponsonby, dwelling in Paules Churchyard, at the signe of the Bishops head. 1591. 4to.

A—E in fours, last leaf blank.

This is also dedicated to Lady Pembroke in the following hexametrical couplet:

“Mary the best Mother sends her best Babe to a Mary:
Lord to a Ladies sight, and Christe to a Christian hearing.”

Although the present tract has separate title and signatures, there is little doubt that it was intended to form part of the “Yvychurch.” The Psalms of which translations are given are the 1st, 6th, 8th, 29th, 38th, 50th, 73rd, and 104th.

From the collections of Mr. Brand, Mr. Heber, and Mr. Corser. Dr. Bliss, in his edition of Wood's "Athenæ," ii. 135, particularly refers to this copy. On F 3 occurs a half-title to the second part : "Rynne, And a great Cast. The Second Bowle," with another quotation from Horace.

FRENCH, NICHOLAS. The dolefull Fall of Andrew Sall, a Jesuit of the Fourth Vow, from the Roman Catholick Apostolick faith; Lamented by his Constant Frind: with an open rebuking of his Embracing the Confession, Contained in the xxxix. Articles of the Church of England. Superiorum permissu. 1674. Sm. 8vo.

Title-page, Recantation of Sall (printed at large), the Author to the Reader, signed "N. N.," &c., 18 leaves; A—Ee 2 in eights, including W among the signatures.

"In this book he represents Mr. Sall (who had embraced the doctrine of the Church of England) as gone over to the Quakers, and to all other sects both ancient and modern, and charitably condemns all the Members of the Established Church, without Exception, to the eternal woes of Hell."—Ware's Writers of Ireland.

Andrew Sall replied to this attack in his "True Catholic Apostolic Faith," 1676.

— The Vnkinde Desertor of Loyall Men and True Frinds. In the land of the holy hee hath don wicked things, and hee shall not see the glory of our Lord. Isai. cap. 26. vers. 10. Superiorum permissu, Año 1676. Sm. 8vo. O. M.

Title-page, 1 leaf; "Censura," 2 leaves; contents, 4 leaves; preface, pp. 19; text, pp. 22-246, the leaves are wrongly numbered, 400-446 instead of 200-246.

The "Unkinde desertor" is intended for a portrait of the Marquis of Ormond. Ware in his history of "The Writers of Ireland" gives the following account of the author's hatred to that nobleman. "At Paris he attempted to wait on King Charles II., who refused to see him; and thinking the Marquis of Ormond was the Cause why he was not admitted, he ever after bore him a hatred and took all Occasions to asperse him in his Writings."

"The calumnies of this foul-mouthed Author gave occasion to the Earl of Clarendon of writing his History of the Rebellion and-Civil Wars in Ireland, in Defence and Justification of the Marquis's behaviour."

A—I in eights.

This is a little work of extreme rarity. From the libraries of Mr. Jolley and Mr. Corser. It is very briefly mentioned by Herbert without date.

Among Bagford's papers in Harl. MS., 5396, is the title-page of another edition, "Printed at London by Thomas East," sm. 8vo, without date, which is probably the one referred to by Herbert.

Thirty-six leaves.

A collection of moral precepts in rhyming couplets, which is said by Brunet (quoting from W. Grimm) to have been compiled in the thirteenth century by Walther von Vogelweide. Speaking of this edition, he says: "On a cru reconnaître les caractères de Conr. Koeloffen de Lubeck vers 1490." No such printer, however, is to be found in the lists of fifteenth century typographers given by Panzer and Hain. The only names at all similar are those of Conrad Kacheloven, who printed at Leipzig from 1485 to 1499, and John Koelhof, of Lubeck, whose press was at Cologne.

1508. 4to. Woodcuts. R. M.

Seventy-four leaves.

This book has little more than the title in common with the preceding work. It is entirely rewritten by Sebastian Brandt. Panzer, in describing the edition of 1513, says: "Zwar soll nach Herrn Prof. Eschenbergs Bemerkung, eine ältere Ausgabe von 1508 vorhanden seyn, die aber zugleich für so selten ausgegeben wird, dass so gar an der Existenz derselben gezweifelt wurde." To Brunet and Graesse, however, the edition appears to have been known, but only through other catalogues.

A—R in sixes, including title, without pagination or catchwords.

This beautiful and rare volume appears to be the earliest illustrated edition of the work. That it is of extreme rarity is evidenced by the fact that while it is just mentioned by Dibdin, Brunet, and Graesse that an edition was printed at Florence in 1508, none of them make any remark on the beauty and artistic value of the illustrations. Of these there are no less than 127, only two or three being repetitions. It has been suggested, from their style, that these illustrations, with one exception, were engraved from the designs of Luca Signorelli, and this opinion is much strengthened by the fact that one of the cuts bears the monogram L. V., which suggests LUCA Egidio VENTURI di Cortona, that being Signorelli's family name. Concerning the work itself M. Ginguené in the "Biogr. Univ.," remarks: "Il n'est resté d'autre ouvrage de Frezzi qu'un long poëme divisé en quatre livres sous le titre singulier de 'Il Quatiregio,' &c. Le premier de ces quatre règnes, est celui de l'amour; le second, est celui de Satan; le troisième, celui des vices, et le quatrième est le règne des vertus. L'auteur est imitateur de Dante et dans l'idée et dans la forme de son poëme; et quoique loin d'approcher de ce grand modèle, il s'en écarte moins qu'aucun autre poëte du même temps." He then goes on to give a considerable account and analysis of the poem. Frezzi died in 1416, and the first edition of his book was printed at Perugia in 1481.

This is, according to Brunet, the second edition printed by Verard, but of equal value and rarity with the former impression.

Vol. 2. a, 8 leaves (the title within a border differing from that of the first volume); A—U in sixes; AA—UU in sixes; AAA—NNN in sixes; OOO, 8 leaves.

First edition in English. At the foot of fol. 257 verso of vol. i. occurs the autograph of Jane, Countess of Southampton: "This is Jane Southampton boke."

It will be observed that the orthography and even wording of the titles here given vary considerably from Herbert's account (pp. 272, 275). He had probably retained the title as copied by Ames; and he remarks in a note, p. 576: "Mr. Ames's copy, which has been in my possession, had only the four last sheets of Pinson's edition." It is evident that Pynson's edition is properly quite distinct from that printed by Middleton, as the latter did not begin to print till about ten years after the death of Pynson. Copies are so frequently found made up of the two editions that it seems probable that Middleton had bought copies, or portions of copies, printed by Pynson and made them up from his own edition. It is, however, to be remarked that copies with Pynson's imprint vary in the title to the second volume. That in the Grenville library has no woodcut border, and has some literal variations from this, while it agrees exactly with the other copy in the British Museum, which has Middleton's imprint. It is possible that though the remainder of that copy is Pynson's original edition, the title belongs to Middleton's issue.

In the title given by Herbert, p. 272, Henry VIII. is styled, "Of the church of Englande and also of Irelande in earth the supreme head." As Henry did not assume this title till 1530 it is clear that it belongs to Middleton's edition, though the colophon has Pynson's name and the date 1523.

The table occupies seven leaves, the first three being marked a, b, and c. The signatures then follow regularly: a—z. 7. 9 and A—1 in eights; K, ten leaves, the last blank. The capitals and paragraph marks are printed in red.

A very full account of the volume is given by Herbert, p. 1431.

It is believed that this is the only copy known printed on vellum. It was obtained at the sale of the library of Miss Richardson Currer, of Eshton Hall, in 1862. It has the first leaf of the table and the last leaf supplied in facsimile; but no copy is known, even on paper, entirely perfect.

FRUIT OF REDEMPTION. The fruyte of redempcyon. [Colophon.] Imprynted by Wynkyn de Worde the yere of our lorde god. M.CCCC. and .xxx. And fynysshed the .xxi. daye of Maye. 4to. Black letter. Woodcuts. BR. M.

A—E in fours and sixes alternately. With a large woodcut of the Crucifixion on the title and a series of small cuts through the volume.

In the British Museum is a copy of this tract printed by Wynkyn de Worde in 1514, and he also printed editions in 1517 and 1532. This edition of 1530 is not mentioned by Herbert, who describes those of 1517 and 1532, and just mentions that of 1514, which seems to be first, and which he had evidently not seen.

The title is on a ribbon over the woodcut, which occupies almost the entire remainder of the page. On the last page is W. de Worde's device.

Title, preface, and tables, 16 leaves ; a—z and A—CC 2 in sixes.

At the back of the title is a full-length woodcut portrait of the author, and nearly every leaf bears a very beautiful engraving of a plant, occupying the whole page. On the verso of the last leaf but one are the portraits of the artists Heinrich Kullmaurer and Albrecht Meyer, engaged in making the drawings for the work, and beneath is the portrait of the wood engraver, Veyt Rudolf Speckle. The volume is in the original stamped pigskin binding, with the date, 1578, impressed on it.

This first edition, without letterpress and without numbers to the plates, is of such great rarity that a list of the plates which compose it cannot fail to be of service : Engraved title as above (reverse quite blank). Portraits: 1. Jacobus Fugger senex. 2. Barbara F. 3. Georgius. 4. Jacobus F. fil: VII. 5. Sibilla Artzetin. 6. Huldricus. 7. Hieronimus. 8. Raimundus. 9. Catharina Thursonia. 10. Anthonius. 11. Nagler remarks: "Fuggerorum et Fuggerarum imagines, fol., die in der ersten Ausgabe von 1593 ausserst selten sind," but he describes it as consisting of only sixty-four plates.

FUGGERORUM et Fuggerarum quæ in familia natae quæve in familiam transierunt quot extant aere expressæ imagines. Dominicus Custodis Ant: totius Operis deliniator, et sculptor. Aug. Vind. 1618. Folio. Large paper.

This edition contains 127 portraits. It is not unfrequently quoted in error as the original, because it retains on the engraved title the date of 1593. The date of 1618 is found printed in letterpress at the back of this engraved title. Though this edition contains so many more portraits than the first edition, that, on the other hand, contains some which are not found in the later impressions.

From the collections of Mr. Park and Mr. Heber. Not more than two copies seem to be known. The other was in Sir Francis Freeling's collection, and afterwards in Mr. Corser's.

An index to the book is bound up at the end of Fuller's "Appeal of Injured Innocence," 1659. On the old fly-leaf of the present copy, before it was rebound, was the following memorandum: "John Curtis. pr. 25^s. 1668." This copy belonged to Mr. Corser. Another is in the British Museum.

In verse and prose. Title and dedication to "sir William Cecill, Baron of Burghleygh," 2 leaves; B—R in fours, last leaf blank.

A beautiful copy of a volume of extreme rarity. It is a curious historical medley, somewhat on the model of the "Mirror for Magistrates," and has been included in Park's "Supplement to the Harleian Miscellany," edit. 1808, but without the quaint woodcuts which are in the original. One of these is copied by Laing in his "Supplement to Dunbar," 1865. For some account of Fulwell and of a second work by him see Collier ("Bibl. Cat.," i. 296-9).

A, 2 leaves, with the title and dedication; B—I in fours, followed by a leaf headed "A catalogue of those Names vnto whom this worke is appropriated."

This seems to have been the only edition, but at least two title-pages were given to it, as Mr. Corser's copy, though otherwise corresponding, differed in the imprint. Not more than three perfect copies are known, one being among Malone's books at Oxford. In Heber's sale occurred a copy with a facsimile title, dated 1619, which had passed through the White-Knights and Perry collections, but the difference of date was probably an error of the facsimilist. The present copy was found on a stall at Lancaster.

The work, as the title imports, is a series of badges and emblems, with metrical illustrations beneath each. To the king, queen, and certain members of the nobility, to which these are addressed, are allotted a badge and an emblem.

G., R. [A letter concerning the commitment of the Duke of Norfolk to the Tower. The piece begins on A iii with the headline] Salutem in Christo. [At the end is] At London the . xij. of October. 1571. Your louyng Brother in Lawe. R. G. [No place, printer's name, or date.] [1571.] Sm. 8vo. Black letter.

A 3—B 3 in fours.

This letter has been attributed to the pen of Lord Burleigh. Another edition in the British Museum commences on A i.

G., R. A Relation or Iournall of the beginning and proceedings of the English Plantation setled at Plimoth in New England, by certaine English Aduenturers both Merchants and others. With their difficult passage, their safe ariuall, their ioyfull building of, and comfortable planting themselues in the now well defended Towne of New Plimoth. As also a Relation of Fovre seuerall discoueries since made by some of the same English Planters there resident. I. In their iourney to the Kingdome of Namaschet, in defence of their greatest King Massasoyt . . . IIII. Their voyage to the Massachusetts, and their entertainment there. With an answer to all such obiections as are any way made against the lawfulnessse of English plantations in those parts. London, Printed for Iohn Bellamie, and are to be sold at his shop at the two Greyhounds in Cornhill neere the Royall Exchange. 1622. 4to. R. M.

A, 2 leaves; B—L in fours.

The leaf following the title is marked A 3, and there is no A 4; which is the case with three other copies of this rare volume examined for the purpose of verification. The modern reprint also corresponds as regards the text. The several narratives of which the book consists, were, as R. G. states in his introductory epistle to Mr. I. P., "writ by the seuerall Actors themselves, after their plaine and rude manner." The MS. seems to have been sent over to England by the same R. G., and to have been printed through the instrumentality of G. Movrt. Pp. 60-4 are occupied by a letter from E[dward] W[inslow] to a friend in America, in recommendation of New Plymouth.

It was no doubt this work which suggested to Longfellow at least the name of his hero, "Miles Standish, the Puritan Captain."

The "prohemium" is dated 1488, and it is possible that the date given at the end may be intended for 1490, but it is more probably 1509.

GAIFEROS. Romance de don Gayferos que trata, como saco a su esposa que estaua en tierra de Moros, Impresso con licencia en Seuilla en casa de Juan de Herrera. [Circa 1605.] 4to.

Four leaves. Beneath the title is a woodcut of a knight in armour and a coat of arms. No edition of this romance was in Señor Salvá's collection, nor does he in any way refer to it. Gallardo, vol. i., No. 750, describes an edition without date also consisting of four leaves, and, like this, printed in two columns of thirty-five lines each. Of that edition he says: "Acaso será la impresion de Búrgos, hecha á mediados del siglo XVI por Felipe de Junta." The choice collection of Mr. R. S. Turner contains two editions printed in the first half of the sixteenth century. This edition of Seville appears to be quite undescribed.

GAISTLICHE vsslegong des lebēs Jhesu Cristi. [O. O. u. F.] Folio. Woodcuts.

a—x in eights ; y, 10 leaves.

This very curious life and passion of Christ is undescribed by Panzer, Hain, or Brunet, though Panzer just mentions the book (No. 20) as being in the University library at Ingoldstadt. It is written in a south German dialect, and was probably printed at Augsburg about 1485. A 1 is blank on the recto, and on the verso is a large woodcut of Christ with a winged angel on either side of him. There are altogether ninety-three woodcuts, which are of very different degrees of artistic merit. That of purgatory, for instance, might well be from the hand of Cranach, while others are of rude design and execution. On the recto of the last leaf is a large and curious woodcut of the child Jesus. The book concludes with the following verses printed as prose :—

Griesst syest ihesu kind so miñenglich.
 Lieb gancz vnd gar begirlich.
 Vor sinden mich behiete.
 Durch diner müter giete
 Min hercz in tugenden bestät
 Das ich dich niess in ewikait.

A fine example of binding executed for the library of Demetrio Canevari, Physician to Pope Urban VIII. The tooling on the sides is in the same style as the Grolier bindings, but in the centre is impressed, in low relief, a representation of Apollo driving his car. Specimens of binding from this library are much rarer than from that of Grolier.

Four leaves. In 7-line stanzas.

From the libraries of Sir F. Freeling, Mr. Jolley, and Mr. Corser. The title is on a ribbon at the top of the first page.

This is a duplicate of the copy in the British Museum, marked in Hazlitt's "Handbook," p. 218. as edition (δ). No others are known, and the present copy is unfortunately mutilated and restored in one or two places, having originally been taken from the covers of another book.

See Ritson's "Bibliographia Poetica," 1802, p. 80, where, among the works of John Lydgate, the monk of Bury, is enumerated a piece entitled: "Gallants, England may wail that ever they came here," which seems, in fact, to be the present treatise. Ritson says at the end of his list that it is "highly probable that some of these pieces are not by Lydgate." It is a far more spirited piece than the greater part of his acknowledged works. It is reprinted, from a collation of all the editions, in Hazlitt's "Popular Poetry," iii.

Dedicated to Sir Robert Cecil, by Hakluyt, who subscribes himself, "your Honors Chaplein, in all dutie." The original Portuguese version was printed at Lisbon in 1563, but so rare was it even in Hakluyt's time, that he says in his preface, "It (the translation) hath lien by me aboue these twelve yeeres. In all which space though I haue made much inquirie, and sent to Lisbon, where it seemeth it was printed, yet to this day I could neuer obtaine the originall copie; whereby I might reforme the manifold errors of the translator."

A, 2 leaves; B—K in fours. In verse.

Dedicated "To The Kings most Sacrat Maiestie." The series ends with Prince Henry. This work has been reprinted, with Gardyne's "Garden of Graue and Godly Flowers," for the Abbotsford Club. Of the original only two other copies are known: one, from the Duke of Roxburghe's library, in the British Museum (the title slightly defective), the other at Britwell, formerly Heber's. In the Grenville catalogue it is described as printed in 1625, but this is a mistake, which has, however, been copied by Lowndes.

Map of the Tyne from Newcastle to Tynemouth, including parts of Durham and Northumberland, as a frontispiece ; title, 1 leaf ; dedication to Oliver Cromwell, 2 leaves ; To the Reader, 1 leaf ; B—Ee 2 in fours.

There are many engravings on the letterpress by Stent, including portraits of the English kings, also a fine one of Cromwell at p. 114 by R. Gaywood, similar to that which occurs in Gand's "Parallelum Olivæ," 1656, folio, but with an inscription beneath it and marked "R. G. fecit" and "Peter Stent Exc : 1653."

In 1849 appeared a tract, printed for the first time from one of the Hornby MSS. and entitled, "The Plea and Defence of the Mayor and Burgesses of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, as Conservators of the Port thereof, against the malevolent accusations of Gardiner and his Adherents, as exhibited by him before Parliament in 1653, and given in his 'Englands Grievance Discovered in relation to the Coal Trade.'"

From the collection of Mr. Cotton, the Ordinary of Newgate, with his book-plate. The only other copy known is in the Bodleian library. The volume is dedicated to Sir Henry Gaudie, Sir Miles Corbet, Sir Hammond Le-Strang, Sir Henry Spelman, Knights. The connection with angling is purely figurative.

A—S 4 in eights, except E, which has only 4 leaves.

From Mr. Maskell's collection. Sheet E is printed entirely in Greek types, and sheet F in Roman letter, being a quotation by Gardiner, in support of his argument, from "Damascene," first in the original Greek, and then in Latin and English, the last in black letter, like the rest of the book. Gardiner gives the following reason for introducing this : "I haue ben the rather persuaded, to wryte in, the Originall in greke, and therwith the translacion in latyn and also english. It shal not greatly augment the boke, and bycause some children learne greake in this tyme, it maye serue them for a lesson, wherwith to occupie their tender wittes, and conferme thē against the malyce of the deuyl."

On p. 6 is a fine copper-plate portrait of "Don Philipe," son of Philip II., and above the colophon is a large woodcut portrait of the author.

The original was printed at Venice in 1586. A French translation was printed at Paris, 1620, and a German version at Strasburg, 1618. None of the translations seem, however, to have been printed more than once.

This is the most complete edition of Gascoigne, and was published ten years after his death. It by no means, however, contains all that he wrote, even in verse, nor is it on the whole a correct text. See "Bibl. Anglo-poet.," No. 288.

This is regarded as the first genuine edition, having been revised and entirely remodelled by the author, who, however, if he saw it through the press, did so somewhat negligently, since words which stand correct in the earlier edition are here misprinted. See "Bibl. Anglo-Poet.," No. 285, and "Bibl. Heber.," part iv., Nos. 765-7. The title-page was printed twice, with a variation in the imprint and in the border or compartment, but nothing beyond. The interesting copy of this book described in "Bibl. Heber.," part iv., No. 767, was purchased at Dr. Bliss's sale for the Bodleian library.

The dedication of "The Fruites of Warre" to Lord Grey is omitted in the edition of 1587. "The opinion of the auctor himself after all these commendations"

"Dieses Fastnachtspiel wird von Gottsched, in dem Vorrath zur Geschichte der deutschen dramatischen Dichtkunst S. 46. als das erste gedruckte Stück aus dem 16^{ten}. Seculo angeführt."—Panzer, Annalen der ältern deutschen Litteratur.

Panzer goes on to say that he is quite ignorant of any particulars of the author. Dr. Graesse, however, in his "Trésor de livres rares," &c., gives a list of eleven different pieces by him, and mentions that his works were reprinted in 1856. He appears to have become a strong partisan of the Reformation.

GENGENBACH, PAMPHILUS. Nouella.

Eighteen leaves.

This piece is a violent satire in verse against Thomas Murner, the strong antagonist of Luther. A full account of it is given by Panzer ("Annalen," vol. ii., p. 113), who assigns to it the date of 1522. By Graesse it is said to be a second edition under a fresh title of a piece by the same author, entitled "Ein grausame history von einem Pfarrer vnd einem geyst vnd dem Murner der sich nempt der Narrenbeschwerer," also printed without place or date.

GENINGES, EDMUND. The Life and Death of M^r. Edmund Geninges Priest, Crowned with Martyrdome at London, the 10. day of Nouember, in the yeare M.DXCI. Pretiosa in conspectu Dñi Mors Sanctorum eius. Psal. 115. At S. Omers by Charles Boscard. An. 1614. 4to. R. M.

A—O in fours.

The title-page, the portrait of Geninges, "Ætatis suæ 24, A^o. 1591," and eleven prints illustrating his life from childhood, are all engraved by Martin Bas. The whole is in prose, except "The Author to his Booke," and "The Booke to his Reader," three 6-line stanzas each on A 2. On A 3 is a letter signed "J. W. P.," addressed to "Maister J. G. P." These initials probably represent John Wilson or Watson, the author of the "Roman Martyrologie," printed in 1608, and John Geninges, brother of Edmund Geninges. It is, however, not at all clear from this letter whether Wilson or John Geninges was the author of the biography.

GENTLEMAN'S CALLING. The Gentleman's Calling. London Printed for T. Garthwait at the Little North-doore of S. Pauls. 1660. Sm. 8vo.

Title and frontispiece, as in preceding article, 2 leaves; a—b in eights; B—M in eights.

This is a different edition, published in the same year. The errors of the first impression are corrected. From p. 1 to 159 it seems to be a paginary reprint, but the preliminaries added vary considerably.

GEOGRAPHIÆ veteris Scriptores Græci minores, cum interpretatione Latina, dissertationibus, ac annotationibus. [On title of Vol. III.] Accedunt Geographica Arabica, &c. Oxoniæ, 1698, 1703, 1712. 4 vols. 8vo. Large paper. BL. M.

A—G 2 in fours.

Mr. Dyce, in his editions of Greene's works, 1831 and 1861, has shown some ground for the attribution of the present drama to that writer. This edition is the only one known.

— The History of George A Green, Pindar of the Town of Wakefield. His Birth, Calling, Valour, and Reputation in the Country. With Divers Pleasant as well as Serious Passages in the Course of his Life and Fortune. Illustrated with Cuts. [Quotation from Virg. Æneid.] London: Printed for Tho. Norris, at the Looking-Glass on London-Bridge. [n. d.] Sm. 8vo.

A, 4 leaves; a, 4 leaves; B—L in fours, with several full-page woodcuts and a frontispiece.

Dedicated to the Steward, &c., of Wakefield. This seems to be identical with an edition bearing date 1706. There is another dated 1715, with the same cuts. This prose history was probably anterior to the play on the subject, printed in 1599; but the earliest known impression is one of 1632, in the Bodleian library.

The present copy was successively in the collections of the Duke of Roxburghe, Sir Francis Freeling, and Mr. George Smith.

Six leaves. Thirty-six lines to the page. This appears to be the edition described by Hain, No. 7726. Another edition of six leaves and thirty-six lines to the page was printed at Memmingen by Albert Kunc, Hain, 7729.

This edition of thirty-five leaves, with twenty-nine lines to the page, does not appear to be described by Hain.

Thirty-four leaves, twenty-five lines to the page.

This appears to be the edition indicated by Hain, No. 7654, and attributed by him to the press of the Brothers of Common life, "In valle Mariæ Virginis in Rhingavia." It agrees exactly with the colophon he gives so far as the wording goes, but differs in the division of the lines; but as his description is not taken from actual inspection it is probable this is a mistake.

GESTA GRAYORUM: or, the History Of the High and mighty Prince, Henry Prince of Purpoole, Arch-Duke of Stapulia and Bernardia, Duke of High and Nether Holborn, Marquis of St. Giles and Tottenham, Count Palatine of Bloomsbury and Clerkenwell, Great Lord of the Cantons of Islington, Kentish-Town, Paddington and Knights-bridge, Knight of the most Heroical Order of the Helmet, and Sovereign of the same; Who Reigned and Died, A. D. 1594. Together with A Masque, as it was presented (by His Highness's Command) for the Entertainment of Q. Elizabeth, who, with the Nobles of both Courts, was present thereat. London, Printed for W. Canning, at his Shop in the Temple-Cloysters. 1688. 4to.

A, 2 leaves; B—K 2 in fours.

Dedicated by the publisher to Matthew Smyth, Esq., Comptroller of the Honourable Society of the Inner-Temple. This tract was reprinted by Nichols in his "Progresses of Queen Elizabeth," with the second part, the latter (of which there is no printed edition) from a MS. "Stapulia" and "Bernardia" are, of course, Staple and Bernard's Inns. Though printed by Nichols as though it were the record of a masque that had been acted in the sixteenth century, it is, in fact, only a satire.

Four leaves, forty-six lines to the full page.

Whether this or the Nuremberg edition is to be reckoned as the second it is difficult to determine in the absence of the month in the colophon of the latter; but as February, 1507, would be, in the old style, fifteen months later than November, 1506, the date of the first edition, it is probable that the Nuremberg edition is the second.

GESTA ROMANORUM. Ex gestis romanoꝝ hystorie nōbiles : de vitijs v̄tutibusq; tractātes. cū applicacōnib⁹ moralizatis & mysticis : Incipiunt feliciter. [Sine ullā notā.] Folio. BR. M.

This edition of 169 leaves, 36 lines to the page, is esteemed the earliest of this famous collection of tales by some bibliographers; but by others that honour is assigned to the edition printed at Utrecht by Nicholas Ketelaer. Hain gives this edition the first place in his list (No. 7734), and attributes it to the press of Ulric Zell of Cologne, about 1472. A MS. note by Sir F. Madden in the Grenville copy says that it was undoubtedly printed by Zell.

This tract is bound up in a volume with Lupton's "Too Good to be true," 1587 (part 1), Stubbes's "Christal Glasse for Christian Women," 1592, &c. The collection seems to have been formed by one Philip Moore, whose initials are on each side of the original calf cover, and his autograph on three of the pieces. There is also in the volume an imperfect copy of Gibbon's "Praise of a Good Name," 1594.

This appears to be quite complete, but does not include, or contain at the end, the tract by Beza, which Herbert says (p. 884) was printed with this under the general title of "A brieft declaration of the chiefe poyntes of Christian Religion." The copy in the British Museum contains only the same as this.

It is probably on account of the preface by Polydore Virgil being dated from London in 1525 that the book is described by Herbert as printed there in that year. It is printed throughout in a small italic type, but there is no indication whatever of the place of printing.

Humboldt, as quoted by HARRISSE, says of this piece: "C'est dans cette brochure, très rare aujourd'hui, que j'ai trouvé employé pour la première fois la dénomination d'Amérique pour désigner le Nouveau Monde, d'après le conseil donné par Hylacomylus en 1507. The title to this book, as given above, is entirely xylographic. On the back of the title is a woodcut of Pope Urban II. preaching the Crusade. The first edition was printed at Augsburg, in 1482, by Bämmler. According to Brunet, "The History of Helyas the Knight of the Swan," printed by Wynkyn de Worde, 1512, 4to, is a translation of this book; but in this statement he is certainly mistaken, and there is, in fact, no relation whatever between the two works.

This edition was unknown to Panzer, and Dr. Graesse was only acquainted with it through Zapf's "Augsburgs Buchdrucker-Geschichte."

Compuestas por Juan de Godoy, con vnas alabanças a san Raymundo. Impresa con licencia. [s. l.] Año 1608. 4to.*

Four leaves. The first two leaves are marked A and A 2. The third leaf is marked B, and on this is another title-heading: "Obra contemplatiua para los Christianos, donde se trata vn discreto Codecilo, que hizo el Rey don Philippe II. que estè en el Cielo," &c. On each title is a small rude woodcut.

Señor Salvá describes another piece by this author printed at Cuenca in 1603, also consisting of four leaves, and speaks of it as "raro y curiosissimo opusculo." The author is evidently, as Señor Salvá remarks, a different person from the two writers of the same name mentioned by Antonio.

Brunet gives an accurate collation of this volume so far as regards the text, but does not mention the map, which is in this copy placed at the end of the preliminary matter and is entitled "Brevis exactaq. totius novi orbis eiusq. insularum descriptio recens a Ioan. Bellerio edita." At the end of the preliminary matter is the following imprint: "Impresso en Anuers por Juan Lacio. M.D.L.IIIII."

Title and preliminaries, 8 leaves; A—Gg in fours.

The fifth chapter of this volume has a treatise on chess, and at p. 108 we find the following curious notice:

“ Et ne veuillez jamais donner foy aux faremo de Rome, a Adesso d’Italie, au Magnana d’Espagne, au Byand-by d’Angleterre, au Warant-you d’Escosse, et au tantost de France, car sont tous de peu d’importance.”

The term “frères-mineurs d’Angleterre” is explained by the Dutch version, where the words stand “Jonger Broeders,” but the other epithets are the same in the Dutch as in the French.

On the recto of Dd iv is a recapitulation of the number of proverbs contained under each letter of the alphabet. They amount in all to 5,806. M. Duplessis has shown that the work is in fact a translation of Florio’s “Giardino di recreatione,” printed at London in 1591.

There can be no doubt that this volume was printed at a later date than 1499, and it is probably the earliest example of an attempt to deceive in this way. The general appearance of the book, the small Arabic numerals for pagination, the use of pagination instead of folios, and the sham antiquarian look of the large capitals, all point to a hundred years later than the date it pretends to. The title has been given exactly as it stands in the original, with the words in many instances run into one another.

GOMEZ, GASPAR. Tercera parte de la tragicomedia de Celestina: va psiguiendo en los amores de Felides, y Polãdria: cõcluyen se sus desseados desposorios y la muerte y desdichado fin que elle vuo: es obra dela qual se pueden sacar dichos sutilissimos, sentencias admirables: por muy elegante estilo dichas agora nueuamẽte compuestas por Gaspar Gomez. A—P in eights; Q, 6 leaves.

For an account of the extreme rarity of this volume see the catalogue of Señor Salvá, No. 1269. Brunet had evidently taken the title at secondhand without being able to see the book itself. The only authority for an edition of 1536 is Panzer, who describes one as printed at Medina del Campo in that year. Ticknor mentions an edition of 1537, but this Señor Salvá says must be a mistake.

GOMEZ DE FIGUEROA, ALVAR. Aqui se comiença vna obra llamada Reprehension de la republica: y espejo del alma. Trobada por Aluar Gomez de Figueroa, peregrino de Hierusalem, natural de Cordoua: nueuamente con licencia impressa. En Salamanca en casa de Antonia Ramirez viuda, año de 1607. 4to.

Four leaves.

Beneath the title is a rude woodcut of a monkey playing the violin. Señor Salvá describes an edition of this work, but of a much later date, being printed at Madrid in 1642. He remarks: "Gonzalez de Legaria no ha logrado un lugar en la Biblioteca de Nic. Antonio, ni vió su folleto el Sr D. A. Duran."

See "Bibl. Heber.," part iv., No. 905, where there is a long and interesting note as to the extreme rarity of this volume; Collier's "Bibl. Cat.," i., pp. 318-20, where it is said that only two copies are extant, and an exhaustive description of the book is given; also Brydges's "Restituta," iii., 35; iv., 307, &c. By a flaw in the printing the verso of C 3 in this copy has been left blank, rendering the text of the seventh Eclogue incomplete. The only other copies known are in the Capel collection and at Britwell. On a 4 verso are the arms of Googe.

The copy here described was found at the end of one of the small 8vo editions of the author's translation of "The Zodiacke of Life," with which it had been bound up.

The only copy known. From the "Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica," No. 597, afterwards in the libraries of Mr. Midgley, Sir Mark Sykes, Sir Francis Freeling, and Mr. Corser.

The piece is reviewed at length, with extracts, in Mr. Collier's "Bibliogr. Catal.," ii., 215-17. He says that Gosson "claims it as his production by a MS. note in a copy of the edition of 1596," but does not mention where that copy is to be found. Though Mr. Collier describes the edition of 1595, he seems to have supposed that the woodcut of the "Newfangled Gentlewoman" appeared only in the second impression, for he says, speaking of the 1595 edition, "it was reprinted in the next year, with a woodcut of a fine lady of the time on the title-page."

Forty-six leaves. A has 7 leaves; B, 8 leaves; C and D, 6 leaves each; E, 7 leaves; F and G, 6 leaves each.

It is so unusual for a sheet to be composed of an odd number of leaves that it is natural to expect an imperfection. This book is, however, quite perfect, the odd number of leaves in the sheets being caused by the insertion of a single leaf, bearing a woodcut on the recto, in sheets A and E.

This rare volume is mentioned by Panzer; but he was unable to give more than the bare title, and had evidently never seen the book. By other bibliographers it seems to be quite unnoticed. It is a miracle play in rhyming verse, and the dramatic personæ comprise Almighty God, Christ, the Devil, Death, the Merchant, the Doctor, &c.

A—F in fours. A woodcut on the title.

Mr. Collier has given a full account of this piece in his "Bibliogr. Catal.," i., 333. He mentions that there were three editions in the same year. The first, which contained a passage specially offensive to Gabriel Harvey, was so effectually suppressed that no copy of it is now known. Mr. Collier also remarks: "Greene's claim to originality in the design, and indeed in the wording of some of his descriptions, &c., is destroyed by the discovery of Francis Thynne's humorous poem, 'The Debate between Pride and Lowliness,' which has been reprinted by the Shakespeare Society, and of which an account is given hereafter under Thynne."

A—O in fours.

No first part of "Mamillia" is known, but it was licensed in 1581, and the second part in 1583. The edition of 1593 is, however, the only one which is now known. It is by no means one of the rarest of Greene's publications.

The first division of the second part of "Mamillia" is dedicated to the author's friends, Robert Lee and Roger Portington, Esquires, and has an introductory poem by Richard Stapleton. The second is dedicated to "Mary Rogers, wife to M. Hugh Rogers of Euer-ton," and has verses "In praise of the Author and his Booke" by G. B.

Mr. Corser's copy.

This tract is thus mentioned in the Stationers' Registers for 1592 :—

"xx^o die Septembris.

Of the edition of 1596, described above, the only other copy on record is that which was sold among Archdeacon Wrangham's books. The present is from the libraries of Mr. Jolley and Mr. Corser.

The address to the reader which follows the title is signed by W.[illiam] W.[righte], the printer of the first edition.

A—K in fours, title on A 2.

From the library of King Charles II., in old red morocco, with the king's cipher down the back. Other plays by Greene and Marlowe are in the volume. In a MS. note on the flyleaf of the book, the Earl of Charlemont, referring to this and four other volumes in his collection in similar binding, says: "These five volumes were in the library of Charles the first [second], with whose Cypher the Bindings are mark'd. This play is not mentioned among the works of Robert Greene in Langbaine's Catalogue. Neither is it mentioned by Wood. I am informed by my friend Mr. Edmond Malone that this Play is not to be met with in any of the great Collections which have been made in England."

Of the five volumes here referred to, two are in the library. They were purchased at the sale of the Charlemont library in 1865.

A—H in fours. In prose and verse.

Dedicated to Robert Carey Esquire. This was Mr. Corser's copy, purchased at Mr. Lyte's sale. The work was licensed, and probably printed, in 1589. It is remarkable as containing the earliest specimen of a translation from Anacreon into English. In the preface to his "Perimedes," 1588, Greene announces his "Orpharion" as ready for the press.

— The Historie of Orlando Fvrioso, one of the Twelve Peeres of France. As it was playd before the Queenes Maiestic. Imprinted at London by Simon Stafford, for Cuthbert Burby: And are to be sold at his shop neere the Royall Exchange. 1599. 4to. R. M.

A—H 3 in fours.

The following passage from "The Defence of Conny catching," an anonymous tract of 1592, curiously illustrates the history of this play: "But now Sir by your leaue a little, what if I should proue you a Conny-catcher Maister R. G. would it not make you blush at the matter? He go as neare to it as the Fryer did to his Hostesse mayde, when the Clarke of the parish tooke him at Leuatem at midnight. Aske the Queens Players, if you sold them not Orlando Furioso for twenty Nobles, and when they were in the country, sold the same Play to the Lord Admirals men for as much more. Was not this plaine Conny-catching Maister R. G.?"

GREENE, ROBERT. Penelopes Web. Where, in a Christall Mirror of feminine perfection represents to the view of euery one those vertues and graces, which more curiously beautifies the mind of women, then cyther sumptuous Apparell, or Iewels of inestimable value: the one buying fame with honour, the other breeding a kinde of delight, but with repentance. From the libraries of North, Heber, Skegg, and Mr. Corser. This work was first printed in 1589, in which edition is a copy of commendatory verses by Thomas Brabine, not found in any of the reissues. The volume contains a good deal of poetry, of which two or three specimens were inserted in "England's Helicon," 4to, 1600.

Prefixed is a long prefatory address "To the Gentlemen students of both Universities," by Thomas Nash, followed by some verses by Henry Upcher.

Of the edition of 1589 the copy purchased at Bindley's sale for £18 18s. by Mr. Perry, and at his sale by Heber, appears to be the only complete one known.

A—Q in fours. In prose and verse.

From the Freeling and Corser collections.

Dedicated to the author's friend Thomas Barnaby, Esq., of Northamptonshire. Prefixed are some commendatory verses, signed respectively by Richard Hake and Ralph Sidney. The name of the latter writer is given in the first edition of the book, printed in 1590, and also in the edition of 1600, as Sidley, which was probably the real name, that of Sidney being most likely an error of the press.

— Theeves falling out, True-men come by their Goods: or, The Bel-man wanted a Clapper. From the Freeling and Corser collections.

This tract is a reproduction of Greene's "Disputation between a He-Coni-catcher and a She-Coni-catcher," 1592, with a new preface (yet signed "Robert Greene"), the names of the interlocutors altered, and the "merry tale" "taken not far from Fetter Lane end" omitted. The re-editor refers rather incautiously (as he uses Greene's name) to Decker's "Belman of London" and his "Lanthorn and Candlelight," which were not published till many years after Greene's death in 1592.

The only copies of the "Disputation" known are that in the Bodleian and the one sold among Heber's books. Of the piece described above the earliest impression known is that of 1615.

GREENE, ROBERT. The Pleasant and Delightful History of Dorastus and Fawnia. By Robert Green, Master of Arts in Cambridge. London, Printed by W. O. for G. Conyers, at the Ring in Little-Britain, 1703. 4to.

A—F 2 in fours.

This is a very late impression of the prose fiction which Greene published in 1588 under the title of "Pandosto, the Triumph of Time." It is reprinted in "Shakespeare's Library" from the first edition, on account of the supposed obligations of the dramatist to it in the "Winter's Tale."

GREEN-GOOSE FAIR. The Three Merry Wives of Green-Goose Fair: With them for Mirth None can compare. Or, A Pleasant Discourse of three Merry-Cummers.

*Being full of delight and pleasant wit,
The merriest Book that ever was writ.*

Printed in the Year 1694. Sm. 8vo. G. M.

Eight leaves. In verse.

The only copy known. See a note on "Goose-fair" by Gifford, in his edition of Ben Jonson, 1816, ii., 451-2. At the end he says: "It is still held (as in the poet's days) on Whitsun-monday, at Bow near Stratford in Essex; and takes its name from the young or green geese which form the principal part of the entertainment."

From the collection of Mr. Geo. Daniel.

GREGORIUS MAGNUS. Incipit liber regule pastoral' gregoriij pape ad iohānem Archiepiscopum Rauēnensem Prologus. [Colophon.] Explicit liber regule pastoral' gregoriij pape: ad Iohānen (sic) archiepiscopū Rauēnensem. [Sine ullā notā.] 4to. BR. M.

One hundred and fifty-two leaves, twenty-four lines to the page.

Hain (No. 7982) attributes the volume to the press of Fust and Schoeffer.

GREGSON, MATTHEW. Portfolio of Fragments, relative to the History and antiquities of the County Palatine and Duchy of Lancaster. Second Edition, with Additions. To be had of the Editor, Liverpool. 1824. Folio. Maps and plates. G. M.

There is an elaborate and careful collation of this volume in Lowndes.

The fourth volume was edited by Mr. W. B. Rye, of the British Museum. It completes the work by adding those books which were not thought of sufficient importance to be inserted in the first or second parts. It contains also a general index to the four volumes.

GRESHAM, SIR THOMAS. Sir Thomas Gresham his Ghost. Printed for William Ley. 1647. 4to.

Four leaves. In verse. With a woodcut on the title, representing Gresham issuing full-dressed from his shroud.

It appears from the address of "Vitruvius to the impartial Reader," on the back of the title, that Gresham's will, bequeathing his house in London to the use of seven able artists, representing the seven liberal sciences, had not been carried out; and the present tract is an exposure of the abuse and injustice involved therein.

GREVILLE, ROBERT KAYE. Scottish Cryptogamic Flora . . . Edinburgh, 1823-8. 6 vols. 8vo.

GRIEVOUS. Greevous Grones for the Poore. Done by a Well-willer, who wisheth, That the poore of England might be so prouided for, as none should neede to go a begging within this Realme.

The Poore afflicted are,
So that they perish fast :
If now no order taken be,
Then Ruine comes at last.

London Printed for Michaell Sparke. 1621. 4to.

A—D in fours, title on A 2.

Dedicated by the publisher "To the Right Honourable, Right Worshipfull, and worthy Company of the Virginian and Sommer-Iland Plantations." This tract has been ascribed, probably without foundation, to Decker; it is more likely that we ought to add it to the productions of the bookseller Michael Sparke. The last leaf is occupied by some verses on the parable of the barren fig-tree. The dedication contains nothing of interest relating to America.

GRIFFIN, B. Fidessa, more chaste then kinde. By B. Griffin, gent. At London Printed by the Widdow Orwin, for Matthew Lowmes. 1596. Sm. 8vo. G. M.

A, 4 leaves, first blank; B—E 7 in eights.

Dedicated "To the most kind and vertuous gentleman, M. William Essex of Lamebourne, in the County of Barke, Esquire," which is followed by an address to the gentlemen of the Inns of Court, where Griffin speaks of a pastoral which he intended to have annexed to "Fidessa," but was obliged to postpone. No such work has been met with. The book is prettily printed within borders. The sonnets are sixty-two in number, and, according to Mr. Collier, abound in plagiarisms.

From the libraries of Mr. Lyte and Mr. Daniel. A copy is in the Malone collection, and another at Lamport, near Northampton, the seat of Sir Charles Isbam.

Griffin's "Fidessa" has acquired a special interest on account of the similarity between the third sonnet and a passage in Shakespeare's "Venus and Adonis."

This is a tract of the greatest rarity. Lowndes does not refer to the sale or any copy, but observes that John Fox's Latin translation is in the British Museum. Herbert described the copy at Lambeth.

GRINGOIRE, P. Here begynneth the castell of laboure. [Colophon.] Thus endeth the castell of labour wherein is rychesse/ vertue and honoure. Enprynted be me Richarde Pynson. [About 1500.] 4to. Black letter. Woodcuts. BR. M.

A, 8 leaves; B—I in sixes. The last leaf is occupied by Pynson's large device on the recto, and a cut of the Castle of Labour on the verso.

This is a poetical translation in eight-line stanzas, by Alexander Barclay, from the "Chateau de labour" of Pierre Gringoire. In the public library at Cambridge is a later impression, printed by W. de Worde, 1506, 4to; but neither of that nor of this edition by Pynson is a second copy at present known. A fragment of an early edition is among Douce's books in the Bodleian.

The "Passion" is translated into verse, and is followed by prose notes. The present copy seems to be on thick paper. After the dedication by Sandys to Charles I. comes a long poem addressed to the author [translator] by Lord Falkland. This appears to be a second edition. The copy in the British Museum has for imprint only "Printed by John Legatt. 1640," and has not the poem by Lord Falkland, which is added to this edition.

Dedicated "To Her Loving Sonne Bernye Grymestone." This was Dr. Bliss's copy, afterwards Mr. Stainforth's.

Dr. Bliss notes on the flyleaf : "Philip Bliss 1832. from Mr. Russell's books at Magd. Coll. Of Barker. See 'Censura Literaria,' vol. 4, p. 39. Elizabeth Grymeston, the authoress of this very rare little book, was daughter of Martin Berney, of Gunston in Norfolk and married Christopher, sixth son of Thomas Grymeston, Esq. of Grimston in Yorkshire. It appears from the address of the authoress to her son Berney Grymstone that he was the only surviving child of her marriage, eight others having died. See Lodge's 'Peerage of Ireland,' edit. 1754, vol. 3, p. 266. It is strange that Ballard takes no notice of the writer in his account of Learned English Ladies, a proof of his never having met with either of the editions of her 'Miscellanea.'"

"To my deare friend Mr. Tho. Brooke with Pastor Fido before an entended voyage.

"This to the man I most affect I send :
The faithfull Shepherd to as true a friend.
There on each page thoult tender'st passion see,
But none more tender than my own for thee.
Mays't thou with pleasure read, & as you read
Of courtly minds from courtly vices freed,
Let conscious pride thy generous bosom fire,
Where gentlest arts wth rural faith conspire.
Here to[o] thoult see thy own mischance : a Son
By his mistaken father half undone ;
But like y^t son's will my misfortunes end ;
And every joy & every grace thy following fate commend ;

Whilst mine does thy unhappy friend constrain
 To shun worse storms on ye tempestious main.
 Yet there, in midst of horror & afright,
 Ile make the thoughts of thine my own delight.
 Let what will fall, I shall be pleas'd to see
 Though wretched in myself, yet blest in thee."

They are very valuable and interesting for the variety of costumes they afford of people in all ranks of life. The title as given above is on the flyleaf in a later handwriting than the book itself. It was purchased at the sale of Mr. Corser's library in 1869.

It would appear that the first printed edition, executed at Paris about 1500, is the only one in which the three pilgrimages, as contained in this MS., have been given, and even in this edition the text was much tampered with by the Benedictine monk who edited it.

Panzer points out, that Quetif, in his "Scriptores Ord. Prædic.," tom. ii., p. 821, attributes this book to a Dominican monk named Ingold, who lived in the fourteenth century. He goes on to say that it is worthy of remark that this Ingold gives the year 1300 as the date when playing cards were introduced into Germany.

First edition, with the title-page engraved by Michael van Lochem, and a series of engravings by Van Lochem and W. Marshall, accompanied by descriptive poetry. This translation has been attributed to Christopher Harvey, who wrote some commendatory verses for Izaak Walton's "Complete Angler." The first edition of the Latin original was published at Antwerp in 1622. Only one other perfect copy of this impression seems to be known, and that, like the present, is not in very good condition.

"Among the Poems is one 'of the most commendable and honourable government of the City of London, in the late time of sicknesse and decease of Q. Elizabeth.'

"The occurrence of the word 'hurlyburly' in this Poem affords a more striking instance of its being used on grave and solemn occasions in Shakspeare's time, than those furnished by Henderson and Reed in their notes on in Macbeth,

'In fine, when certainty of Death was knowne
Of her our Queene, did hurlyburly rise?
No none at all.'

The first volume of this edition is dedicated to Charles Howard, Earl of Nottingham, the second and third to Sir Robert Cecil. Certain portions of the work are in verse, as noticed by Ritson, and this edition reproduces the complimentary poems by W. Camden and others, prefixed to that of 1589, with the addition of some lines by R. Mulcaster. Pp. 187-208 of the first volume are occupied with a curious poetical treatise entitled "the processe of the Libel of English policie, exhorting all England to keepe the sea," which is not in the first edition.

Four leaves.

This tract arose out of the reported indictment by Hales of certain priests in Kent for saying mass. See Herbert's "Ames," 1572, and Lowndes, second edition, 863. The piece is as rare as it is curious and valuable in an historical point of view.

Hall married Susanna Shakespeare, the daughter of the poet. The volume contains accounts of cures effected on the poets Drayton and Randolph. On the leaf before the title is printed lengthwise: "Cook's Select Observations on English Bodies," to serve as a label to the book, the leaf being otherwise blank.

HALL, JOSEPH, Bishop of Exeter. *Virgidemiarvm Sixe Bookes. First three Bookes, of Tooth-lesse Satyrs. 1. Poeticall. 2. Academicall. 3. Morall. These three pieces, though always found in one volume, have different titles and signatures. The first contains A—E in eights. The second has, Title, and "The Author's charge to his Satyres," 2 leaves; B—H 5 in eights. The third, Title, followed by B—F 6 in eights; E 2 is blank, and E 3 is a fourth title, "The Northern Mothers Blessing," &c., 1597.

The first three books of Satires originally appeared in 1597, the last three in 1598. The present is the third edition of Books i.-iii., and the second of Books iv.-vi. Of the "Certaine Poems" there was only a single impression. The piece called there "The Northern Mothers Blessing" is a late text of the old English poem, "How the goode Wife thought hir daughter," edited by Sir F. Madden in 1838.

HALL, JOSEPH, Bishop of Exeter. Quo vadis? A Ivst Censvre of Travell as it is commonly vndertaken by the Gentlemen of our Nation . . . By Ios. Hall D. of Diuinitie. London, Printed by Edward Griffin for Henry Fetherstone. 1617. Sm. 8vo.

A—G 7 in eights, title on A 2.

First edition. Dedicated to Lord Denny, Baron of Waltham. The present copy has MS. notes throughout, concerning which there is the following note on the fly-leaf: "On comparison with an undoubted MS. of Bp. Hall's, I feel but little hesitation in saying, that the marginal headings inserted in the present copy are in the handwriting of the author.—P.[eter] H.[all]." These notes, however, have no special importance, and amount to little more than a running index to the text, such as is often found in old books.

Engraved title and preliminaries, 8 leaves besides an engraved leaf; pp. 1-224; 5 folding maps.

In the library of Mr. R. S. Turner is a copy of this book in which the letterpress is precisely the same as the copy described above, but the title, which is also an engraved one, is entirely different in design. The imprint is: "Sumptibus hæredum Aseantii de Renialme. Hannoveriæ per Gulielmum Antoniû Aº 1607." The maps in this edition have been re-engraved and are better executed than in that of Frankfurt.

It seems that there was an intention, at least, to publish this volume in London; for on the 2nd June, 1605, John Porter entered it at Stationers' Hall. See Arber's "Transcript," vol. iii., p. 124. It does not appear, however, that John Porter printed this or any other book.

HALLIWELL, J. O. See Phillipps.

HALS, WILLIAM. The Compleat History of Cornwall. Part II.

Being the Parochial History. [Truro. About 1750.] Folio. The edges uncut.

A—Rr, two leaves each.

This copy is in the original paper wrapper, on which the author's plan is explained. The first part was held over in consequence of some want of material, and no more than this portion ever appeared. A good account of the publication is given in Lysons' Cornwall and Upcott's English Topography. Lowndes gives Exeter as the probable place of printing; but the advertisement on the wrapper says distinctly that the first four sheets of Part i. were then in the press at Truro, where almost beyond doubt Part ii. was also printed.

The original MS. of Hals's History is in the possession of Sir John Maclean, author of the "History of the Deanery of Trigg Minor," &c. Sir John purchased it of Mr. Stokes, of Bodmin, Cornwall. It is incomplete, nor is it certainly known how far the missing portions could be supplied from the transcripts existing among the papers of Mr. Borlase, of Castle-Horneck; but all the material parts of Hals appear to have been incorporated by Borlase, Davies Gilbert, &c., with their own publications.

London, Printed for Nathaniell Butter. 1640. 4to.

A—B in fours, title on A 2; D—F in fours, no sig. C.

The first ten pages of the text are occupied by the "Description of Madagascar," which concludes on B 4; then probably followed some matter which was eventually suppressed; and on D, with a fresh title, commences the "Paradox."

HANGER, PHILIP. A True Relation how Eighteen Men were Cast away at Sea: Six of which perished in the Ship, And the other Twelve got into the Boat, and lived at Sea six Weeks in it. With The great Hardships they underwent, and how miraculously they were preserved. HANNAY, PATRICK. The Nightingale Sheretine and Mariana. A happy husband. Eligies on the death of Queene Anne. Songs and Sonnets by Patrick Hannay gent. London printed for Nathaniel Butter 1622. Sm. 8vo. In the original vellum wrapper.

The title within a border of thirteen compartments, engraved by Crispin de Passe, including two bars of music in the upper portion and the author's portrait below, 1 leaf; to the Duchess of Lenox, 1 leaf, in verse; complimentary verses by W. Lithgow and others, 3 leaves; musical notes, 2 leaves; B—R 6 in eights. The last two leaves of sig. R were probably blank.

The general title to the volume is also the title to "Philomela." The other divisions have separate letterpress titles. "Sheretine and Mariana," which follows the "Nightingale," commences on the fourth leaf of sig. F with this title: "Sheretine and Mariana. By Patricke Hannay Gent. London, Printed by Iohn Haviland, &c. 1622." "Sheretine and Mariana" has a separate dedication "To the Trvlie Honovrable and Noble Lady Lvcie Covntesse of Bedford."

On sig. L. commences (with a new title): "A Happy Husband: or Directions for a Maid to chvse her mate. Together with a Wives Behaviour after Mariage. The second Edition. By Patrick Hannay Gent. [Quotation from Propertius.] London, Printed by Iohn Haviland for Nathaniel Butter, &c. 1622." This section is inscribed "To the Vertvovs and Noble Lady, the Lady Margaret Home, eldest daughter to the Right Honourable Alexander Earle Home, Baron of Dunglas," &c. Here the author mentions the "not to be requited fauours," which he had received from the lady's family.

The next division opens with another title-page: "Elegies, on the Death of our late Soueraigne Qveene Anne. With Epitaphs." The dedication is in verse "To the most Noble Prince Charles."

The book concludes with "Songs and Sonnets." Dedicated (in verse) "To the Right Honorable S^r Andrew Gray Knight."

From the collections of Archdeacon Wrangham and Mr. George Daniel. The only other copies known are—1. British Museum (from the Bindley and Corser collections); 2. Britwell; 3. Major Hannay.

It should be added that the leaves of music, described in the collation, appear to have been inserted as an after-thought. They are not found in the copy in the British Museum.

A—Q 2 in eights, Q 2 blank.

On the flyleaf is the following memorandum by its former owner, Dr. Bliss : " This was Lord Lumley's copy, and contains his Lordship's MS. notes, consisting of notices of the various places alluded to, and the persons mentioned, throughout the book. It is the most perfect and curious copy I have ever seen." At the foot of the title is Lord Lumley's autograph signature, and on a flyleaf, in a contemporary but different handwriting, occurs : " This is done by Mr. Harington of Somersetsher."

Some of the notes and names inserted on the margins are no doubt written by Lord Lumley, but others are certainly in the autograph of the author.

The only other copy known on large paper is in the library of R. S. Turner, Esq. It has a dedication addressed to Thomas Markham, Esq., and on the back of the title " An Epigram of the booke hanging in cheyns, to y^e Ladyes," both in the author's autograph. The latter is printed among the author's Epigrams, Book i., No. 44.

The Discourse itself ends on sig. K 8, and on the following leaf there is a fresh title : " An Anatomie of the Metamorpho-sed Ajax. Wherein by a tri-pertite method is plainly, openly, and demonstratiuely declared, explained, and eliquidated by pen, plot, and precept, how vnsauerie places may be made sweet, noysome places made wholesome, filthie places made cleanly. captu Lectoris habent sua fata libelli. London Imprinted for Iohn Budge, and are to be sold at his shoppe at the South dore of Pauls, and at Brittaines Burse. 1615. 4to.

A—F in fours.

First edition. Dedicated by the publisher to William, Earl of Pembroke. These Epigrams were appended to the third edition of Harington's "Ariosto" in 1634, after passing through separate editions in 1618 and 1625.

The dedication contains an interesting reference to Sir Philip Sydney, and speaks of the Earl's "Sidneian blood."

HARINGTON, JOHN. The History of Polindor and Flostella. With other Poems. By J. H. London, Printed by Tho: Roycroft for Tho: Dring, at the George in Fleet Street, neere Cliffords Inne, 1651. Sm. 8vo.

A—G 7 in eights, including a frontispiece by Droeshout.

First edition. There was a third in 1657, but of the second no copy appears to be recorded. The additional pieces, at the end of the main poem, pursue the same story.

In the Address to the Reader, the author says that he could have enlarged the additional poems at the end, which he says further, all relate to persons in the story, if "aymed to look big in that kinde; but I thought these enough."

HARIOT, THOMAS. A briefe and true report of the new found land of Virginia: of the commodities there found and to be rayseed, as well marchantable, as others for victuall, building and other necessarie vses for those that are and shalbe the planters there; and of the nature and manners of the naturall inhabitants: Discouered by the English Colony there seated by Sir Richard Greinuile Knight in the yeere 1585. which remained vnder the gouernment of Rafe Lane Esquier, one of her Maiesties Equieres, during the space of twelue monethes: at the speciall charge and direction of the Honourable Sir Walter Raleigh Knight, Lord Warden of the stanneries; who therein hath beene fauoured and authorised by her Maiestie and her letters patents. Directed to the Aduenturers, Fauourers, and Welwillers of the action, for the inhabiting and planting there: By Thomas Hariot; seruant to the abouenamed Sir Walter, a member of the Colony, and there imployed in discouering. Imprinted at London. 1588. 4to. G. M.

In the Grenville catalogue and also in Lowndes this book is most absurdly placed under "De Bry," though all that De Bry had to do with it was that he reprinted it and added some plates. In Lowndes the real author's name is not even mentioned. Mr. Grenville believed that his own copy and that in the Bodleian library were the only ones known, the present, however, makes a third, and a fourth was in the library of the late Lord Taunton.

From the library of Mr. Corser. Only two other copies appear to be known, one of which is in the Bodleian, and the other was successively in the collections of Steevens, the Duke of Roxburghe, and Mr. Heber, see "Bibl. Heber.," part ix., 1346. Mr. Furnivall, in his careful and exhaustive account of this book prefixed to his reprint of it for the Early English Text Society, has given conclusive reasons for regarding this as the earlier of the two editions printed in 1567. There is no doubt that it was first printed in 1566; but of that edition no copy is now known. Mr. Furnivall gives an exact account of the variations of the two issues of 1567 and also of the reprint of the work in 1592, under the title of "The Groundworke of Conny-catching," which is described below.

— A Caueat or Warening for commen Cvrsetors vylgarely called Vagabones, set forth by Thomas Harman. Esquiere. for the vtilite and proffyt of his naturall Cuntrey. A—H 3 in fours.

This Mr. Furnivall shows to be the second state of the second edition.

The present copy wants the leaf H 1, which has been supplied in MS. from a different edition. Except that described in "Bibliotheca Heberiana," part vii., No. 2789, this seems to be the only copy on record. It formerly belonged to Sir Francis Freeling, Dr. Bliss, and Mr. George Smith.

[HARMAN, THOMAS.] The Groundworke of Conny-catching ; the manner of their Pedlers-French, and the meanes to vnderstand the same, with the cunning slights of the Counterfeit Cranke. Therein are handled the practises of the Visiter, the Fetches of the Shifter and Rufflar, the deceits of their Doxes, the deuises of Priggers, the names of the base loytering Losels, and the meanes of euery Blacke-Artmans shifts, with the reproofe of all their diuellish practises. Done by a Justice of Peace of great authoritie, who hath had the examining of diuers of them. [No place or date.] [London, 1592.] 4to. Woodcuts. G. M.

A—F in fours, and a leaf marked * after the title.

From the collections of the Duke of Roxburghe, Mr. Heber, and Mr. Corser. See "Bibl. Heber," part iv., No. 937.*

This is a reprint of Harman's Caveat under a different title, with some additions, and the omission of the woodcuts and verses at the end. This copy differs only from that described by Mr. Furnivall in his edition of Harman's book, in having no date or name of printer.

HARRINGTON, RICHARD. A famous dittie of the Ioyful re-ceauing of the Queens moste excellent maiestie, by the worthie Citizens

HARRIS, PAUL. Exile Exiled. Occasioned by a Mandat from Rome, procured by Tho. Flemming alias Barnwel, Archb. of Dublin, dinalls De propaganda fide, for the banishment of Paul Harris out of the Diocesse of Dublin. [Quotation from Psalm 56.] Printed Anno Dom. 1635. 4to.

Title and preface, 2 leaves ; A—G in fours.

The extreme rarity of any of the writings of this author is explained by a passage in Ware's account of him, wherein he says : " He writ several books which I believe were printed in Dublin ; but it is hard to get the sight of any of them ; being destroyed by the Regular Clergy whenever they get them into their hands, as some of themselves have confessed."—Ware's Writers of Ireland, p. 338.

M.*

B—K, 1 leaf to each signature, or altogether 9 leaves, besides the title-page, which is engraved. Dedicated to Sir Thomas Bennet, Lord Mayor, by Stephen Harrison.

Besides the emblematical title, this rare volume is embellished with seven large full-page engravings illustrating the text, which was probably contributed jointly by Decker and Webster. The odes at the beginning bear their names. The title in the present copy is in the first state, before the imprint at the foot, "Are to be sould at the white horse in Popes head Alley, by John Sudbury and George humble," was added, and all the other plates are in the same state. From Sir Charles Price's collection, with a note inserted from Mr. Carpenter, of the British Museum, in which he says: "I enclose you an account of the Grenville 'Harrison's Triumphs,' with a statement of the variations between the plates in it and the Print Room copy. Yours is certainly far finer than the Grenville. . . ." Mr. Grenville's copy belonged successively to Dent and Heber.

A—T 2 in fours, besides four leaves following the title, with an epistle addressed "To the doubtfull of the English Orthographie."

From the collection of Mr. Inglis, having the autograph on the flyleaf, "W. Herbert, 1788." It is the earliest English treatise on orthography. A copy is in the British Museum. Another, with notes by Horne Tooke, was sold among Heber's books. See "Prefaces, Dedications, and Epistles, 1874," p. 31.

"This collection of Voyages by Joost Hartgerts is sometimes called the 'Dutch De Bry,' or 'Dutch Hulsius;' for in beauty of execution and intrinsic interest it rivals both of those famous collections. In point of rarity there is no comparison; this being scarcely known to bibliographers The parts were probably issued and sold separately, and their collection into sets, with a collective title, preface, &c., was an afterthought. This collection has an advantage over De Bry and Hulsius, that many of the voyages are in the language in which they were originally written, while most of those of De Bry and Hulsius are translations."—Sabin's Dictionary.

As a large-paper copy this is probably unique.

This tract was the last of the series of pamphlets in the angry controversy between Harvey and Nash, the publication of any more being prohibited. It is reprinted with the other tracts forming the controversy between Harvey and Nash, in Mr. Collier's Yellow Series. This was Mr. Jolley's and Mr. Corser's copy.

A very rare volume, of which it is doubtful whether more than one other perfect copy exists. There are two in the British Museum, both incomplete; but a perfect copy might be made by uniting them.

A—G 3 in eights, title on A 3, besides a frontispiece and folded leaf of the epitaph. This volume contains the earliest known verses of Dryden, written when he was a scholar at Westminster School.

There is also in the library the copy described in Mr. Corser's "Collectanea Anglo-Poetica," part iii., pp. 119-22. The only difference between the two copies seems to consist in the transfer of Marvell's poem from pp. 78-80 to a place between pp. 42-3, and the cancelling of pp. 77-80, which contain a notice by the editor and a list of the elegies contained in the postscript. There are no pp. 75-6 in either copy. Some copies are dated 1650.

A—F in sixes and fours alternately, and G, 8 leaves. In seven-line stanzas.

From the libraries of Mr. Heber and Mr. Corser. The former notes on the fly-leaf: "This same copy will be found in Payne's Shop Cat. for the year 1789 (n. 1704), and had probably formed part of the library of the Rev. Mr. Brereton, vicar of Acton, Cheshire. Geo. Mason was no doubt the purchaser." It was obtained by Mr. Corser at the sale of the Miller duplicates in 1854, the only other known copy of this edition being that which remains at Britwell. The only copy known of the earlier edition, without date, but also from the press of Wynkyn de Worde, is in the Pepysian collection at Cambridge.

On the back of the title is a table, after which, on sig. A ii recto, occurs: "This boke called the exemple of vertu/ was made and compyled by Stephen hawys one of the gromes of the moost honorable chambre of oure souerayne lorde kynge Henry the . vii. the . xix. yere of his most noble reygne & by hym presēted to our sayd souerayne lorde chaptyred and marked after this table here before set." O vertuous Lydgate moche sentencious
Vnto you all I do me excuse

A—B in fours. In seven-line stanzas.

The title above given is in a ribbon over a large woodcut, representing the last judgment. There are other cuts on A 3 verso and on each side of the last leaf.

This is the only copy known of this edition. From Caldecott's and Daniel's libraries. The poem was originally printed by W. de Worde in 1509, of which edition the only perfect copy known is in the public library at Cambridge; a second, from the Roxburghe and Heber collections, is at Britwell, but it is not complete.

This is a reprint of Wynkyn de Worde's edition of 1517, 4to, without the woodcuts. No intermediate impression is on record. Of that of 1517 the only copy known is in the library at Britwell ; it was formerly Heber's, and had been in the Roxburghe and Sykes collections. Of the edition of 1554 not more than two perfect copies appear to be described.

BR. M.

This volume appears to be quite unknown to bibliographers. Panzer in his "Annalen der ältern deutschen Litteratur," vol. i., "Zusätze," p. 43, mentions an imperfect copy of a similar book which he attributes to the press of Antony Sorg. As this is only a conjecture, it is quite possible that the edition he saw was no earlier than the present, which, so far as is known, is an unique volume. It consists of thirty leaves with twenty-eight lines to a full page. On the title is a large woodcut of a young man on horseback with his hawk on his fist.

A—G in eights, title on A 2, signatures H—I omitted (pp. 97-128) ; K—R 4 in eights.

There is in the British Museum a copy in which the author's name is printed in full on the title. Otherwise it is precisely the same.

HAWKINS, WILLIAM. Apollo Shroving Composed for the Schollars of the Free-schoole of Hadleigh in Suffolke. And acted by them on Shroue-tuesday, being the sixt of February, 1626. London, Printed for Robert Mylbourne. [1627.] Sm. 8vo.

A, 3 leaves ; B—G in eights.

This is the only dramatic piece of the author. Prefixed is a curious and facetious epistle addressed by E. W. "To my singular honest Stationer, Mr. Robert Mylbourne, at his shop in decimo sexto, by the south doore of Pauls," dated from Hadley, March 21, 1626, in which the writer speaks of the works as having been "huddled vp in hast." This is followed by "The aforesaid Stationers answer," composed in a correspondingly pleasant vein, and dated, "London, April 25, 1627. From the small volume of my shop, where the South winde blowes into Pauls."

The present copy came from the library at Donnington.

HAWKSHAW, BENJAMIN. Poems upon Several Occasions. By Benj. Hawkshaw, Student in St. John's Colledge in Cambridge ; sometime Student in Trinity Colledge in Dublin. [Quotation from Juvenal, Sat. 1.] London, Printed by J. Heptinstall, for Henry Dickenson, Bookseller in Cambridge, 1693. 8vo.

A—L 4 in eights.

Dedicated "To the Learned and Ingenious Doctour Willoughby Physician in Dublin," in an epistle, where the author describes the contents of this volume as "the Essays but of a very young Pen, a few By-thoughts in my Vacancies from other Studies." There are commendatory verses by Joshua Barnes and others. Some of the poems bear evidence of having been composed at a much earlier period, as there is a copy of verses on the Restoration of Charles the Second. Some of the pieces are of Irish interest.

No account of this volume occurs in bibliographical works.

Two leaves.

The original and most rare edition of the letter of Henry VIII. to the Emperor Maximilian inviting him to join in a crusade against the Turks. There was evidently more than one impression of it, as the copy in the Grenville Library, though clearly printed at the same period, differs from this in many typographical particulars.

— Assertio septem Sacramentorum aduersus Martin. Lutherū, ædita ab inuictissimo Angliæ et Franciæ rege, et do. Hybernæ Henrico eius nominis octauo. [Colophon.] Apud inclytam urbem Londinum in ædibus Pynsonianis. An. M.D.XXI. quarto Idus Iulij. Cum priuilegio a rege indulto. 4to. BR. M.

Title and preface, 4 leaves; sigs. b—v.ii in fours.

This is no doubt the book as it was originally issued. The following article is the same work with the extra leaves added after the book had been approved by the Pope.

— Libello huic regio hæc insunt. Oratio Ioannis Cleric apud Ro. Pon. in exhibitione operis regii. Responsio roman. pont. ad eandem ex tempore facta. Bulla ro. pon. ad regiam maiestatem, pro eius

HENRY VIII. Assertio septē Sacrametor. aduersus Marti. Luther, ædita ab inuictissimo Angliæ & Fræciæ rege, et do. Hlybæniæ Henrico eius nominis octauo. Romæ, opera Stephani Guillireti, mense Decembri. 1521. 4to. R. M.

This edition is prefaced by the letter of Leo X. to King Henry, which has the following title: "Librum hunc inuictiss. Angliæ Regis Fidei Defensoris contra Mart. Lutherum legentibus, decem annorum et totidem XL. indulgentia apostolica autoritate concessa est." The letter occupies four leaves, including the title. The "Assertio" contains a—u in fours; x, 6 leaves, the last blank; then follows sig. y, 4 leaves, and z, 2 leaves, containing "Io. Clerk. pro Henrico VIII. &c. oratio."

It will be seen that this collation differs slightly from that in the Grenville catalogue, where it is stated that sheet x has only four leaves.

— Serenissimi ac Potentissimi Regis Angliæ Christianæ fidei defensoris inuictissimi, ad illustrissimos ac clarissimos Saxonie principes, de coercenda abigendâq; Lutherana factione, & Luthero ipso Epistola. — A glasse of the truthe. [Colophon.] Imprinted at London in Flete-strete, by Thomas Berthelet printer to the kinges moost noble grace. Cum priuilegio. [1530.] Sm. 8vo. Black letter.

A, 4 leaves; B—F 4 in eights.

This is the King's own defence of his divorce from Catharine of Arragon. The edition here described seems to be different from that mentioned by Herbert, p. 463. At least five editions of the tract were issued from Berthelet's press between 1530 or 1531 and 1550. That the piece was written by Henry VIII. himself there is clear evidence in Ellis's "Original Letters," 3rd series, ii., 195-9.

In a letter to Thomas Cromwell from Richard Croke, written September (or perhaps August), 1531, Croke says: "These shalbe to aduertise yowr Maistershippe that after my departing from yow, Bartelot, the printer, shewed me that M^r. Goodrycke shulde aduertise hym to aduertise the Kinge off certayne errors in "the Glasse off treuthe," how beyt Bertelot tolde me that he wolde not so do, forasmoeche as that he had mouyd the Kinge in sutch maters afore tyme and perceuyd that his Grace was not contente therewith." And in a second communication from the same to the same, dated from Oxford, 23rd of September [1531], Croke says: "yowr Maistershippe shal vndrestande that I have bestowed "The Glasses off treuthe", euery on, and many there be besydes Maister Roper that I can not make belyue that yt ys the Kings writinge: and yet as they confesse that his Graces bothe excellent wit and excellent lernyng ys able to do a thyng moche better than that. Albeyt they suppose that his Highnes lackethe leasure so profoundly to serche and bulte ouzt a mater off so greate difficultye so playnelye. The conclusion ys that thys boke by al mennys sayng hathe done more to the prefrement off the Kings cause than al the bokes, preching, techinge, or other thynges that hathe hytherto bene set forthe, for the fortherance off the same. I assuÿre you many by the reding off thys boke hathe here alteryd theyr stouburne and affectionate mynde towarde the contrarye . . . by my faithe I assuÿr you I haue sene no man able to do more in thys cause than the Kinge hym selffe hathe done in thys boke; and th' arguments that I supposyd so weghtylye to haue bene made to the contrary, albeyt I wol with in these few days bring them vnto yow with theyr answerrs, whan I conferre them with the reasons off the "Glasse of treuth," seme to tarye very heuy to them selffe: and by reason thereoff to be dul and off none effecte."

A—V 4 in eights, except M, which has only six leaves. The title-page within a woodcut compartment.

The copy in the Grenville library corresponds with this in every respect, except that it has not the year of printing.

Mr. Grenville, in a note to his copy of this most rare broadside, says: "This is the only copy I have ever seen of the sentence pronounced by Pope Clement against the divorce of Henry VIII. from Queen Catharine."

In verse. MS. copies of this poem are at Kimbolton, Port Eliot, and Helmingham Hall. In the copy at the last-named library it is said to have been transcribed in 1628, so that it was evidently written long before it was printed.

The present copy is in old red morocco binding, richly gilt. The only other one known is that which was successively in the Brand, Heber, and Daniel collections. The facsimile reprint of this edition, with a preface by the Rev. A. B. Grosart, is in the library, having been presented by Mr. Eliot Stock, the publisher. It was made from the copy here described.

"One of the most remarkable occurrences recorded in the eventful history of the times is the attempt made by Herman, Elector of Cologne, a Roman Catholic Archbishop, and a sovereign prince, to establish within his electorate a purer system of doctrine and discipline. His attempt was ultimately unsuccessful; but the zeal and energy of the venerable prelate, and the learning and prudence with which his measures were conducted, attracted the notice, and secured the respect and sympathy of all Protestant churches."—Cardwell's Two Books of Common Prayer.

Dedicated in verse to Prince Charles. The present copy in the old blue morocco binding belonged successively to Dr. Farmer, Mr. Bindley, and Mr. Daniel. It is enriched with a variety of manuscript notes, which seem to be in the autograph of Mr. Thomas Caldecott. Dr. Farmer notes on flyleaf: "The Print is extremely like Mr. Sam^l Heyrick, an Attorney of Leicester in my memory."

Although no earlier edition than that of 1647-8 is now known, "The seuerall Poems written by Master Robert Herrick" were licensed on the 29th of April, 1640. See Arber's "Transcript," iv., 483.

The portrait of the author is on the back of the title and again on the recto of the leaf following the table. The irregularity with which the volume is signatured appears to have arisen from a miscalculation as to the space required by the cuts.

A portion of the work had been printed as early, it seems, as 1546, but the whole was first issued together in 1562, and from this all subsequent editions were reprinted. HEYWOOD, JOHN. A Ballad against slander and detraction. [At the end.] Finis. q' Haywood. [Colophon.] Imprinted at Londō at the lōg Shop adioining vnto Saint Mildreds Church in the Pultrie by John Alde. [n. d.] A Broadside. Black letter.

Twenty stanzas of six lines, with a burden.

Reprinted in "Anc. Ballads," &c., 1867. The only copy known.

In the introduction to the reprint of the seventy-nine black-letter ballads, it is remarked of this broadside: "If he (John Heywood) be the author of the 'Ballad against Slander and Detraction' to which the name of Haywood is attached, it must have been intended as a protest against personal abuse to which some of the Catholics, perhaps himself, had been subjected."

HEYWOOD, THOMAS. If you know not me, You know no bodie: Or, The troubles of Queene Elizabeth. At London, Printed for Nathaniell Butter. 1605. 4to. R. M.

A—G in fours (the first leaf blank), with a woodcut portrait on the title-page representing Queen Elizabeth.

This is the first edition of the first part, and is of the greatest rarity. The woodcut representation on the title had been used in 1595 to portray "an upstart gentlewoman," in Gosson's tract called "Pleasant Quippes," &c.

Pepys ("Diary," Aug. 17, 1667) does this drama very little injustice in calling it a most ridiculous one; but, as he saw it, it was probably altered by some other hand. The revival of the piece may have been suggested by the war with the Dutch.

— The Rape of Lvrece. A True Roman Tragedie. With the seuerall Songes in their apt places by Valerius, the merrie Lord amongst the Roman Peeres. Acted by her Maiesties Seruants at the Red Bull, neere Clarken-well. Written by Thomas Heywood. London Printed for I. B. and are to be sold in Paules-Church-yard at the Signe of the Pide-Bull. 1608. 4to. R. M.

A—K 3 in fours.

First edition. The second appeared in 1609. Of the third no copy is known. The fourth and fifth are common.

From Sir W. Tite's collection, with a MS. reference in his handwriting to the extraordinary song of the Roman (London) Cryer at the end.

— The Second Part of Queene Elizabeths troubles. Doctor Parries treasons: The building of the Royall Exchange, and the famous victory in Au. 1588. With the Humors of Hobson and Tawny-cote. At London, Printed for Nathaniell Butter. 1609. 4to. G. M.

A—I in fours. Woodcut on title.

From Sir W. Tite's collection. The first edition appeared in 1606; this is the second. It was possibly this play which suggested to Richard Johnson the compilation of the "Pleasant Conceits of Old Hobson," 4to, 1607.

HEYWOOD, THOMAS. Troia Britanica: Or, Great Britaines Troy. A Poem Deuided into XVII. seuerall Cantons, intermixed with many pleasant Poeticall Tales. Concluding with an Vniuersall Chronicle from the Creation, vntill these present Times. Written by Tho: Heywood. Et prodesse solent, & Delectare Poetæ. London; Printed by W. Jaggard, 1609. Folio. R. M.

A—Qq in sixes, title on A 2. Dedicated to Edward, Earl of Worcester.

The dedication to Lord Worcester professes to be the payment (however inadequate) of a debt of gratitude. It begins:

"To you, whose Fauour gaue my Muse first breath,
To try in th' Ayre her weake vnable wing,
And soare this pitch, who else had tasted death
Euen in her byrth, from the Castalian spring
She dedicates her labours . . ."

The work never came to a second edition, or doubtless the author would have corrected those errors of the press, with which he describes it in his "Apology for Actors," 1612, as abounding.

— The Golden Age: or The liues of Jupiter and Saturne, with the defining of the Heathen Gods. As it hath beene sundry times acted at the Red bull, by the Queenes Maiesties Seruants. Written by Thomas Heywood. London, Printed for William Barrenger, and are to be sold at his Shop neare the great North-doore of Pauls. 1611. 4to. G. M.

A, 2 leaves; B—K 2 in fours.

First edition. In the address to the reader, the author speaks of the play as coming accidentally to the press, and he adds: "This is the Golden Age, the eldest brother of three Ages, that haue aduentured the Stage, but the onely yet, that hath beene judged to the Presse."

— The First and Second parts of King Edward the Fourth. Containing His merie pastime with the Tanner of Tamworth, as also his loue to faire Mistrisse Shore, her great promotion, fall and miserie, and lastly the lamentable death of both her and her husband. Likewise the besieging of London, by the Bastard Falconbridge, and the valiant defence of the same by the Lord Maior and the Citizens. As it hath diuers times beene publikely played by the Right Honourable the Earle of Derby his seruants. At London Printed by Humfrey Lowmes, dwelling on Bredstreete hill, at the Signe of the Starre. 1613. 4to. Black letter. R. M.

A—Y in fours.

From Sir W. Tite's collection. The first edition was in 1600. It does not seem to have been noticed that this is almost beyond doubt the play licensed to John Oxenbridge and John Busby, August 28, 1599, under a different title, viz., "The History of the Life and Death of Master Shore and Jane Shore his wife, as it was lately acted by the Earle of Derby his servants." According to Mr. Collier, there were several plays on this subject.

HEYWOOD, THOMAS. The Silver Age, inclvding. The loue of Iupiter to Alcmena : The birth of Hercules. And The Rape of Proserpine. Conclvding, With the Arraignement of the Moone. Written by Thomas Heywood. Aut prodesse solent aut delectare. London, Printed by Nicholas Okes, and are to be sold by Beniamin Lightfoote at his Shop at the upper end of Graies Inne-lane in Holborne. 1613. 4to. G. M.
A, 2 leaves ; B—L 2 in fours, the last leaf blank.

— The Brazen Age, The first Act containing, The death of the Centaure Nessus, The Second, The Tragedy of Meleager : The Third, The Tragedy of Iason and Medea. The Fovrth, Vvlcans Net. The Fifth. The Labours and death of Hercules: Written by Thomas Heywood. London, Printed by Nicholas Okes, for Samuel Rand dwelling neere Holborne-Bridge. 1613. 4to. G. M.

A, 2 leaves ; B—L 3 in fours.

This was the thirde of the mythological dramas which Heywood composed, the fourth ("The Iron Age") not appearing till 1632.

In the address to the reader occurs the following passage: "— what imperfection soeuer it haue, hauing a brazen face it cannot blush ; much like a Pedant about this Towne, who, when all trades fail'd, turn'd Pedagogue, & once insinuating with me, borrowed frō me certaine Translations of Ouid, as his three books De Arte Amandi, & two De Remedio Amoris, which since, his most brazen face hath most impudently challenged as his own, wherefore, I must needs proclaime it as far as Ham, where he now keeps schoole, Hos ego versiculos feci tulit alter honores, they were things which out of my iuniority and want of iudgement, I committed to the veiw of some priuate friends, but with no purpose of publishing, or further cōmunicating thē. Therefore I wold entreate that Austin, for so his name is, to acknowledge his wrong to me in shewing them, & his owne impudence, & ignorance in challenging thē. But courteous Reader, I can onely excuse him in this, that this is the Brazen Age." There can be little doubt but that this Austin was the H. A. who in 1613 published the "Scourge of Venus, or the Wanton Lady." It is remarkable that it was also printed by Nicholas Okes in 1613. See A., H. in this catalogue.

— A Woman kilde with Kindnesse. As it hath beene oftentimes Acted by the Queenes Maiest. Seruants. Written by Tho. Heywood. The third Edition. London, Printed by Isaac Iaggard, 1617. 4to.

A—I in fours.

From Mr. Mitford's library. The first edition was in 1607 ; no copy of the second appears to be known.

— FUNAIKEION : or, Nine Bookes of Various History. Concerninge Women ; Inscribed by ŷ names of ŷ Nine Muses. Written by Thom: Heywoode. . . . London. Printed by Adam Islip. 1624. Folio. R.

Title engraved in ten compartments representing Apollo and the Muses ; table, 2 leaves ; dedication to Edward, Earl of Worcester, 1 leaf ; To the Reader, 1 leaf ; B—Rr 5 in sixes.

In the dedication to Lord Worcester, Heywood says : “ I was (my Lord) your creature, and (amongst other of your seruants) you bestowed me vpon the excellent Princesse Q. Anne (to whose memorie I haue celebrated in these Papers the zeale of a subject and a seruant) but by her lamented death your Gift (my Lord) is returned againe into your hands, being stil yours, either to keepe vnto yourselfe, or to conferre where your noble disposition shall best please.”

HEYWOOD, THOMAS. The Fair Maid Of The West. Or, A Girle worth gold. The first part. As it was lately acted before the King and Queen, with approved liking. By the Queens Majesties Comedians. Written by T. H. London, Printed for Richard Royston, and are to be sold at his Shop in Ivie Lane. 1631. 4to.

A—I in fours, the title on A 2. A woodcut on the title.

— The Fair Maid of the West. Or, A Girle worth gold. The second part. . . . London, Printed for Richard Royston . . . 1631. 4to.

A—M 2 in fours, the title on A 2. With the same cut on the title as in part 1.

Mr. Mitford's copy. The two parts in one volume. The first is dedicated to the author's friend, John Othow ; the second, to his friend, Thomas Hammon, both of Gray's Inn. Mr. Mitford notes on the flyleaf that these two dramas, or one drama in two parts, were formed into a novel called “ The English Lovers,” by John Dancer, and refers to the “ Retrospective Review,” vol. xi., p. 127.

— Londons Ius Honorarium. Exprest in sundry Triumphs, pagiants, and shews: At the Initiation or Entrance of the Right Honourable George Whitmore, into the Maioralty of the famous and farre renouned City of London. All the charge and expence of the laborious proiects and obiects, both by Water and Land, being the sole vndertaking of the Right Worshipfull the society of the Habberdashers. Redeunt Spectacula. Printed at London by Nicholas Okes. 1631. 4to. R. M.

A—C in fours, or 12 leaves.

The only other copy known was in Garrick's catalogue, 1823, No. 766, if, indeed, this is not the identical book. The pageant for 1626 was written by Thomas Middleton, and no printed copies of any performed between that date and 1631 have come down to us. Heywood also wrote the city pageants for 1632, 1633, 1635, 1637, 1638, and 1639, when there was another long interval, during which the spectacle was suspended.

— The Iron Age: Contayning the Rape of Hellen: The siege of Troy: The Combate betwixt Hector and Ajax: Hector and Troilus slayne by Achilles: Achilles slaine by Paris: Ajax and Vlisses contend for the Armour of Achilles: The Death of Ajax, &c. Written by Thomas Heywood. . . . Printed at London by Nicholas Okes. 1632. The Second Part of the Iron Age: Which contayneth the death of Penthesilea, Paris, Priam, and Hecuba: The burning of Troy: The deaths of Agamemnon, Menelaus, Clitemnestra, . . . Written by Thomas Heywood. Printed . . . 1632. In 1 vol. 4to. A woodcut on each title. G. M.

Part i. A—L 3 in fours, A 2 being a duplicate title with the printer's device substituted for the woodcut. Part ii. A, 3 leaves; B—K in fours. First edition. The first portion is dedicated to Thomas Hammon of Gray's Inn, and the second to Mr. Thomas Mannering.

The duplicate title-page to part i. seems to be undescribed.

HEYWOOD, THOMAS. The Foure Prentises of London, With the Conquest of Jerusalem. As it hath beene diuers times acted at the Red Bull, by the Queenes Maiesties Seruants with good applause. Written and newly reuised by Thomas Heywood. Printed at London by Nicholas Okes. 1632. 4to. A woodcut on the title.

A—L 3 in fours.

The first edition was in 1615. Following the title is an address by the author "To the Honest and High-spirited Prentises, the Readers." From Mr. Mitford's collection.

Dedicated to "Sir Henry Appleton, Knight Barronet," &c., in which address the poet gratefully alludes to the friendship between Sir Henry Appleton and his uncle, Edmund Heywood, and to the encouragement given to his literary exertions by his countryman, Sir William Eluish. In the preface to the reader, Heywood speaks of this play as one "amongst two hundred and twenty, in which I haue had either an entire hand, or at the least a maine finger."

The first book printed at Oxford. It is now universally allowed to be misdated 1468 for 1478. Hitherto eight copies only have been described, which are in the following libraries: Bodleian; Public Archives, Oxford; All Souls, Oxford; Cambridge University Library; Royal Library; Earl of Pembroke; Earl Spencer; and the copy that was sold at the White Knights sale. This therefore makes the ninth copy known.

Second edition. The first was printed by Caxton in 1482. The only real difference seems to be in the verses on the back of the title-page, headed: "An Introductory Anno dñi. M. cccc. lxxxv.," five seven-line stanzas. The present copy has the last leaf in facsimile.

— Polycronycon. [This is the whole of the title, and is printed in red ink, over a large woodcut representing St. George and the Dragon, below which is the device of John Reynes.] [Colophon.] *Imprinted in Southwerke by my Peter Treueris at þe expences of John Reynes boke seller at the sygne of saynt George in Poules chyrchyarde. A—G 7 in eights.

A Bridgewater duplicate, from Heber's library. This first edition was unknown to Brydges, Park, and Lowndes. In 1660 it was reprinted under the title of "The Institution of a Gentleman," which is inserted in the "Harleian Miscellany."

Mr. Heber notes: "In Rudder's Gloucestershire this Collection is said to have been made by Clement Barksdale. Qy, Higford's Poetry." It appears from the dedication to have been a posthumous publication, and it is very likely that Barksdale was the editor.

HIGGESON, FRANCIS. New-Englands Plantation. Or, a Short and True Description of the Commodities and Discommodities of that Country. Written by Mr. Higgeson, a reuerend Diuine now there resident. Whereunto is added a Letter, sent by Mr. Graues an Enginere, out of New-England. The second Edition enlarged. London, Printed by T. & R. Cotes for Michael Sparke, dwelling at the Signe of the Blew Bible in Greene Arbor in the little Old Bailey. 1630. 4to. R. M.

A, 2 leaves; B—D in fours.

M[ichael] S[parke], in his address to the reader, states that the MS. was sent over to England for a friend's perusal, and was not intended for the press. The present copy has not the map mentioned by Lowndes, nor is it in the copy in the British Museum. The Museum copy bears on the title, "The third Edition enlarged," but there are no additional leaves.

HIGHLANDERS. Representation of the High-landers who arrived at the Camp of the Confederated Army, not far off the City of Mayence the 13th of August 1743. [The same title in German and French.] Norimberga Excudit Christoph: Weigelij Vidua. [1744.] Folio.

Six leaves.

An extraordinarily rare and curious series of engravings, with descriptive letter-press beneath in English, French, and German. The English has some most curious specimens of spelling and language. The first plate portrays "The High-landers in their accostumes clothes, and downwards hanging cloke." Plate 2 represents "A High-lander who put on his cloke about his shoulders, when weather is sed to rain." The title is within an ornamental border.

At the end is the mark of the printer, H. S. The book is generally ascribed to the pen of John Bale.

From the collections of Mr. George Chalmers, Mr. Bright, and Mr. Corser. The only other copies known are in the Grenville collection, in the library of Emmanuel College, Cambridge, and at Britwell.

HILDER, THOMAS. Conjugall Counsell: or, Seasonable Advise, both to Unmarried, and Married Persons. [Colophon.] Imprynted at London by Henrie Denham, dwelling in Pater noster Rowe, at the signe of the Starre. 1571. 4to.

Twenty leaves.

This tract is unnoticed by Herbert. It consists of a calendar, a list of fairs, the four quarters of the year, and has blank pages for a diary, being probably the earliest publication of the kind. The present copy has been made a sort of commonplace book, in which a contemporary possessor has registered in MS. various memoranda, including a great number of proverbs and prudential maxims.

— A Pleasant History: Declaring the whole Art of Phisiognomy, Orderly vttering all the speciall parts of Man, from the Head to the Foot. Written by Thomas Hill. Printed by W. Iaggard. 1613. Sm. 8vo. Woodcuts. Black letter.

A, 3 leaves, first blank (as was doubtless A 4); B—E in eights; e, 8 leaves; F—Hh 4 in eights (but Y and Z are mixed, and form only one signature of eight leaves). Many of the cuts are repeated.

See also under "Cocles" in this catalogue for an earlier edition of this book. This edition of 1613 is entirely rewritten and enlarged to nearly four times the size of that printed by Wayland. The name of Cocles is altogether suppressed.

HILLAIRE, J. Speculum Heroicum principis omnium temporum poetarum Homeri xxiiii librorum Iliados in quibus veri Principis Brunet describes this book as consisting of thirty-six plates; there are, however, twenty-four plates only, sigs. A and II consisting entirely of letterpress.

HILMAN, DANIEL, of Epsom. Tusser Redivivus: Being Part of Mr. Thomas Tusser's Five Hundred Points of Husbandry To which are added Notes and Observations explaining many obsolete Terms in the said Mr. Tusser, and what is agreeable to the present Practice in several Counties of this Kingdom. Folio. BR. M.

First edition, and the first book printed by Wynkyn de Worde in his own name. a, 4 leaves (containing title and table); b—q in eights (i 1 is marked h 1, and sig. m is wrongly marked k); r, 6 leaves; s, 6 leaves, the last being blank (s ii is marked t ii, and, as the catchword does not agree, it would at first appear to be imperfect, but such is not the case. There are in fact no catchwords, and where there are occasionally words printed at the bottom of the page in no case do they agree with the beginning of the next leaf, but are evidently merely so placed to get in a word or two.

HILTON, WALTER. Scala perfectionis. [Colophon.] Imprynted at London in Fletestrete by Wynkyn de Worde dwellynge at the sygne of the Sonne and fynysshed in the yere of our lorde god. M.CCCCC.xxxiiij. The .xxvij. daye of Maye. 4to. Black letter. BR. M.

The third book of "Scala Perfectionis" concludes on z viii. On æ begins: "This is a deuoute boke compyled by mayster Walter Hylton, to a deuoute man in temporall estate, how he sholde rule hym," which forms a fourth book. At the end of it occurs:

Explicit vita mixta.

*Infynyte laude with thankynges manyfolde
I yelde to god| me socourynge with his grace
This boke to fynysshel whiche that ye beholde
Scale of perfeccyon calde in euery place
Wherof thauctor Walter Hylton was.*

The title given above is over a woodcut within a border, which occupies the rest of the page. At the bottom of the woodcut are two lines of verse:—

Is the remēbraunce of crystes passyon."

The "deuoute boke," which appears at the end of this edition, was also printed to accompany the first edition; but it was probably printed after most of the copies had been sold, for only two are now known which contain it—one in Cambridge University library, the other in the library of H. H. Gibbs, Esq.

There are two other impressions of this "deuoute boke" in the library, the one printed by Pynson, the other by Julyan Notary; but they appear not to be distinct editions, but to belong respectively to the "Kalendre of the new legende of Englande" and to the "Scala Perfectionis."

Thirty-three leaves.

Dr. Campbell, in his valuable "Annales de la Typographie Néerlandaise au XV^e Siècle," No. 940, mentions that only four copies of this volume are known—1. In the Royal Library at the Hague. 2. In Lord Spencer's collection. 3. In the Royal Library at Brussels, formerly in the Van Hulthem collection. 4. The copy here described, formerly in the Schinkel collection. Dr. Dibdin says that Lord Spencer's copy has the woodcuts coloured, but they are here in pure uncoloured state, and the volume is in the finest possible condition throughout. A complete reproduction of the work, with an introduction by M. Berjeau, was published a few years since by Mr. C. J. Stewart.

Dr. Dibdin has given such an exhaustive description of the book in the "Bibliotheca Spenceriana," vol. iii., p. 348, &c., that it is unnecessary to give again a very full account of it.

HITCHCOCK, ROBERT. A Pollitique Platt for the honour of the Prince, the greate profite of the publique state, relief of the poore, preservation of the riche, reformation of Roges and Idle persones, and the wealthe of thousandes that knowes not howe to liue. Written for an Newyeres gift to Englande, and the inhabitantes thereof: by Robert Hitchcock late of Cauersfeelde in the Countie of Buckyngham Gentleman. Imprinted at London, by Ihon Kyngston. 1. Ianuarie. 1580. 4to. Black letter. BL. M.

* , 4 leaves ;  , 2 leaves ; a , 4 leaves ; b , a large folding sheet of letterpress ; c—f in fours ; between e and f is a large folding map, and between f ii and f iii (wrongly marked f iiii) is a folding woodcut inscribed at the top left-hand corner, "The vintage for Hull and Newcastle."

A short account of this book is given by Mr. Collier in his "Bibl. Cat.," i., 374, where he points out the reference to some privately issued impression now unknown. But the fact seems to be that Hitchcock merely alludes to copies he had distributed, not saying whether they were written or printed.

The headline throughout is: "Hitchcocks New yeres Gift to Englande."

Dedicated "To my worthily most honoured Kinsman, C: Hoddesdon Esq.," in an epistle very strangely worded. "Sir I have dealt with him as his nurse did, thrown him over the hedge into your Armes, lest his memory should perish in the waters of Lethe—" and further on he remarks: "I am confident, King Henry the Eight was not so much his enemy, as to forbid posterity to think well of him."

The four volumes contain together 277 leaves of vellum, on which are depicted with the most marvellous skill some thousands of objects of natural history. The truthfulness to nature and the exquisite finish of the paintings is most remarkable.

The following account of the artist and of this work is taken from Nagler's "Künstler Lexicon," vol. vi., p. 214: "Dieser Künstler, anfänglich Schüler von J. Bol, bildete sich in Italien und hielt sich lange am Hofe der bayerischen Herzoge Albert und Wilhelm auf, für welche er, so wie für den Erzherzog Ferdinand von Oesterreich und den Kaiser Rudolph II. mehreres arbeitete. Er verfertigte für Kaiser Rudolph II. ein kostbares Werk, welches in 4. klein Quartbänden auf 227 [277] Blättern mehr als 1339 Stücke aus der Naturgeschichte, und zwar aus den vier Reichen der Natur, in Miniatur enthält, die sehr getreu nach dem Leben gemalt, und mit einem einzig schönen Farbenreize versehen sind. Nach Sandrart's Erzählung waren dem Künstler tausend Goldkronen für jeden Band zugesagt, aber es ist ungewiss, ob dieses Werk in die Hände des Kaisers kam, denn es befand sich in letzter Zeit in den Händen eines Privatmannes in München."

In the woodcut representing the temptation of Joseph are the marks of two artists on tablets, the one with the initials I. L. C. T. over a graver; the other D. B., with the date 1557 beneath. The former are said by Nagler to indicate "Iacobus Lucius Corona Transylvanus," but the name concealed under the initials D. B. is unknown. The artist was of the school of Lucas Cranach, and according to Nagler, he illustrated other works by the same printer.

8. Sets of plates of the wars in the Low Countries, numbered respectively 1-28, 1-20, and 1-109, and eighty-two plates not numbered. The last plate dated 1610.

This is evidently one of the "recueils factices" mentioned by Brunet, vol. v., col. 897, and for the most part engraved by Fr. Hogenberg of Malines.

A—M in fours, the last leaf bearing only the colophon.

First edition. Brunet, speaking of the edition of 1543 of these Bible cuts, says: "Il est à remarquer qu'on a reproduit dans l'édition de 1539, et également dans celle-ci, (1543) les quatre premières planches des Simulachres de la mort, édition de 1538." The natural inference from which is that they do not occur in this first edition, but any copy of the 1538 Bible cuts which does not contain the first four cuts from the "Simulachres de la mort" is certainly imperfect.

HOLBEIN, HANS. Historiarum Veteris Testamenti Icones ad viuum expressæ. Vnà cum breui, sed quoad fieri potuit, dilucida earundem & Latina & Gallica expositione. Lugduni, sub Scuto Coloniensi. M.D.XXXIX. [Colophon.] Lugduni, Melchior & Gaspar Trechsel fratres excudebant. 4to. Woodcuts. BR. M.

A—N in fours. The last leaf bears on the recto a large cut of the printer's device, the verso is blank. In some copies the last leaf is blank and the colophon different.

This second edition is believed to be of greater rarity than the first, though necessarily of less real value. This is the copy which was sold in the Yemeniz library, but it has since been rebound.

The edition of 1543 with Spanish text is not mentioned by Brunet. It is identical with that of 1549, except as to the two last leaves.

In the 1543 edition, signature N iii is occupied by Frellon's subscription and N iv is blank, while in the edition of 1549, N iii has the four circular cuts of the Evangelists and N iv bears Frellon's mark of the crab and butterfly.

— Le Triomphe de la mort, gravé d'après les dessins originaux de Holbein par Chrétien de Méchel. Paris. 1780. Sqr. 8vo. BR. M.

This series of plates can only be said to be after Holbein's designs in the same sense as a free paraphrase of an author is sometimes called a translation.

— Imitations of Original Drawings by Hans Holbein, in the Collection of His Majesty, for the Portraits of Illustrious Persons of the Court of Henry VIII. With Biographical Tracts. Published by John Chamberlaine. London: W. Bulmer and Co., 1792. Folio. G. M.

The biographical notices were contributed by Edmund Lodge; the engravings were executed by Bartolozzi. In this copy the engravings are mounted on card-board and tinted to imitate the originals; Lowndes says that only six were so executed. At the end are added the eight supplementary portraits, subsequently engraved. There is in the library another copy in the ordinary state. Lowndes states that the volume should contain seventy-two portraits, exclusively of those of Holbein and his wife; but both the copies here noticed possess eighty-two, not including Holbein and his wife or the additional prints. The list of contents enumerates only sixty-nine.

Eeee is an extra leaf with "The names of the Knights made at Leith," and in Yyyy occurs a folded plan of the Siege of Edinburgh Castle.

This, the first edition, usually called the Shakespeare edition, contains numerous woodcuts, none of which were reproduced in the second. At p. 243 of the History of Scotland occurs a curious woodcut of the meeting of Macbeth and the Witches.

Few books in early English literature are more difficult to procure in a clean and perfect state than Holinshed's Chronicles. The present copy has many uncut leaves, and is remarkably fine and clean throughout.

HOLLAND, ABRAHAM. Hollandi Post-huma. A Fvncrall Elegie of King Iames: with a Congratvlatory Salve to King Charles. An Elegie of the Magnanimous Henry Earle of Oxford. A Description of the great, fearefull and Prodigious Plagve: and diuers other patheticall Poemes, Elegies, and other Lines, on diuers subiects. The Post-humes of Abraham Holland, sometimes of Trinity-College in Cambridge. The Authors Epitaph, made by himselfe. Cantabrigiæ, Impensis Henrici Holland. M. DC. XXVI. 4to. Large paper. B. M.

Title as above, 1 leaf. "Michael Drayton Esquire, and Poet-Laurent, in Commendation of the Author and his first published Poeme, Naumachia," 1 leaf marked (a) 2. "An Elegie: or some Posthume Teares vpon . . . King James," 1 leaf. Dedication to the Duke of Buckingham, 2 leaves marked ? and ? 2. Dedication to Charles I., 1 leaf. The Elegie, 4 leaves with sig. B. Then follow regularly signatures C—L in fours. Then follows a leaf marked M "A Vale to his best Part." Then a leaf headed "Abraham Holland Having made many Epitaphs for others, made this Epitaph for himselfe, and on his Death-bed, dictated it to his Brother, H. H." Lastly, a leaf beginning "H. H. Authoris Fratris majoris (cujus cura ac impensa hæc præmissa Posthuma edita sunt,) Character," and at the bottom of the leaf, "Finis."

A title with the date in Arabic numerals and the word "late" before "great, fearefull and prodigious," &c., and the two leaves of dedication to the "Earle of Engih," have been inserted from Mr. Corser's copy on small paper.

The copy in the British Museum is on small paper. The title agrees with that noted above as inserted in the large paper copy, and has also the two leaves of dedication to the "Earle of Engih;" but it has not the two leaves of dedication to the Duke of Buckingham, which in the large paper follow the title of "An Elegie: or some Posthume Teares vpon . . . King James," nor has it the last leaf of Latin verses with the word "Finis" at the bottom. It is possible that these three leaves are peculiar to the large paper copies, as that in the British Museum is in perfectly original state and has evidently never possessed them.

The poetical account of the Plague of 1625 was reproduced in 1630, under the title of "London Looke-Backe," at the end of "Solomon's Pest-House, or Towre-Royall, Re-edified," by J. D., and there said to be written "in heroick, matchlesse lines." The appearance of Carew's version of the 91st Psalm in this volume was, owing to the great rarity of Holland's privately-printed book, unknown to his last editor; it follows Holland's version of the 73rd Psalm, and is headed: "Mr. T. C. the Authors endeared Friend his Poeticall Version on the 91. Psalme." The literary interest connected with this new discovery consists in its contradiction of the hypothesis that Carew composed his versions of certain Psalms in his closing days and under the disadvantage of failing health. We now see that the 91st, at least, was in existence in 1626.

It appears from the leaf of verses at the end that Henry Holland, the editor, was born at Coventry, Sept. 29th, 1583, and was married on his birthday, 1615. He had come up to London in 1599.

The Notice to the Reader is particularly interesting, as it sets forth the circumstances under which the volume was printed: "—And for your sakes [the Author's friends] principally haue I made this Impression, of no more Copies than I thinke to distribute vnto yee . . . I hope you will vouchsafe them benigne Acceptance, and me condigne thanks: by which I shall be encouraged to publish other his larger Labours which I haue lying by mee." Of these "larger labours" there appears to be no present trace, any more than of "Some other the Authors Poemes," mentioned in the dedication.

HOMERUS. Homer Prince of Poets: Translated according to the Greeke, in twelue Bookes of his Iliads, By Geo: Chapman. Qui Nil molitur Ineptū. At London printed for Samuel Macham. [About 1610.] Folio. O. M.

Title, engraved by W. Hole, 1 leaf; dedications, in verse, to Henry, Prince of Wales, 3 leaves; to Anne of Denmark, 1 leaf; To the Reader, 4 leaves; B—Cc in fours; Cc 4 blank; Dd, 2 leaves; Ee—Ff 2 in fours, last leaf blank.

Chapman had printed, in 1598, the first seven books of the Iliad, and also "Achilles Shield."

— The Iliads of Homer Prince of Poets. Neuer before in any language truly translated. With a Comment vppon some of his chiefe places; Donne according to the Greeke By Geo: Chapman. At London printed for Nathaniell Butter. [About 1612.] Folio. O. M.

Title engraved by W. Hole (on a larger scale, but the same design as before), 1 leaf; dedication to Sir Edward Philips, Master of the Rolls, 1 leaf; dedication to Prince Henry, and anagram on his name (not in former edition), 3 leaves; dedication to the queen, 1 leaf; sonnets to Lord Cranborne and Lord Rochester, 1 leaf (inserted in some copies at the end); To the Reader, in verse, 3 leaves; preface, 3 leaves; errata, 1 leaf; the work, B—Ff in sixes, and Gg, 8 leaves, the last blank.

First complete edition of the Iliad in Chapman's version. As the new dedication to Sir Edward Philips is placed before the original one to Prince Henry, and the concluding sonnet to the Prince, occupying the last page of the earlier edition, is cancelled, there is reason to suppose that the Prince died while the volume was at press, which would fix the date of publication rather later than has been usually supposed, i.e., in the beginning of 1612-13.

Besides the omission of the sonnets to Prince Henry and the Lady Arabella, other changes were introduced. The sonnet to Lord Wotton was also superseded, and new sonnets were inserted to the Earl of Arundel, the Lord Walden, and Sir Thomas Howard.

— The Whole Works of Homer; Prince of Poetts In his Iliads, and Odyssees. Translated according to the Greeke, By Geo: Chapman.

At London printed for Nathaniell Butter. [About 1616.] Folio. R. M.

Title engraved by W. Hole (same plate as before, with the wording altered), and a fine and large head of Chapman, an. æt. 57, 1616, in a circle of cloud, on the back, with verses beneath by J.[asper] M.[ayne?], 1 leaf; dedication to Prince Henry and anagram, 3 leaves; dedication to the queen, 1 leaf; engraved leaf, "To the Imortall Memorie, of the Incomparable Heroe, Henrye Prince of Wales," at the foot, and some verses beneath; To the Reader, 3 leaves; preface, 3 leaves, followed by a leaf, which in some copies is blank and in others has the errata, and which completes sig. A; B—Ff in sixes; and Gg, 8 leaves, the last blank; [a new title-page:] "Homer's Odyssees. Translated according to y^e Greeke. By Geo:

Chapman. Imprinted at London by Rich: Field, for Nathaniell Butter. [n. d.] A, including the engraved title and a blank leaf, 6 leaves; B—Q in sixes; R, 8 leaves, the last blank; S—Hh in sixes; and Ii, 8 leaves, the last blank.

The Odyssey is dedicated to the Earl of Somerset. It was originally issued separately in 1614, and then republished in one volume, with a general title, the table of errata to the Iliad cancelled in some copies, but the mistakes uncorrected, although the sheets passed through the press more than once. A good deal of information about the work and its history, both literary and bibliographical, may be found in the preliminary matter to Mr. Hooper's second edition of his reprint.

The separate title to the Odyssey is wanting in most copies, having been suppressed, when the general title was given to the whole.

HOMERUS. The Iliads and Odysses of Homer. Translated out of Greek into English, By Tho. Hobbes of Malmsbury. With a large Preface concerning the Vertues of an Heroick Poem; written by the Translator: also the Life of Homer. The Third Edition. *London. Printed for Will. — Ten Books of Homers Iliades, translated out of French, By A.[rthur] H.[all of Grantham.] At London Imprinted by Ralphe Newberie. 1581. Cum Priuilegio. 4to. Black letter. R.

A—Bb 2 in fours. The title on A ii.

Dedicated to "Sir Thomas Cicill." The author of this translation was expelled from the House of Commons for having printed a narrative of his quarrel with a gentleman named Mallorie.

"This translation," says Warton, "has no other merit than that of being the first appearance of a part of the Iliad in an English dress." In the dedication Hall says, that "about 18. or 19. yeeres past walking with M, Richard Askame, a verie good Grecian, and a familiar acquaintance of Homer, & reciting . . . certaine verses Englished by me of the said Author, he animated me much, with great entreatie to goe forwarde with my begun enterprise." The translation is often very singular and whimsical:—

"Lets goe, they surely tarie us hard by the watch Bastile."

Again,

"Sound Friend (quoth Nestor) what you say as true is as the Byble."

And,

"Had not Iuno spit on hir handes, and taken better holde."

B—I 2 in fours and the title.

Dedicated, in verse, "To the vertuous, courteous, and worshipfull Gentleman, Master Robert Greenwood of Westerton." Fowldes appears to have been on terms of intimacy with Greenwood's son[in-law?], whose death he mentions, and for whose sake he trusts that Greenwood, should he not greatly care for the poem, will look upon it indulgently. At the end of the book is a poem, occupying six pages, "To his Cousin, Mr. Ambrose Hargreues health."

The present was Mr. Haslewood's copy, afterwards Mr. Corser's.

Forty-six leaves, not numbered.

From the Yemeniz collection. It is attributed by Hain, No. 8600, to the press of Koburger of Nuremberg. The copy in the British Museum is bound up with "Epitoma Alcinoi in disciplinarū Platonis," which is printed with precisely the same types, and dated 1472. The author, who lived in the twelfth century, wrote several other works, which were printed in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries.

From the library of Mr. Maidment. With the following note in his autograph on the flyleaf: "Of this very amusing old English tract I have been unable to find any trace in Lowndes or in any bibliographical work. The object is to reconcile the English nation to paying their soldiers, the principal motive being to exclude the 'lousie Scot' (p. 24) from eating up the country; and it is affirmed that 'one Scottish Laird will sit as heavie as ten of the old Danish Lordanes.'"

HOOKE, R. Micrographia: or some Physiological Descriptions of Minute Bodies made by Magnifying Glasses. With Observations and Inquiries thereupon. By R. Hooke, Fellow of the Royal Society. London, Printed for John Martyn, Printer to the Royal Society, and are to be sold at his Shop at the Bell a little without Temple Barr. 1667. Folio. Plates. R.

Title and preliminaries, 18 leaves; pp. 1-246; table, 5 leaves; 38 folding plates.

The first book printed in English on the microscope. On the leaf opposite the title is an order of the Royal Society, signed by the President, that the volume should be printed by the Society's printers.

The preface is extremely interesting throughout, and the following passage appears to foreshadow the telephone in a most remarkable manner:—

"'Tis not impossible to hear a whisper a furlongs distance, it having been already done; and perhaps the nature of the thing would not make it more impossible, though that furlong should be ten times multiply'd. . . . I can assure the Reader, that I have, by the help of a distended wire, propagated the sound to a very considerable distance in an instant, or with as seemingly quick a motion as that of light, at least, incomparably swifter than that which at the same time was propagated through the Air; and this not only in a straight line, or direct, but in one bended in many angles."

HORÆ Beatæ Mariæ Virginis. [In Flemish.] Sm. sqr. Svo. 4 $\frac{5}{8}$ by 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

MS. of the fifteenth century, on 232 leaves of vellum.

This MS. would appear at a first view to be of little value, and as far as the MS. is concerned it is so, but the illustrations will be seen on a careful inspection, not to be hand work, but a most remarkable and, it is believed, entirely unique series of copper-plate engravings by a Dutch master, of rare power and merit of execution, which have been mounted on the vellum and coloured to represent miniatures. These number in all twenty-one, but all are not by the same hand. The following are by the best master:—1. The Marriage of Joseph and Mary. 2. The Annunciation. 3. SS. Mary and Elizabeth. 4. The Nativity. 5. The Adoration of the Magi. 6. Presentation of Christ in the Temple. 7. The Assumption of the Virgin. 8. The Holy Trinity. 9. St. Peter. 10. St. Catherine. 11. Christ's Descent into Hades. 12. The Descent from the Cross. The whole of this remarkable series is of surprising excellence, whether for design, composition, or execution, and are certainly the work of an artist of the first order. The remaining prints are also very remarkable and interesting, though not by a hand of equal importance. They represent:—13. The Purification. 14. The Betrayal. 15. Christ Buffeted. 16. Christ before Pilate. 17. Bearing the Cross. 18. Nailing to the Cross. 19. The Entombment. 20. The Descent of the Holy Spirit. 21. The Last Judgment.

This edition begins on a i with only the words, "Ad vsum Romane curie" beneath De Marnef's large device, and ends the reverse of m iv with Pigonchet's large device, at the bottom of which is his name, the recto of the leaf being blank. It does not appear to be described by Brunet, but the woodcuts are probably the same which were in other editions printed by Pigonchet. The Almanac is from 1488 to 1508.

This edition is entirely undescribed by Brunet. He cites two editions of the "Hours of the Virgin," in Spanish, printed by Simon Vostre (Nos. 25 and 47 of his list of Vostre's editions of the Horæ), but the former consists of only 96 leaves and has no borders, and the latter is in 4to, dated 1499, and has 112 leaves. The present copy has woodcut borders round every page, and contains altogether 136 leaves. It does not contain the almanac for twenty years which usually enables one to fix the date pretty nearly, but the Golden Number and Dominical Letter appear to be reckoned from 1495, to which year it probably belongs.

This is the edition described by Brunet, vol. v, col. 1581, No. 36, but it differs from his collation in having six leaves to sheet i instead of four. The copy he took his collation from must have been incomplete.

This beautiful volume is in the original richly gilt binding, and is as clean as when it first came from the press. From Mr. Slade's collection.

This edition does not appear to be described by Brunet, who nevertheless describes one of the same year, the colophon differing only in the month (the 15th of July instead of the 20th of December). It might be supposed that this must be the only difference, but in the first place, Brunet calls the edition which he describes a small 8vo, while this is certainly a 4to or a large 8vo, and secondly, he says that it has 108 leaves, while this has 90 leaves—a—k in eights and l, 10 leaves. He also describes the Almanac as going from 1487 to 1508, while this one has the Almanac from 1494 to 1520.

The woodcut borders to this beautiful volume are from the designs of Geoffroy Tory, and are the same as those used in the edition of 1550, described above. Brunet, No. 334.

HORNBOOK.

A specimen of this once popular mode of teaching children in village schools. This copy is probably not older than the middle of the last century. It consists of a single leaf fastened on to a piece of oak, three inches broad by two inches long, and covered by a piece of horn, which is secured to the board by tacks driven through strips of thin brass, which go round the edges of the horn. The contents of the page are simply:—1. The alphabet in small Roman characters. 2. The same in capitals. 3. The vowels with the variations of ab, ba, &c. 4. The invocation of the Holy Trinity. 5. The Lord's Prayer. The price of 1½*d.* is marked in ink on the back.

HORNBY, CHARLES. A Small Specimen Of the many Mistakes in Sir William Dugdale's Baronage. Exhibited in Some Remarks on about Half a Page of that Voluminous Work. In a Letter, &c. London. 1730. 8vo.

Pp. 66. Although only one Letter is mentioned on the title, the tract contains really three, of which only two are included in the sixty-six pages. But after p. 66 is inserted a new title: "A Third Letter, Containing some further Remarks On a few more of the numberless Errors and Defects in Dugdale's Baronage . . . London: Printed in the Year 1738," which, although dated eight years later, has a continuous pagination from 67 to 250, the last leaf bearing the errata, the separate title not included. Between pp. 180-1 is a folded pedigree of Brus of Anandale as given by Dugdale, and as corrected by Hornby.

A—D in fours. In verse. With a woodcut of a satyr on the title, holding a scourge in one hand and in the other a long pipe.

Dedicated in verse "To his loving Kinsman and approued Friend, Mr. Henry Cholmely Esquire," after which is an address, also in metre, "To all the impious and relentlesse-hearted Rvffians and Roysters vnder Bacchus Regiment," subscribed "Cornv-Apes" [Horn-Bee]. The poem itself, the work of a repentant drunkard, occupies twenty pages, and is in stanzas of six lines. The volume concludes with a "Prayer against Temptation."

This copy has successively belonged to Mr. Park, Sir Mark Sykes, Mr. Heber, and Mr. Corser. The only other copy known was sold among Archdeacon Wrangham's books. In the British Museum is an edition dated 1619.

— The Scourge of Drunkenness, A Poem by William Hornby, A.D. 1614. Edited by J. O. Halliwell . . . London . . . 1859. 4to.

Only twenty-six copies printed. There was no edition of this work in 1614, the earliest being that of 1618. Mr. Halliwell derived the date from an imperfect copy made up with MS., which he used for this reprint.

HORNECK, BURCKARDUS DE. Ad illustrem Eberhardum ducem in wirttemberg et decke Comiteꝝ Montispelegardi Carmē de purgatorio diui Patricij. [Colophon.] Impressum Memmingen [sine anno]. 4to.

Six leaves.

A Latin poem descriptive of St. Patrick's vision of Purgatory. It appears to be quite unknown to bibliographers. At the back of the title is a dedicatory preface addressed to the Duke of Wurtemberg. In it the author says, "Hoc carmen de diui Patricii gestis, quod proximis diebus ex nostra li[n]gu^a vernandam in latinum sub carminis lege transferre tēptauī." The piece consists of 318 lines of Latin verse.

HOROLOGIUM. Horalogiū [sic] Devotionis. [Sine loco aut anno.] Sm. sq. 8vo. R. M.

This volume contains thirty-five engravings in the style known in Germany as "Geschrotene Arbeit" and in England as "dotted prints," from the white dots on the black ground. The book was probably printed at Cologne about 1500, but the prints belong to an earlier date.

Muller in his "Mémoire Bibliographique" says, referring to this copy, "Nous ne connaissons qu'un seul exemplaire du Verhael." It is reprinted in De Bry, "Petits Voyages," tome iii., iv., 1601. See also Camus, p. 200, and Muller, p. 116.

This is in fact a republication of the "Verhael," but with considerable additions and modifications. Muller (pp. 121-2) says it is probable that the author of the "Journael" made use of the same original text which was used to compile the "Verhael." See Muller, "Mémoire Bibliographique," p. 118, where a full collation is given. This copy contains the Appendix, printed in the same year.

This is a reprint of the Latin edition of Middelburg, 1598, including the appendix. The collation is the same, with the exception of the map of Bali, which is here from the same plate as in the Dutch editions of 1597 and 1598, while in the Latin edition of Middelburg, 1598, it is re-engraved. But, according to Muller, p. 120, copies are sometimes found with the original map.

This edition is described by Muller, pp. 120-1, but as he has been obliged to give the description at second hand it contains some inaccuracies, as may be seen by a comparison with the title given above. The collation is A—H in fours, making 32 leaves (not 34 as he gives it). The last leaf bears only

These two editions are described by Brunet as being almost identical, but it is probable that he had not both before him, or he would have remarked on the curious fact that though put forth by the same publisher, in succeeding years, the text is entirely different. A collation of the two editions will show how much they vary :—

Collation of edition of 1612.—Title as above, on the reverse a woodcut of a ship with 8 lines of Latin verse beneath beginning, "Huc quicunq̃." On A 2, "In tractatus sequentes Prolegomena ad Lectorem," 6 pages, signed at the end, "Hesselius Gerardus Assumensis Philogeographus." Then follow 2 leaves, "Relatio Super detectione novi ad Caurum transitus," &c. On B begins, "Relatio Memorialis, sive libelli supplicis Majestati Sua oblatis per Capitaneum Petrum Fernandez de Quir," this ends on the recto of C 2, and on the verso is a woodcut of a sledge drawn by reindeer. To this piece there is also a separate title, beginning, "Exemplar libelli supplicis," with the date 1612, at the back the same woodcut and verses as on the first title. This title is inserted on a guard, so that it is impossible to say if it belongs to the book, or was intended to be published separately. On C 3 begins, "Apographum Descriptionis regionum Siberiæ," which ends on the verso of D 2. On D 3 begins "Itinerum atq; Fluviorvm Ortum & Aquilonem versus è Moscovia in Siberiam descriptio," which ends on F 1. The plates consist of a map of the two hemispheres, "Tabvla Navtica," and "Caerte van't Noordeste Russen," &c.

Collation of the edition of 1613.—Title as above, at the back, the same woodcut as in the 1612 edition, beneath it, "Liber ad Lectorem," followed by 10 lines of verse beginning, "Qui cupis ignotas." On A 2, "Ad Lectorem Prolegomena," occupying only a page and a half, and not signed. On A 3, "Descriptio, ac delineatio Geographica detectionis freti." 3 pages. On the reverse of A 4, "Exegesis Libelli supplicis, oblatis Regiæ Majestati Hispaniæ, a Duce Petro Fernandez de Quir," ending on C 1, on the reverse of which is the same woodcut of the sledge as is on the reverse of C 2 in the edition of 1612. On C 2 begins, "Des[c]riptio Regionum Siberiæ," ending on the recto of D 1. On the recto of D 2 (wrongly marked B 2) begins, "Brevis Descriptio Itinerum ducentium," which ends on the recto of E 3. On F 1 begins, "In præfatione postremæ editionis," &c., ending on the verso of F 3. The last leaf bears on the recto a woodcut of a whale, the verso blank. The plates are the same as in the 1612 edition, but a fourth is added, containing a map and two large figures of seals.

A romance history of Hugh Capet. It is said by Graesse to have been translated into German by Elizabeth, Duchess of Lorraine, from a French original. Brunet, however, says of it : "Première édition de ce roman allemand qui n'a pas été trad. en français."

A MS. poem in seven-line stanzas, not known to have appeared in print. It is dedicated in verse to the Queen, and is most beautifully written on vellum, with an elaborately designed title-page, having the royal arms in the lower centre, and a curious drawing before the poem itself. Following the dedication is a prologue in twelve stanzas of four lines each. No other MS. of this poem is known. It was probably intended by the author as a pendant to his poem entitled "A Mirrour of Loue," printed by R. Wyer, 1555, and dedicated to Queen Mary.

The name of this writer is not mentioned by Antonio, nor does Señor Salvá appear to have met with it among the numerous collections of Spanish poetry of which he gives such ample descriptions.

Part i. Pp. 1-95 including the title. The last page is erroneously marked 94 instead of 95. Part ii. Folios 1-78 including the title. The last leaf is erroneously marked 83 instead of 78.

The only other copy known of this edition is that described by Señor Salvá in his catalogue (No. 1852). He says, that it is the same which was sold in Colonel Stanley's collection for £31 10s., but in this he is entirely mistaken. The volume sold in Colonel Stanley's sale was, as stated by Brunet, the first edition of the first part, printed at Burgos in 1554. In the library of Mr. R. S. Turner is an edition of both parts, printed at Antwerp by Martin Nucio, 1554-5, which Señor Salvá appears to think never existed. The second part is not by the author of the first, but by an anonymous and very inferior writer.

—Lazarillo, Or, The Excellent History of Lazarillo de Tormes, the witty Spaniard. Both parts. The first translated by David Rowland, and the second gather'd out of the Chronicles of Toledo by Ican de Luna a Castilian, and done into English by the same Authour. *Accuerdo, Oluido. By S. H. a Cosmopolite. London, Printed by S. Griffin, for Robert Paulett at the Signe of the Bible in Chancery-Lane, neer the Inner-Temple Gate, 1662. 4to.

A—E in fours. In verse.

Dedicated to the king in verse, and to the queen in prose. In a poetical "Apology to the Reader," the author seeks to excuse the shortcomings of his muse owing to the unfavourable circumstances under which his work was accomplished—"Eight hundred leagues short of Parnassus Mount." The volume is divided into sections with separate headings, each describing a stage in the journey or some incident which occurred at sea.
